GREEKS HAND OVER SMYRNA TO ALLIES; LOOTING REPORTED

Greek Soldiers, Armenians and Turks Committing Acts of Murder and Incendiarism.

AMERICAN FORCES LANDED

VICTORS MAY DICTATE TERMS

SMYRNA, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The political and military authorities of Smyrna today began evacuating the town. Embarkations are under way from Smyrna, Vurla and Chesme.

Remnants of the Greek Army have arrived twelve and one-half miles from Smyrna, but the Turks apparently are not closely following them. Volunteers in Smyrna are vainly trying to enforce resistance against the Turks, but it is believed here that Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader, can enter the town in three days.

The situation here is extremely grave. Bands of Greek soldiers, Armenians and Turks, are committing acts of incendiarism, pillage and murder. The allied fleets have arranged a plan for concerted action.

Greek forces today were holding the line east of Salihli, sixty miles east of Smyrna, it was stated in advices from the front, but there seemed little hope of stemming the tide of the general retreat of the Greek army under the Turkish Nationalist thrust. Deserters are arriving here by the thousands.

The Greek Northern Army, other messages state, is retiring from Brusa toward Panderma and Mudania, on the Sea of Marmora.

Only an eyewitness can realize the extent of the disaster to the Greek Army, which is termed by many one of the most decisive in military history.

An army of 150,000 men, well organized and equipped, has been transformed in less than two weeks into a spiritual band of refugees.

An official Turkish statement says 400 Greek officers and 10,000 men have been captured since the offence was launched, together with 500 motor trucks, 350 guns and a million rounds of artillery ammunition.

The Greek loss of morale is illustrated by the reported refusal of a battalion of reserves, rushed here from Athens, to disembark. A contingent of Senegalese which arrived yesterday on a French transport also did not land, owing, it is said, to some disagreement.

The whole of the Smyrna hinterland has been ravaged by the Turks and refugees continue to pour into the city by the thousands. A Turkish airplane yesterday flew over the town and dropped pamphlets announcing the "complete liberation" of Asia Minor.

The Government archives have been placed on shipboard for safety, and the Smyrna branches of the National Bank and the Bank of Athens are closed.

A state of panic prevails throughout Ionia, and the British High Commissioner has telegraphed to Constantinople asking that relief supplies be rushed here, as it is feared the grave food shortage will result in disorders.

The foreign population is in trepidation lest the Greeks explode the immense stores of munitions in the city to prevent them from falling into the hands of the Kemalists.

American Destroyers at Smyrna.

A number of American destroyers are anchored in the harbor, which with its concentration of warships of all the Powers resembles the scene of a huge naval pageant.

The Standard Oil Company has chartered a number of steamships to carry its property and personnel to safety, and thirty ships are in readiness to remove refugees to the outlying islands should the necessity arise.

Allied Consuls in Charge.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Greek High Commissioner in Smyrna, M. Sterghiadis, today handed over the town to the allied Consuls, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Smyrna.

Allied naval detachments were landed Thursday, the dispatch says.

The proposed Near East conference in Venice is unlikely to be held in the near future, in view of the gravity of the situation in Asia Minor, and may never be held in the form originally suggested.

It is pointed out that the situation has been so changed by the Turkish victory in Anatolia that it will be necessary to call a full conference of the powers to deal with the settlement, and in any case nothing can be done while the hostilities continue. This view is also taken by a section of the Italian press, according to reports received here.

As regards measures for the arrangement of an armistice, the reports conflict. It is stated definitely in some quarters that the British Government holds the armistice to be purely a question for the belligerents themselves, and that, while anxious that the fighting shall cease, it does not desire to intervene directly, seeing many difficulties in the way.

Nevertheless, some of the newspapers report that the British, French and Italian High Commissioners in Constantinople have been instructed by their Governments to try to arrange an armistice, and that Brig. Gen. Sir Charles Harington, with high French and Italian officers, has gone to the fighting line to get in touch with the Kemalists.

It is stated that the officers' mission is not to announce Greece's readiness

Cantonese Troops Seize Our Mission Buildings

SHANGHAI, Sept. 8.—Forcible occupation of American mission buildings and destruction of foreign property in disregard of rights of Americans by Canton military officers under General Chan Chiungming in Kaying, Kwantung Province, is reported here in advices from S. S. Beith, in charge of mission work at Kaying.

Mr. Beith charges that civil authorities in Kaying are active in the dissemination of anti-Christian propaganda and supporting the military officials. An urgent protest against the depredations has been forwarded by Mr. Beith to the American Consul at Swatow.

WORLD ARMS LIMIT BACKED IN LEAGUE

WANT LESSER NAVIES CUT

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—The British delegation in the League of Nations moved today, in an endeavor to get the co-operation of the United States with the League in obtaining an extension of the provisions of the Washington Naval Treaty to all nations, in obtaining a general scale of army reduction and in obtaining standard control of the traffic in arms.

At a meeting of the Third Committee, H. A. L. Fisher of England moved that a special commission be named to discover if there existed any means by which the American Government could be persuaded to work with the League in making the treaty written under its auspices at Washington a general limitation of the navies of all the world and in lending its influence and advice on land disarmament, a subject in which the American people have generally been considered to be interested. The United States having refused to ratify the St. Germain convention regulating the arms traffic, the League will see if it is possible to obtain from Washington any indication of what sort of arms traffic convention it would ratify and whether it would consent to attend a conference on the subject called by the League.

Mr. Fisher expressed the opinion that the influence and help of the United States would be an immense aid in disarmament work, and expressed the hope that the American attitude toward the League would not prevent co-operation. As for limiting the arms traffic, he said it was absolutely useless to try to control it with America out of the arrangement. Secretary Hughes had declared in his letter on the St. Germain convention that America approved a proper limitation of the arms traffic, and Mr. Fisher thought that Washington might be willing to say what it considered proper steps.

Limit on Lesser Navies Proposed.

The permanent League Disarmament Commission presented to the Third Committee today a draft of a treaty for the extension of the Washington treaty. Following the lines of the document signed by Great Britain, the United States, Japan, Italy and France, which allotted capital ship tonnage in the proportion of 500,000, 500,000, 350,000, 175,000 and 175,000 to these nations respectively, the League project tentatively allots Argentina 81,000 tons, Brazil 45,000, Chile 35,000, Denmark 12,000, Greece 36,000, Holland 24,000, Norway 10,000, Spain 81,000 and Sweden 62,000. There are no other naval powers worth considering.

These figures are based on the status quo, subject to reservations as to Spain and Brazil, Spain desiring a tonnage equaling Italy's and Brazil wishing to equal Argentina's.

As experts point out, the plan is merely a basis for discussion at another

ALICE THORNTON INDICTED AS AID IN BERGEN MURDER

SHE IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Alice Thornton, the nineteen-year-old girl whose jealousy of "Handsome Jack" Bergen, movie actor, is believed by the prosecutor to have led to the shooting of Bergen by George F. Cline, Fox Films location manager, in Cline's home in Edgewater, N. J., on the night of Aug. 25 last, was arrested yesterday on the charge of murder and was committed to the county jail at Hackensack without bail. Together with Cline and his brother-in-law, Charles Scullion, 21 years old, the girl was indicted on the charge of murder by the Bergen County Grand Jury, which had seven women among its members. The prosecutor asserts that Miss Thornton was an accessory.

Miss Thornton gave every evidence that her arrest and indictment had taken her completely by surprise. She had gone to Hackensack in answer to a subpoena to appear before the Grand Jury to testify concerning the shooting. Had she appeared before the Grand Jury she would have received immunity from prosecution. She was waiting in the Court House at Hackensack to be called as a witness when Detective Nathan Allyn arrested her on a warrant issued by Justice B. A. Johnson.

When the girl was taken into Prosecutor A. C. Hart's office to be questioned she did not seem to realize at first the seriousness of her position. The officials finally made it plain to her that she had been indicted and must go to jail, whereupon her eyes filled with tears and she sank back in her chair as if weak with fear. After a few minutes, however, she overcame her emotion, smiled brightly, and surprised her questioners with her free and lucid answers to all questions.

Repeated Her Story.

Assistant Prosecutor C. J. McCarthy, who took her statement after warning her that anything she might say would be used against her, told reporters that Miss Thornton did not hesitate to tell an apparently complete and straightforward story of the tragedy and of her relations with Bergen and the Clines.

"Miss Thornton practically repeated the story she told to newspaper men before her arrest," said Mr. McCarthy. "She denied that she had any part in luring Bergen from his home in New York to Cline's home in Edgewater on the night of the shooting, but she admitted that she had told Cline of the intimacy between Mrs. Cline and Bergen, which is believed to have been the direct cause of the tragedy. Miss Thornton denied some of the newspaper reports that she was with Bergen and the Clines at Saranac Lake. She said she knew nothing of what happened there between Mrs. Cline and Bergen."

According to the Assistant Prosecutor, Miss Thornton admitted that when Cline forced Bergen up the stairway in Cline's home with a pistol at his back, she struggled to prevent Mrs. Cline from following the men. Her reason for this, the girl said, was to prevent the possibility of Mrs. Cline being shot. Mrs. Cline has said in an interview that when she tried to follow the men her intention was to "get close" to her husband. According to Mrs. Cline, she thought that by doing so she could calm him down and make peace, with the result that Bergen would leave the house. It was Mrs. Cline who first disclosed that Miss Thornton had held her back.

Miss Thornton told Mr. McCarthy that she did not hear any arrangements

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—On the rostrum of the League of Nations Assembly today the first delegate from Haiti came to the defense of his colored brethren in Southwest Africa and tonight around the polyglot dinner tables of Geneva the discussion on whether a country holding a mandate under the League has a right to drop airplane bombs upon the Hottentot inhabitants of mandated territory when they refuse to pay a dog tax, drives into the shade even the talk about "Bob" Cecil's effort to make the naughty world behave.

The Bondels live down on the Fish River in what was a German colony before the world was made safe for democracy. The territory was mandated to the British Empire in general and South Africa in particular.

Just the other day the South African delegation reported that there had been an uprising, and said they would put a report about it in the League library. Almost every one forgot it until Delegate Bellegarde of Haiti, after a speech praising the League and surprising his hearers by unblushingly also words about the United States, called attention of the Assembly to the "so-called punitive expedition against the Bondels, Hottentots, who are under the protection of the League of Nations."

"Taxes were levied on the dogs which guard the herds of these poor people," he continued, "that is the manner in which civilization first manifests itself among these savages. As the tax was very heavy the Bondels who would have had to sell their flocks to pay, refused to pay it. Then, without there being any act of rebellion, they were attacked with all the weapons of modern war, machine guns, cannon and airplanes.

"These natives, almost disarmed, were massacred and inasmuch as bombs cast from the air cannot chose their victims, women and children were killed in great numbers."

After the Assembly adjourned there was a general rush to the library to see the report. The Bondels were described as a quarrelsome people by nature. It was recounted that some years back the Germans chased out Jake Christian and Abe Morris, native leaders, who in 1919 went back and were permitted to stay. Jake wanted to be chief and the tribe wanted him but the mandate administrator named Tim Beukes and backed him up.

Then in 1921 the dog tax was levied at the rate of one pound sterling on one dog and a graded scale up to ten pounds on five dogs. The official reason given was that the natives used dogs to hunt and would not work. It seems the natives tried to some extent to raise the money to pay the taxes but found so much difficulty that they refused to pay.

In fighting at the end of May and the beginning of June, eighty or a hundred natives, including some women and children, were killed and Jake was put to flight. The report admits that airplane bombs were used.

The official record contains the sad story of a donkey which, after serving as motor power for Jake's lines of communications, was killed and eaten. * * *

Unfortunately for Jake's political prospects, there seems to be little chance of the mandate being taken from Great Britain, but the dog tax has been reduced 50 per cent.

Police Budget Up $3,169,340 to $34,306,070; Enright Wants Air Force and Secret Service

The Police Department has asked the Budget Committee of the Board of Estimate for $34,306,070 for 1923. The police budget for 1922 was $31,136,730.

The features of the budget for next year include a request for $50,000 for an air service and $125,000 for a secret service system. Commissioner Enright also asks for another secretary at $3,000. Some time ago Commissioner Enright pleaded with the Estimate Board for a secret service force, and it was understood when his request was granted that politics was not to figure in the appointments of these operators, who were not to be selected from the uniformed force or the Detective Bureau. The Estimate Board then permitted the use of a contingency fund of $105,000 for the payment of these men. In his 1923 request, however, Commissioner Enright asks $125,000 for secret service salaries and expenses in addition to a similar contingency fund.

Chief Inspector Lahey is scheduled for an increase of from $7,500 to $10,000. The chief police surgeon is to be increased from $6,500 to $7,000, the deputy surgeon from $4,400 to $5,500 and the number of surgeons to be increased from eighteen to twenty at an increase of salary from $4,400 each to $5,000. There is provision in the 1923 budget for nineteen Captains, who are detailed as Acting Inspectors and receive $4,900. Commissioner Enright intends to reduce this number in 1923, paying Acting Inspectors $5,000. No provision is being made for a Marine Inspector, the place having been made vacant by the retirement of John Hallock.

In discontinuing the use of the old station houses, the Commissioner reduced the number of Police Captains in the budget from 169 to 56 at salaries of $4,000. Fifteen of the former Captains, however, were detailed as Acting Inspectors at $4,500. The Commissioner also wants to detail twenty-seven Lieutenants as Acting Captains at $3,500. The first grade detectives are to be increased in number from 150 to 200. This means a jump of $165,000 in the budget. The salaries of second-grade men are to be advanced from $2,280 to $2,700. The new budget provides for 10,739 patrolmen, while the Board of Estimate has authorized an increase in the force to 11,179. No increases are made for the fifty-six policewomen.

BAIL FIXED AT $15,000

Dr. Leonard Keene Hirshberg, graduate of Johns Hopkins, whose medical articles have been syndicated in all parts of the country, was formally arrested yesterday by postal inspectors on a charge of using the mails to defraud, and was released in $15,000 bail for hearing on Sept. 15.

It was estimated from figures taken from the statements of Winthrop Smith & Co., of 1,540 Broadway, of which Dr. Hirshberg was a partner, that nearly $1,000,000 had been accepted from persons who had answered the firm's advertisements. More conservative estimates were that the sum certainly would run into hundreds of thousands. Dr. him and said that his firm had met all its obligations.

In addition to advertising that they would sell any kind of bond on the partial payment plan, while the purchaser drew interest on the entire principal from the start, the firm also advertised its participating syndicate, which, the investigators say, was a "discretionary pool," or "blind pool." Customers who entrusted their money to the firm for investment at the discretion of the partners received the promise of profits ranging from 2 to 10 per cent. a month. The firm was to have 30 per cent. of the profits.

The activities of the firm had been under investigation for several months by the Blue Sky Committee, Inc., of Baltimore, Md., the Better Business Bureau of 61 Broadway, the National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs, as well as by the postal inspectors and several business men's organizations in other cities. The inspectors worked under the supervision of James J. Doran, who directed the work in the solution of the $2,000,000 mail robbery in this city.

Doctor Arrested Thursday Night.

A decision to arrest Dr. Hirshberg was made on Thursday and at 7 o'clock that evening he was detained by the inspectors as he was entering the offices of the firm in the Loew State Theatre Building at 1,540 Broadway. He was detained all night under a guard of two men in the General Post Office Building at Thirty-Second Street and Eighth Avenue, and taken yesterday before United States Commissioner Hitchcock in the Federal Building at Park Row, where he was held in $15,000 bail.

Although a date was set for his hearing on Sept. 15, Peter J. McCoy, the Assistant United States Attorney who appeared for the Government, said that the case undoubtedly would be taken before the Federal Grand Jury before that time. Mr. McCoy asked for $25,000 bail, but this figure was cut to $15,000 on the plea that Dr. Hirshberg had a wife and two children living at Wildwood, N. J. He has been living at Long Beach, where investigators found that he had various projects under way.

Dr. Hirshberg was a co-partner in Winthrop Smith & Co., which has been operating since April, 1921, not only in this city and Baltimore, but in Cleveland, Harrisburg, and about a dozen other cities. The inspectors also are hunting for Winthrop Smith, whose name was given to the firm and who, it is alleged, was a minor employe in a brokerage house before he became a member of this firm. He is only 25 years old, and the investigators were unable to verify the report that he was a graduate of Columbia University. They said they thought he had also been known as Willie Schmidt and William Winthrop Smith.

Said Bonds Protected Investors.

In a circular letter addressed to "Dear Friend," and sent out from the Baltimore office, the partners told of the reserve fund carried by them as a protection to investors, and also asserted that blanket bonds written by three large surety companies prevented any investor from suffering loss. All three of the surety companies denied that such bonds were in force, or that bonds with such protective features were written.

"Perhaps most important," said this letter, "is the surety bond which this organization has through the Fidelity and Casualty Company, the International Indemnity Company, and another for which we are now negotiating, the Aetna Insurance Company.

"These bonds are designed to protect each customer, individually and collectively, against all manner of loss, whether by fraud, failure, fictitious trading, or other means, brought about by individual employes of the company or members of the firm. Being shrewd

WETS CAUSE ARREST OF IZZY AND MOE

HELD IN $10,000 BAIL EACH

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 8.—Izzy Einstein and his aide, Moe Smith and Peter Reager, were arrested at noon today at the door of the office of United States Commissioner Archibald C. Mattson here by Deputy Sheriffs on writs of civil suits filed in the Providence County Superior Court. The suit against Einstein is for $10,000, filed by James C. Taylor, a saloon keeper of Central Falls, and charges assault. The suit against Moe Smith is also for $10,000, and that against Reager for $5,000. They are held under $10,000 bond each. The charge against Smith is assault and trespassing, and that against Re[illegible]

The Arrest today of the New York Federal prohibition agents, who have been creating a sensation here for the past two days by their series of raids on Rhode Island saloons, was declared by local Federal prohibition agents to be a war to the finish between the wet forces of this State and Government authority. Federal officials declared that the deputy sheriffs were in contempt of the United States District Court in arresting Federal agents while the latter were performing their duties.

News of the arrest of Einstein and his fellow agents was not long in reaching the ears of Prohibition Director Harry G. Sheldon, who immediately communicated with Commissioner Haynes at Washington urging him to send the best legal talent available to defend the men and at the same time to send an additional number of prohibition agents to this territory to carry on the work of enforcement.

Reager at first denied his identity to the Sheriffs, they say, but Einstein readily admitted who he was and told Reager to do the same. Reager then, according to the Sheriffs, refused to accompany them. They pulled out handcuffs, and when they tried to slip them on to Reager's wrists, they say, he started to fight. He was prevailed upon by the other agents, it is said, to calm down and then the party adjourned to the Court House.

According to Reager, the Sheriffs pulled and kicked him when he told them that he was a Federal agent, and one of them drew a gun and jammed it against his breast when he objected to having handcuffs put on.

The suits and arrests followed a formal complaint filed with United States District Attorney Case by Rosenfeld & Hagan, attorneys for several near-beer dealers, charging that prohibition agents are "rushing" barrenders, intimidating them with revolvers, using "extreme, vile, vulgar, obscene and filthy" language, and even assaulting near-beer dispensers.

The attorneys charge that "one Izzy Einstein" and "one Moe Smith," and the "crowd of men aiding them," are guilty of the most flagrant and intentional violations of the Constitution. They further declare that "from the evidence presented to us it would appear that publicity has carried these men to a mental stage where they ignore all provisions of law."

MEXICO PAPER SEIZED BY REPORTERS' UNION

Plant of El Universal Is Shut Down at Point of Guns and Editions Destroyed.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The entire plant of the newspaper El Universal was forcibly shut down this morning as the last editions were being printed when members of the Graphic Art Syndicate and the recently organized Reporters' Union drove out all the employes at the point of guns and destroyed all the printed papers.

Soldiers today were guarding the plant and refusing admission to every one, including Felix R. Palavicini, the editor.

The raiders were led by a former employe of the newspaper, who, with drawn revolver, demanded that the presses be stopped. Employes of all kinds were ejected from the building and the raiding party, after nailing the red and black flags of the syndicate, waited until morning for the editions.

SETTLEMENTS URGED BY INDIVIDUAL ROADS; UNIONS CONSIDER IT

EXECUTIVES NOT IN ACCORD

JEWELL REFUSES TO TALK

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Recommendations dealing with separate peace proposals offered by a few Western railroads, and also with the Daugherty injunction, were drawn up at an executive session of railway shopmen's strike leaders today upon their return to Chicago following a week's seclusion in the East. These recommendations, which may result in a partial settlement of the strike, will be laid before the shop crafts policy committee of ninety when it convenes here on Monday.

Hearing on the motion to make permanent the temporary injunction obtained against the strikers in the Federal Court here by Attorney General Daugherty is scheduled for Monday also. If this motion prevails, it has been freely predicted on all sides, the assembled strike leaders will make plans for a further fight on the restraining order.

Notice of the temporary injunction was formally served upon B. M. Jewell, President of the Railway Employes' Department of the American Federation of Labor; William H. Johnston, President of the International Association of Machinists, and Martin F. Ryan, President of the International Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, as they stepped from a train here today. Up to this time the union chiefs had escaped service.

While Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, refused to discuss terms agreed upon at the Baltimore conference, he continued his missionary work among the executives here today. Almost twenty executives and representatives of various roads attended a luncheon at the Chicago Club, at which Mr. Willard is believed to have discussed the Baltimore plan.

"I have nothing whatever to say," Mr. Willard announced as he left the luncheon with H. E. Byram, head of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. "I will have no statement whatever to make later in the day or at any time this week."

Rail Men Show Irritation.

Other rail executives declared that the luncheon had nothing whatever to do with the Baltimore agreement, but was merely held for a discussion of the general situation, including the Daugherty injunction. It was learned, however, that the peace move was discussed. Mr. Byram declared that nothing can be given out at this time concerning any tentative agreement that may have been reached, for the reason that the shop crafts' policy committee of ninety has not had a chance to pass upon anything that transpired at Baltimore.

"We have been willing to discuss individual agreements from the beginning," said President Byram. "We still hold that position. We have not as yet received an invitation to participate in negotiations, but will be glad to do so if such invitation is extended."

Although none of the executives would discuss the turn of events, it was evident that the Willard plan had been hotly contested and had fallen short of a majority support.

Mr. Willard himself was the first to emerge from the meeting room. He was nervous and irritable, and refused to make any statement. He went immediately to the club library and sat down hastily in an armchair, where he thumbed through the pages of a magazine without attempting to read it. He did not speak to any of his recent guests as they passed out. Few of the guests were speaking to one another, and some of them showed signs of even

Hope Is Abandoned For the Entombed Miners

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 8.—Hope for the forty-seven entombed Argonaut miners seems to have died completely. The people of Jackson, with calm resignation, now await the removal of the bodies, since the very discouraging progress made during the last twenty-four hours in the attempts to reopen old drifts leading to the lower levels of the Argonaut.

Rescue crews emerged from the neighboring Kennedy shaft tonight after six hours of gruelling toil in knee-deep muck and slime, to report only fifteen feet of progress toward the Argonaut on the 3,000-foot level and twenty feet on the 3,900-foot level. This leaves rescue workers on the former level approximately 300 feet from the entombed men and about 245 feet distant on the 3,900-foot level.

Each crew comes out dripping wet and covered with mud. Four crews are working twenty-four hour a day in six-hour shifts. Each man works only twenty minutes at a stretch and rests forty minutes.

MINERS VOTE TODAY ON HARD COAL PEACE

SAYS HARDING URGED CUTS

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 8.—By noon tomorrow, it is expected, 690 delegates representing 155,000 anthracite strikers will have voted on the Pepper-Reed plan for settling the anthracite strike. Ratification is expected by a majority of 340 votes at the least and possibly as high as 500.

International President John L. Lewis, Vice President Phil Murray and District Presidents W. J. Brennan, Thomas Kennedy and Chris Golden are convinced tonight that the opposition has been beaten and that all danger of the insurgents controlling the vote has been eliminated. "Ratification will come tomorrow by an overwhelming majority," said Lewis tonight. Murray declared: "I look for ratification tomorrow by an almost unanimous vote."

Insurgents admitted tonight that the Lewis forces will win, but say they will go down fighting.

So bitter are some of the radical leaders that a meeting of their forces in the Pittston district was called, and they are threatening to keep the men out of the mines there when the compact is finally ratified. They claim they will form a district of their own and break away from District No. 1, of which they are now a part. So dangerous has this situation become that Mayor Brown of Pittston announced today that no further meetings of the insurgent group will be allowed in the city.

The afternoon session of the convention was turned over to the delegates. George Evans of Olyphant was first to talk. He declared that each miner's family has gone $700 in debt in the five months' strike, besides the loss of wages, and that a one-year contract does not allow sufficient time to get on their feet to strike again if such an emergency is necessary when the proposed contract ends.

William Mates of Wilkes-Barre answered. He said the miners had gained one of their greatest victories. He urged immediate acceptance of the agreement.

After District President Kennedy had concluded his report on the work done by the Scale Committee at the morning session, a delegate moved its adoption. President Lewis pointed out that this meant ratification of the peace offer. A motion to lay the agreement on the table was ruled out.

Phil Murray summarized the provisions of the agreement, saying it was the greatest victory the laboring classes had ever won. "This is," he said, "an unusual period in the life of the nation. There has been a concerted drive to cut wages, yet the miners escaped this fate." The bituminous men, he said, got only a seven months contract. He told of President Harding summoning Lewis to Washington in 1921, telling him he understood he was marshaling his forces for an industrial fight and informing him that the miners, as well as everybody else, would have to accept wage cuts. Lewis stood before the President of the United States and told him that the miners would not accept a wage cut with his consent.

Murray told how the President had stated to Lewis that he would make himself an outstanding figure in the nation if he would have the miners take a cut in wages, but Lewis refused to make any such recommendation, and, on the contrary, said he would lead his men in their fight for justice for themselves.

Husband Dies in Long Island Lodging; Widow Takes Body Home to Riverside Drive

Mystery surrounding Charles McDermott, about 58 years old, who was found dead in his room at Kaiser's Hotel at Borden and Vernon Avenues, Long Island City, early yesterday, deepened when his wife, Mrs. Minnie McDermott, who lives in very comfortable circumstances at 400 Riverside Drive, refused to give any information about him. McDermott's death was due to natural causes. Mrs. McDermott appeared in Long Island City yesterday afternoon at Trudden's morgue in Fourth Street and directed the removal of the body to her home, but she positively refused to tell anything about McDermott beyond admitting that he was her husband.

McDermott, a man of apparent refinement and quiet demeanor, registered at the hotel on March 27 last. He took a room and arranged to become a permanent lodger. He associated with no one about the hotel and did not talk about his business. The few bills that he had were promptly met. Each morning he left the hotel and apparently went to work, returning in the evening. When he did not appear at the usual time yesterday and when no response was made to knocks, the door of his room was broken open. He was found dead in bed.

Detective Hurton found an insurance policy for $200 made out to a brother, Edward McDermott. A newspaper clipping found in a pocket in McDermott's clothes read:

"Catherine Ann Vanderpool of Summit, N. J., 14 years old, appeared today before Surrogate Cohalan with her aunt, Mrs. Minnie McDermott, of 400 Riverside Drive, who requested that the child's allowance be increased to $7,500 a year. Mrs. McDermott said that she had taken care of her niece for two years since the death of the child's parents. The allowance was asked for clothing and education and is drawn from an estate left the child by her parents. The request was granted."

MRS. HARDING WORSE; RECOVERY NOT SURE; SPECIALISTS CALLED

NEW COMPLICATIONS SET IN

MAKING A GALLANT FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Harding, wife of the President, is seriously ill and her recovery is not assured. She has been ill for two weeks with a recurrence of kidney trouble with which she has been afflicted for several years. Until yesterday, when complications developed, her condition was not considered critical by Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, the Harding family physician. Today, however, specialists and extra nurses were summoned and at 9 o'clock tonight General Sawyer issued the following bulletin:

Mrs. Harding, whose illness is a recurrence of attacks experienced before coming to the White House, developed complications Thursday and Thursday night which make her condition critical. These complications are so serious that recovery is not yet assured. Dr. John Finney of Baltimore, was called in consultation tonight and Dr. Charles Mayo is en route from Rochester, Minn., Dr. Carl W. Sawyer and Dr. Joel T. Boone have joined in the attendance on Mrs. Harding today.

C. D. SAWYER, M. D.

Dr. George T. Harding Jr. of Worthington, Ohio, the President's brother, has been summoned to Washington and is on his way here. Dr. Harding is a physician who maintains a sanitarium at Worthington, near Columbus. Dr. Finney of Baltimore reached the White House late tonight.

While Mrs. Harding, after a bad night, was somewhat better this morning, her condition took a turn for the worse late this afternoon, when the President interrupted his engagements and left the Executive offices for his wife's bedside.

Taken Ill on the Mayflower.

Mrs. Harding is suffering from kidney trouble of long standing from which she had been comparatively free, however, for more than a year. Her present illness began nearly two weeks ago, when on the Presidential yacht Mayflower, upon which Mr. and Mrs. Harding, accompanied by three members of the Cabinet, two Senators and a few personal friends, were taking a week-end holiday.

A few days following the Mayflower trip Mrs. Harding was up and around the White House for a few hours each day and she was observed walking on the roof of the colonnade leading to the executive offices which had been transformed into a formal garden. Later her illness became more pronounced and General Sawyer ordered her back to bed. Her illness until last night was known to only personal friends and it was not until her condition became critical that the public announcement was made.

Two bulletins concerning Mrs. Harding's condition were issued at the White House today, the first at noon and the other, less reassuring in tone, late this evening. The noon bulletin read as follows:

General C. E. Sawyer, personal physician to the President and Mrs. Harding, said this forenoon that during the night some serious complications had developed in Mrs. Harding's illness, but they were slightly abated this morning, and the patient is resting more easily. Her illness is still regarded with concern. Dr. Carl W. Sawyer of Marion, Ohio, associated with his father in caring for Mrs. Harding during previous similar illness, came on to Washington this morning in consultation.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, U. S. Navy, Medical Officer of the U. S. S. Mayflower; laboratory technicians from the Naval Medical School and from the army dispensary; Miss M. N. Hager, trained nurse from the attending surgeons' office of the army; Miss Ruth Powdesly, trained nurse from the Naval Dispensary, are assisting in the attendance and care of Mrs. Harding.

Making Gallant Fight for Life.

Mrs. Harding is making a gallant fight for her life. Some of her Marion friends who are in Washington have visited the White House private apartments and they have been warned by physicians not to raise their voices lest Mrs. Harding should recognize them and insist upon seeing them. Her temperature is said to be nearly normal, which is regarded by attending physicians as one hopeful sign.

Throughout the hot Summer months Mrs. Harding has remained in Washington with the President, who because of the industrial troubles, has been unable to leave for a cooler climate.

Mrs. Harding is suffering from hydronephrosis. In 1913 she underwent a serious surgical operation for the trouble which is the cause of her present illness. Twice since then she has had severe recurrences of this trouble, and was critically ill during one of them. In July, last year, four months after her husband's inauguration as President, she had her last attack prior to the present illness.

Mrs. Harding had an attack early in 1915, but insisted on coming to Washington to see her husband take the oath of office as Senator from Ohio in March of that year. The excitement of the trip

After her operation Mrs. Harding was in hospital eight months, during which time she was obliged to have the wound due to the operation dressed twice a day. A vivid memory of her experience during that trying period has been partly responsible for her constant attendance at the Walter Reed General Army Hospital near Washington, to cheer wounded soldiers of the World War.

The Mayflower, with the President and Mrs. Harding on board, left Washington on Saturday, Aug. 26, and returned here early on the following Monday morning after a cruise in the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay. While on this trip Mrs. Harding was indisposed from what was believed at first to be an attack of indigestion. She received treatment from General Sawyer, who accompanied the party, but when this did not bring relief General Sawyer was convinced that Mrs. Harding's old trouble was responsible. Since she reached the White House on Aug. 27 Mrs. Harding has been confined to her bed, with the exception of a short period several days ago, when her condition appeared to be so much improved that she was up for a brief time, but was obliged again to take to her bed.

Since she took up her residence in the White House in March, 1921, Mrs. Harding has been subjected to a severe strain from her pressing social duties. She has never spared herself in greeting the thousands of visitors who come to the White House in the expectation of seeing the President and his wife. She has made a practice of visiting sick and wounded soldiers and sailors, and has been active in arrangements for entertaining and otherwise helping them.

President Harding has always been greatly dependent on his wife. His distress was manifest to those who talked with him over her condition today. The regular Cabinet meeting this morning lasted barely twenty minutes, and while it was not so stated, the supposition is that it was cut short in order to enable the President to be near Mrs. Harding.

White House Is Quiet.

Nothing in the way of outward appearances about the White House late tonight suggested the sense of anxiety and sorrow that shrouded the Presidential residence. The grounds were open to any who cared to pass through them. A great electric light shone as usual under the high porte-cochere of the main entrance and there were the usual lights in the lobby and in the usher's room close to the entrance. From the front of the mansion the upper floors were dark, except for a dim light in the interior of one of them.

A few motor cars, held in readiness, were drawn up on the driveway near the porte-cochere. The whole aspect of the White House surroundings suggested nothing out of the ordinary, and home-going theatre crowds passing along Pennsylvania Avenue showed no sign that they knew of what was taking place in the dwelling in which death has been the scene of so much of tragedy and joy in the life of the nation.

Mrs. Harding's bedroom is on the upper floor in the rear or south side of the White House. The rear grounds are not open to the public and the dim lights of the sick room were not visible to passersby, except the few who took the route, unfrequented at night, around the high iron fence that encloses this from the White House Park and if they strained their eyes might see the faint outlines of the mansion in the dim distance, with the subdued glimmer of an electric lamp shining through the shaded windows of the upper story.

The executive office building, adjoining the White House, was equally barren of anything unusual. The regular force of policemen was on duty in the lobby, and there were lights in the press room. The offices occupied by Secretary Christian and his principal assistants were dark, for Mr. Christian had left for his home with Mr. Crissinger, the Controller of the Currency, an old Ohio neighbor of the Hardings, shortly after giving to the waiting newspaper men the official bulletin which acknowledged that Mrs. Harding's condition was grave. The night telephone operator and telegraph operator were on duty, and in one of the rooms of the executive office building some clerks were at hand to prepare and send messages incident to Mrs. Harding's illness.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—During the last two days Dr. Sawyer has been in almost constant attendance at Mrs. Harding's bedside, his son, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer of Marion, Ohio, arriving today for consultation. Dr. Joel T. Boone, naval medical officer on the Mayflower, a staff of laboratory technicians and two trained nurses have also been in attendance.

It was the impression that a definite turn to the illness might be expected within the next twenty-four hours.

Messages expressing the hope that Mrs. Harding would quickly be restored to health were received throughout the day at the White House, and a number of Cabinet members and prominent Government officials called personally to inquire as to her condition.

SAYS HE HAS COAL FOR FORD

Cincinnati Dealer States He Has Agreed to Furnish Sufficient Supply

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8.—According to a telegram which Ernest A. Hessley, President of the American Export and Inland Coal Company, says he received here yesterday, an agreement has been made by with representatives of Henry Ford by which a sufficient amount of coal will be sent to the plants of the automobile manufacturer to preclude the shutdown of his plants that was scheduled for Sept. 16.

Soon after Henry Ford announced that his plants would be shut down for lack of coal, Mr. Hessley, according to his statement, met representatives of Mr. Ford in Cincinnati and made an agreement whereby he would furnish coal sufficient to keep the plants running.

EXPECT STRIKE IN CANADA.

Walkout of Shopmen is Inevitable, Union Official Says.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—A statement that a strike of railway shopmen on Canadian lines is inevitable, from what can be seen at this time, was issued today by J. A. McClelland, Vice President of the International Association of Machinists. Circulars are being sent to shopmen throughout Canada, urging them to be ready to obey a strike call.

Mr. McClelland's statement came after the second day of labor's deliberations on the report of the Board of Conciliation, which upheld the wage cuts proposed by the carriers.

END WARD LINE BOYCOTT.

Government Intervenes in Dispute With Vera Cruz Port Workers.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Sept. 8.—The boycott recently instituted by the port workers here against the Ward Line on account of a disagreement over the payment of indemnity for the death of a worker on shipboard was ended today through the intervention of the Federal Government. The steamer Yucatan, which has been in port three days, began discharging her cargo this morning.

The company agreed to a settlement provisionally on the basis of strict compliance by the workers in the future with the terms of their contract, which the line claimed had heretofore not always been complied with.

ENGINES DELAY HINTON.

Overhauling of Sampaio Correia II. Will Add to Horse Power.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Sept. 8.—Lieutenant Walter Hinton, who is making a flight from New York to Rio de Janeiro, was delayed here today owing to the necessity of changing his engines from low to high compression. Parts for the new adjustments on the Sampaio Correia II. seaplane were supplied by the Fourth Air Squadron of the marines. The present overhauling will add seventy horsepower to the machine and longer flights are expected from it. Lieutenant Hinton intends to leave Sunday for Sao Luan.

RAIL EXECUTIVES CONFER ON STRIKE

HEALY STARTS TO CHICAGO

Union Leaders Deny He Has Been Negotiating With Carriers' Officials Here.

There was unusual activity among Eastern railway executives yesterday. Few could be found during the day at their offices. Reports persisted that there were numerous conferences at which was discussed the proposed plan to make separate agreements with the shop crafts brotherhoods in the event that the Policies Committee of the shop crafts unions should reverse its position at the meeting called for next Monday.

It was also reported that S. Davies Warfield, President of the Seaboard Air Line, who is said to have conferred with B. M. Jewell, leader of the rail strike, in Baltimore a few days ago, as a result of which Mr. Jewell sent out the call for the Chicago meeting, had been in the city. This could not be confirmed, and at Mr. Warfield's office it was said that his associates did not know where he was.

Much doubt was expressed also as to whether the unions would change their attitude on separate settlements, and a good deal of importance was attached to Timothy Healy's remark at the meeting of the Central Trades and Labor Council on Thursday night that the shopmen would not back down. It was also said that the strikers in the New York district had renewed their pledges not to leave the Western shopmen "up in the air" by making separate settlements. Despite differences of opinion over the outcome of the Chicago meeting, the executives believe that a sharp break in the ranks of the strikers is near, because of the approach of Winter. It was predicted that the strike would collapse before the end of the month. Executives pointed out that so many roads had been able to recruit repair forces so heavily that many strikers were seeking jobs.

Healy Negotiations Denied.

At strike headquarters it was denied that Mr. Healy had been negotiating with individual heads of roads in this city. It was said that he had been in conference practically all day with David Williams, Secretary of the Central Strike Committee. He left for Chicago in the afternoon, instead of waiting until today, as he said he would at the Trades Council meeting, where he defied process servers to find him.

John J. Dowd, Chairman of the committee, made public a telegram from Senator Borah in reply to a demand that Attorney General Daugherty be impeached because of the rail injunction. The telegram reads:

"Will reply fully to your telegram after hearing next week. In the meantime may I say that I am thoroughly in sympathy with any plans to preserve unhampered the guarantees found in our Constitution? After all, we find the old Constitution a fine charter in time of trouble, do we not? Let us stand up for it, regardless of who undertakes to disregard it or violate it. Will communicate with you fully after the hearing. William E. Borah."

"Senator Borah deserves the thanks of every liberty-loving American for his fearless criticism of the Daugherty-Wilkerson injunction," said Mr. Dowd. "He has done more than any one man to make Daugherty and his words. The Attorney General's retractions and sidesteps, however, merely clinch the case for his impeachment. He has proved by his own admissions that he violated the law and the Constitution. He stands self-convicted as an enemy of the people, guilty of gross misconduct in high office."

A meeting will be called on next Thursday by the Central Trades and Labor Council to devise a plan under which the 600 unions in this district may collect one day's pay from every union man. It has been estimated that if this appeal for funds were met fully it would return $3,500,000. It is hoped by the Council officials that at least $1,500,000 will be raised.

The conference also will take up the question of creating a policies committee to take over the direction of the shopmen's strike in this district in case the injunction is upheld and it becomes impossible for the present strike leaders to continue their work.

Milk deliveries were reported to be from an hour to an hour and a half late because of the strike by J. J. Fitzpatrick, general sales manager of Borden's Farms Products Company.

"Milk trains on the various roads are coming into New York from two to five hours late," he said. "Some of the New York Central trains are two hours late. New Haven and Lehigh trains are as much as five hours behind schedule, while Erie and Rutland milk trains have also been thrown off by the strike."

Recruiting Slows Up.

Recruiting of shop forces to replace strikers has dropped since the issuance of the injunction and the reported peace moves, it was said at the offices of the Association of Railway Executives. On Wednesday 4,400 men were recruited for all roads in the country, which is 1,000 below the average maintained last week.

In their bulletin strikers asserted yesterday that the equipment of the roads was constantly becoming more dilapidated, and that in some cases two or three engines were required to do the work formerly done by one. Not more than fifteen desertions had occurred in the ranks of the Erie strikers, it was said, and the number of men on strike on Aug. 19 was reported as 4,182. The Erie strikers declared that the "Erie Railroad has not now and never had 75 per cent. normal force."

The Big Four strikers reported: "All trains are running late. They will be put to the acid test within a few days because nearly all the miners are back at work in the district."

SURPLUS CARS DECREASING.

Total 120,961 on Aug. 23, a Drop of 19,292 in Week.

Surplus freight cars on Aug. 23 amounted to 120,961, a decrease of 19,292 cars, compared with the report of Aug. 15. Surplus freight cars, as defined by the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association, are those in good repair in excess of the number needed for the current movement of freight.

Of the total on Aug. 23, 96,405 were surplus coal cars. This was a decrease of 15,116 since Aug. 15, while 8,237 were surplus box cars, a decrease within the same period of 2,216 cars.

Surplus coke cars numbered 2,008, a decrease in slightly more than a week of 712, while there also was a decrease of 669 in the number of surplus stock cars, which totaled 4,680 cars.

A review of the bad order car situation by the association showed that 335,575 cars, or 14.8 per cent. of the freight cars on line, were in need of repairs on Aug. 15, an increase of 10,922 cars over the total in bad order on July 1, when the shopmen's strike began. On July 1 there were 324,653 cars, or 14.3 per cent., in bad order. As compared with Aug. 1, however, the Aug. 15 figure represented a decrease of 9,488 bad order cars.

The total number of bad order freight cars on Aug. 15, 1922, was 46,865 less than the total in need of repairs on Aug. 15, 1921, and 5,247 less than on July 1, 1922, at which times no strikes of railway employes were in progress.

These figures are based on reports from roads representing 96.6 per cent. of the total mileage of the Class 1 railroads of the country and owning 99.4 per cent. of the cars on line.

EVICT FAYETTE STRIKERS.

Hundreds of Families Are Being Ousted From Mine Properties.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 8.—Scores of miners and their families, who for years have lived in the many little company towns which dot the Fayette County coke field, today were moving out under the direction of Sheriff I. I. Shaw and his deputies, the last movement of the employers to reclaim their property from the strikers. There was no disorder.

More than 600 eviction notices had been issued by the prothonotary between Monday morning and Thursday night, and in the first hour of business today twenty went out, with indications, the authorities said, that the total since the coal strike began would reach 3,500 by the end of the week.

When the H. C. Frick Coke Company posted its new wage scale on Aug. 21 the strikers had the option of returning to work within ten days or relinquishing company houses. There was no general back to the mines movement, it was stated, and the company went into court. The task imposed upon the Deputy Sheriffs included at many sections and covered such a wide area that county officials said it could not be completed until next week, when, they declared, every miner who was not at work would find himself homeless.

Operations in the region continued to increase, the W. J. Rainey Company announcing that two of its mines closed by the strike had reopened through a contract with an employment agency, which had agreed to man the mines, guard them and deliver the coal ready for shipment.

TO CURB COAL PRICES.

New Commission Meets Today to Decide on Procedure.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—The Pennsylvania Fuel Commission will use its authority to prevent skyrocketing of anthracite prices and to guard against speculation. To this end a meeting of commissioners and independent anthracite operators will be held tomorrow afternoon at the suggestion of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

"The commission is concerned in, and purposes to use not only its good offices, but its authority, to stabilize anthracite prices and to secure an equitable distribution of coal," said Chairman W. D. B. Ainey of the State commission, "so that the needs of the householders can be provided for as speedily as mine operating conditions improve and production is had.

"The matter of stabilizing prices is much more complex than would appear at first blush. In connection with price adjustments, the Fuel Commission is giving serious consideration to the feasibility of establishing a fair practice committee.

"Before we reach a definite conclusion based on having all the facts before us, I desire to emphasize and repeat the necessity that all operators shall see to it that coal does not pass through the hands of more than one selling agency and that the charges of that agency shall be reasonable for the services it performs."

There will be enough anthracite coal to meet the necessities of householders if they will carefully conserve it, Mr. Ainey said today.

ORDER ENGINES WITHDRAWN

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Federal inspectors, operating in Hornell during the past few days, have ordered several Erie engines withdrawn from the service, it became known here today.

Robert W. Bull, spokesman of the Hornell Repair and Construction Company, admitted that certain engines had been ordered off the road, but stated it was nothing unusual and that it was frequently done in ordinary times.

Mr. Bull declined to comment on the result of the cutting of the pay of the non-union shopmen. A few days ago the Erie announced that it would no longer pay premiums for workers and that the regular scale of the Labor Board would prevail. As a result many of the men brought here since the strike started quit and returned home. According to the strike leaders here they were reduced to a mere handful. Mr. Bull declined to say what the results were.

$100,000 in Rewards on Dynamiters

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The International Railway Company today announced offers of rewards totaling $100,000 for the conviction of perpetrators of dynamite outrages that have occurred on its lines since the carmen struck. The strike has been in effect since July 2. There have been no recent disorders.

LABOR LAUNCHES LA FOLLETTE BOOM

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 8.—Resentment of organized labor against the Federal Government's course in the shopmen's strike appeared to be crystallizing here today in a movement to boom Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin for the Presidency in 1924. Leaders gathered here for the meeting of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, which opens tomorrow in the Hotel Ambassador, said they probably would discuss plans for supporting La Follette, who had long been regarded as a champion of organized labor.

Leaders made it clear, however, that it was not their intention to abandon the federation's non-partisan policy by forming a new labor party to further La Follette's candidacy, but would combine their forces to elect him on any ticket on which he might run.

"Senator La Follette would make a formidable candidate," said Matthew Woll, Vice President of the Federation. "I believe he would rally the forces of labor to his support and sweep the country."

Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation, said:

"Discussion of Senator La Follette's candidacy, I think, is a little premature, but let me say this: Bob La Follette is a great American."

Reports that labor was considering a boom for La Follette threatened tonight to overshadow industrial questions. The council will consider formally requests from central labor bodies for a general strike in protest against the Daugherty rail injunction.

As the presidential election is still a long way off, union leaders, it was announced, will definitely lay plans for a campaign this Fall to bring about the "rejuvenation of Congress."

James O'Connell, President of the Metal Trades Department of the Federation, and leader of the Non-Partisan Political Campaign Committee, is expected here early next week to discuss plans for the coming campaign. He will tour the country in the Fall elections on behalf of organized labor's candidates.

Leaders today declared there were at least fifty Congressional districts in this country now represented by men who are not in accord with labor's legislative program, and generally hostile to its objectives, from which trade unionists might be elected. To eliminate this hostile opposition, they said, the federation's non-partisan campaign would be launched to try to elect to the next Congress a group of fifty trade unionists.

"What we need," said Mr. Woll, "is a realization on the part of the organized wage earners that seats in Congress do not belong by divine right to lawyers and capitalists. If we are able to merge our differences into some semblance of unity of solidarity and elect more trade unionists to Congress, there would come from that body more constructive legislation in the interests of the workers."

Mr. Woll is a statement tonight again attacked Mr. Daugherty. He said:

"On the evening of the meeting of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor there is dawning upon the American people the consciousness that their rights as free men, as citizens of a great republic, have been flagrantly violated and that the constitutional guarantees have been thrown to the winds like mere scraps of paper by men holding honored and trusted positions of government.

"That we should have as Attorney General a person incapable of understanding the love of the American people for fair play and their profound devotion to the American concepts of liberty seeking to the end of enough. To find that two men in America, one a judge and the other a politician and a lawyer, should feel themselves powerful enough and, what is more, capable of throwing aside the Constitution and to threaten people with dire punishment who would protest against such despotic acts, is the most tragic event that has besmirched the glory of our great democracy.

Calls Modification an Admission.

"It is reported that the present Government now realizes that it has gone too far, that it intends to retrieve itself by seeking to modify the terms of the temporary injunction. Attorney General Daugherty will request such modification of the injunction he and Judge Wilkerson flaunted in the face of the American people. Such a request will be nothing more nor less than a direct admission that both have violated the sacred and inalienable rights of a free people, and have placed themselves outside of the Constitution.

"Such an act will be an admission of both these men that they are unworthy of further trust in the offices filled by them. Either the temporary injunction was right or wrong. If it was right, why compromise with what is right? If it is wrong, and if it does violate the Constitution, why continue in office those who are sworn to uphold and support the Constitution and who have proved untrue to that trust?

"Both Judge Wilkerson and Attorney General Daugherty have failed to safeguard the people's rights in their apparent eagerness to serve vested interests and to protect the so-called open shop of our present-day bourbons. They have demonstrated that they are not in the service of the people, and the American workers do not intend to permit them to become the people's masters.

"Why denounce the Soviet regime in Russia because it does not respect the rights of the people when here in America our regime at Washington has committed the same error? It makes no difference whether autocratic system and despotic powers of government are used by bourbons or proletariats.

"President Harding, Attorney General Daugherty, Judge Wilkerson and the Wall Street manipulators are the makers of radicals, and they have set at work a wave of progressivism that is gaining in force and strength each minute, and that will burst forth into a tidal wave that will crush and brush aside every element of reaction and every bulwark of bourbonism. The election of La Follette is but the bugle call to arms. His election is the voice of protest of the people of a great State and reflects the heart waves of progressive and right-thinking people."

To Attack Legislative Laws.

Plans to "offset the legislative attacks on trade unions" will be taken up by the council, it was anounced today. The council will discuss the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations law, the Colorado Industrial Commission law, proposed compulsory incorporation of trade unions, President Harding's proposal to regulate trade unions and the attempt made in New York to secure enactment of a law similar to the Kansas law.

The council will have before it a declaration to be issued to the trades unions of the country, if approved, urging that "renewed energy be displayed by trade unionists and by all friends of liberty, justice and democracy in the States of Kansas and Colorado to aid and that the oppressive and restrictive laws enacted in those States may be repealed at the earliest possible moment."

The council proposes to "make it clear that industry cannot be moved by anti-strike legislation," leaders declared.

BRICKLAYERS QUIT IN HELPERS' FIGHT

International and Independent Hod Carriers Halting Uptown Building.

G. B. Dioguardia, General President of the Independent Bricklayers' Helpers and Building Laborers' Union of America, a rival of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union, said last night that twenty-six or twenty-seven bricklayers working on a fifteen-story building under construction at Broadway and Ninety-seventh Street went on strike yesterday morning because the laborers on the job were members of the independent union. The strike threw thirty-seven laborers out of employment, Dioguardia said.

The action is looked upon by Dioguardia as the first of a series of strikes threatened by the local International Bricklayers and Helpers' Unions where laborers not affiliated with the International Common Laborers' Union are employed. Such action, he said, might tie up a large percentage of the building now under construction.

Dioguardia said it was likely that if International union members replaced the independent laborers on the Broadway and Ninety-seventh Street building the cement and concrete workers, who are members of the independent union, would go on strike. He expressed doubt that the contemplated action of the local bricklayers' unions would be taken by the officials of their international union.

Paul Vaccarelli, head of the Laborers' Union of the International, says 85 per cent. of the building laborers are in his organization. The independent union, on the other hand, insists it has nearly all the workers in its organization, about 700 cement and concrete workers and 600 bricklayers' helpers.

WOODIN PLANS CURB FOR COAL GOUGERS

WILL ARRANGE FOR SUPPLY

Appointments to Be Announced When All Accept—Seeks Co-operation of Dealers.

Plans to check profiteering in coal, and to arrange for an adequate supply for New York State, will be considered at a meeting of the District Fuel Administrators, whom William H. Woodin, State Fuel Administrator, will appoint, at Albany next Tuesday. It was said at Mr. Woodin's office that Mr. Woodin had selected a man for each of the nine districts into which the State has been divided, but that some of them were still considering whether they should accept the appointment. Their names will be announced, it was said, as soon as acceptances are received.

Under Mr. Woodin's plan of decentralization, these District Administrators will have broad powers. In checking profiteering, it was explained, the District Administrators will be expected to see not only that a coal dealer caught profiteering receives no more coal, but that his stock is requisitioned and sold to local buyers. Some difficulty is expected in determining just what is a fair price, it was said, as the cost of labor and transportation is high.

According to an official of the State Fuel Administration, the co-operation of coal dealers is expected as it will be to their interest. It was said that Mr. Wood intended to follow Governor Miller's policy of interfering with the coal dealers as little as possible, but that when he was compelled to take action it would be drastic.

The New York State Retail Coal Merchants' Association will hold its annual meeting today at Richfield Springs. Colonel William J. Donovan of Buffalo, legal adviser to Mr. Woodin, will address them. He is expected to urge the dealers to arrange among themselves for equitable distribution during the period of the coal shortage and to take steps to protect the good name of the majority by holding a strong check upon the small percentage of unscrupulous dealers who may show a tendency toward gouging and profiteering.

Mr. Woodin said he would encourage the use of any substitute which would save coal. He added that it was hardly fair for dealers to fix prices at this time. Mr. Woodin has established offices for the Fuel Administration on the eighth floor of 165 Broadway, in which he has his office as President of the American Car & Foundry Company, and will open them on Monday. It was said that he would make no attempt to build up an expensive organization, and that the District Administrators probably would serve without pay.

G. N. Snyder, general manager of Dickson & Eddy, wholesale coal dealers, of 17 Battery Place, and transportation advisor of the Federal Fuel Administration during the war, said that coal would necessarily advance in price. He said the mines had a pumping bill of at least $18,000,000 which the operators felt they must make good.

Mr. Snyder said he believed there was less than 1,000 tons of anthracite in the hands of dealers in New York City. He explained that the cost of storage space in the city was so great that most of the anthracite went direct from the boats to the consumers so that there never were large reserve stocks.

George Stansfield, coal administrator of the Department of Public Welfare, said that the department had purchased coal on hand to supply the needs of its sixteen institutions, housing 15,500 persons, for three or four weeks. He said the department used about 80,000 tons of coal a year.

The Bronx County Grand Jury presented a resolution yesterday to Justice Charles L. Guy in Supreme Court, requesting Governor Miller to cause the appointment of a separate Fuel Administrator for Bronx County. The resolution stated that the requirements of the Bronx were more than 1,000,000 tons of coal a year, that the present supply was nothing, and that there would be distress unless energetic methods were taken.

Another resolution adopted by the Grand Jury urged that bituminous coal intended for domestic purposes receive first priority. A copy of the first resolution will be sent to Governor Miller, copies of the second will be sent to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, United States Senators James W. Wadsworth Jr. and William M. Calder and the New York Representatives in Congress.

WOODIN APPEALS TO WOMEN

State Fuel Controller Urges Them to Conserve Coal.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Appeal for the assistance of women in conservation of coal was made today by William H. Woodin, State Fuel Administrator, in a message read before the State League of Women Voters. "The difficult problem," the statement said, "will be to keep children, men and women warm."

The message, read by Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, State Chairman of the league, follows:

"The most important thing I have to do is get the co-operation of the women. They gave wonderful service in every way during the war, and I know they will now. My task is to get to them as promptly as possible the appeal for economy. It will be their help or lack of interest that will keep the people from suffering this Winter with cold or make this inevitable. The manufacturers use soft coal. With good transportation they will get along all right.

"It is the hard coal that will be short. This is used almost entirely for heating and cooking, and the women control those important departments that means comfort and health for all of us. The League of Women Voters can do a great service for the State by enlisting the help of the women in this necessary conservation of coal.

"Woman's first duty of the conservation of life gives her the task of keeping us all well. And this year the difficult problem will be to keep children, men and women warm.

"I regret more than I can say that I must stay in New York to organize my commission these next few days. I have to give up coming to speak for you, as well as for the convention of the retail coal dealers at Richfield Springs tomorrow, because the whirl of work is too serious to neglect."

COAL DEALERS BACK WOODIN

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Reversing its policy of opposition to Federal or State administration of fuel supplies, the New York State Coal Merchants' Association, in convention at Richfield Springs today, adopted a resolution supporting Governor Miller and State Fuel Administrator W. H. Woodin in their efforts to provide an equitable basis for the distribution of coal and pledging full co-operation to prevent a crisis.

Use of bituminous coal as a substitute for anthracite in homes until the emergency is passed, restriction of the quantity given to any consumer that all may have coal, and licensing of all dealers, both wholesale and retail, in order to curb irresponsible dealers, were among the measures advocated for dealing with the crisis. The 75 cents per differential of 35 cents per cent. fixed for jobbers' profit was denounced as four times too high.

SAYS TARIFF WILL CUT AUTO SALES IN EUROPE

The Cunarder Aquitania arrived late yesterday from Southampton via Cherbourg with 2,218 passengers and twenty-two boxes of gold, valued at $1,100,000, consigned to various New York banks, and 3,500 sacks of mail.

Among the 749 first cabin passengers was John N. Willys, President of the Willys-Overland Company, who returned with his wife and daughter after an absence of two months, optimistic over conditions in Europe. The remainder of the passengers were mostly pessimists.

He met Bonar Law, former leader of the House of Commons, at luncheon just before sailing. The British statesman said he could not see how the United States intended to build up its merchant marine behind a high tariff wall.

In a prepared statement Mr. Willys said:

"The buying power of several European countries is unmistakably increasing. There is every indication that keen competition for the European automobile markets is developing among the European manufacturers. The retaliatory tariff policies of the various countries toward the United States is likely to make this competition a much more important factor in the export of automobiles than has generally been anticipated. We are planning to meet the competition with increased production in our English plant at Manchester."

Another passenger on the Aquitania was Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who returned with Mrs. Wise and their son, L. W. Wise, and daughter, Mr. Justin Wise. "I was three months trip through England, France, Egypt, Palestine and Italy.

"Europe is in a serious condition," Dr. Wise said. "Optimists returning from Europe should stop talking about rainbows. Three things indicate the state of affairs—fear, disappointment and loss of the old faith without a real one to take its place. All Europe feels it has been cheated. Fear of another great war rules Europe today."

Max D. Steuer, lawyer, who spent two months studying European court procedure, returned with his wife. He said he did not find court practice abroad any speedier than in the United States. Mrs. Otto Kahn and daughter also returned, being met at the pier by Mr. Kahn.

SENATE PASSES BILL FOR A COAL INQUIRY

Two Administration Measures Are Now Ready for Conference, With Agreement Expected.

TO ADJOURN ABOUT SEPT. 20

Republican Leaders Plan to Pass Tariff, Coal and Bonus Measures by That Date.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The Senate today passed the Borah fact-finding commission bill to investigate the coal industry and thereby completed legislative action upon the two Administration measures dealing with the situation growing out of the coal strike. Both bills as passed by the Senate, one creating a commission to determine costs and other conditions existing in the coal fields, the other establishing a coal distributer with power through the Interstate Commerce Commission to fix priority of coal shipments and thereby controlling coal prices, are now about to go to conference. There is but slight difference between the House and Senate bills and there will be little difficulty in reaching an agreement in the conference committee.

It was said at the White House today that President Harding believed the fact-finding commission was going to be a "great progressive, constructive step." He believed, it was said, that partisans of both sides of the controversy were looking at the creation of the commission in a big way, and it was asserted that it was the President's intention to select a commission of such high character as to give satisfaction to the entire country.

With this action by the Senate today the situation in Congress appears to favor an adjournment by Sept. 20 or two days later. The Conference Committee on the Tariff bill has reached an agreement on the salient differences and all that is left is an agreement on the rates on wool and sugar.

The House conferees have accepted the Senate provisions for foreign valuation and an elastic tariff, but are determined that the rates on wool and sugar shall be reduced to the House rates.

It is believed that the conferees will reduce the rates on these commodities and that the conference report will be presented to both branches of Congress by Tuesday next at the latest. If this program is carried out, adjournment will be had by the last days in the third week of September.

The present program of the Republican leaders is to pass the tariff bill, then the coal bills and finally the bonus bill. Before the President has had an opportunity to veto the bonus bill, Congress, according to present plans, will take a recess.

This course has been decided upon, it was announced today, in order to prevent Congress attempting to pass the bonus bill over the President's veto. All the leaders are confident that the President will veto the bonus bill. If he does this after Congress has gone away, there will be nothing for Congress to do on the bonus before elections.

Republican leaders feel that the best procedure in the bonus tangle is to permit the President to veto the bill after Congress has adjourned.

SHOCK RESTORES MEMORY.

WINDSOR, Ontario, Sept. 8.—After a lapse of memory extending over a period of several days, Walter Newman of Windsor, shell-shocked war veteran, was in full possession of his mental faculties today, having been aroused by the sight of an automobile plunging over a cliff at Niagara Falls Monday, carrying a woman to her death.

Newman, who suffered an attack of amnesia a week ago, wandered away from home, but remembered everything up to the time of his disappearance, and when he saw Mrs. Agatha Miller of Cleveland fall to her death, Newman's physicians have warned visitors away from his bedside, fearing anything about the accident will cause a return of his malady.

48 Cossacks Put to Death in Kiev.

MOSCOW, Sept. 8.—The forty-eight Cossacks recently convicted in Kiev in connection with an uprising against the Ukrainian Government have been executed, appeals entered in their behalf having been denied. The Moscow Government has stayed the execution of eight counter-revolutionists condemned at Simferopol.

SETTLEMENTS URGED BY INDIVIDUAL ROADS

greater irritability than that of Mr. Willard.

Samuel Felton, leader of the faction that has steadfastly opposed any break in the solid front of the railroads, denied angrily that the meeting had been anything more than a social luncheon.

Other rail chiefs volunteered the information that "there would be another meeting," but were vague concerning the date and the purpose of the proposed discussion.

Mr. Willard declined to state whether he will stay in Chicago or whether he will continue his attempt to conciliate the opposing executives to his program of individual settlements.

Speculation on Baltimore Plan.

What purported to be the text of the tentative proposition arrived at in Baltimore, as published by some newspapers here, was in reality the text of the minority resolution adopted by the fifty-two roads which broke away from the New York conference recently and held a separate meeting in Washington.

The only difference between the newly published text and that of the Washington resolution was the date upon which the shopmen were to be taken back. The Washington plan provided for their return on Sept. 1 instead of on Oct. 1, as in the newly furnished text. How far the Baltimore compromise differs from the Washington resolution can only be conjectured, but as the latter was flatly rejected by Mr. Jewell and his committee it is likely that some changes have been made.

According to one rail executive, the two are not identical. He also stated that the question of wages does not enter into the Baltimore agreement. It was also said that the question of seniority is not entirely cleared up, even under the Baltimore plan, and that it promises still to be a stumbling block.

It is believed that the Baltimore plan is really nothing more than a proposed method or policy of settlement rather than a statement of terms. It is believed that it sets forth that, as many roads take the stand that the strike is broken and there will be no compromise, it becomes necessary for the union Policy Committee to authorize its officers to negotiate individual agreements with such roads as will settle.

These separate agreements need not necessarily be uniform, some roads agreeing to yield more ground than others. The Policy Committee may be asked to give the officers broad power to negotiate the best possible settlement with each of the roads willing to compromise.

A certain group of roads, as represented by President Willard are said to be holding out for settlement on the basis of the "maximum offer" of the minority roads at Washington. Some of the roads are said to be willing to go even further than that and restore full seniority rights prior to June 30.

The Washington plan provides for seniority disputes to be settled by a committee of ten, five to be appointed by the union and five by the company.

S. M. Felton, President of the Chicago Great Western and Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Western executives, denied that his road is a party to the Baltimore negotiations. He expressed the opinion that if individual agreements are reached by any of the roads they will differ so materially as to leave no two alike.

More Executives Arriving.

S. Davies Warfield, railroad securities expert and one of the organizers of the Seaboard Airline, who is said to have acted as the mediary in the Baltimore conferences, is expected to arrive in Chicago tomorrow, together with Fairfax Harrison, President of the Southern Railway, to add their influence to that of President Willard in furthering the peace movement among Western executives.

President Jewell and his associate officers greeted all newspaper men with sealed lips, so far as any significant statement was concerned.

"Publicity has been bad for our cause in past weeks, and we are determined there shall be no statement now until it is authorized by our Policy Committee," said Mr. Jewell. "This may be on Monday evening; perhaps not before Tuesday evening."

The shop crafts leader was asked whether the call for his Policy Committee had in a measure been prompted by the fact that the hearing on the Daugherty injunction will be had on Monday.

"I'll have to leave you to draw your own conclusions," he replied. "Anyway, our men will be here under the Court's jurisdiction."

The Policy Committee is due to convene at the Sheridan Plaza Hotel at 10 o'clock on Monday. Hearing on the injunction before Judge James H. Wilkerson in Federal Court also will be early in the day. If the order is made permanent, provisions which have been interpreted as a curb on free speech probably will be eliminated, in accordance with promises given by Attorney General Daugherty in response to much criticism.

Elgin Road Offers Settlement.

The first full-force return of strikers on any line since the walkout started on July 1 was forecasted in a statement issued tonight by A. F. Banks, President of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway. President Banks said the shopmen would return on Monday in response to invitations for them to come back to their former positions and rating with the company" including seniority rights. Strike leaders at Joliet, however, denied there was any break in their ranks.

CABINET NOT MOVING; DAUGHERTY CRITICISED

Labor Leaders Contend Attorney General Misused Appropriations in Obtaining Injunction.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—It was made known today at the White House that the Administration was not "officially" taking any part in the latest efforts to bring about a settlement of the rail strike. The Cabinet discussed the coal situation for a short time today, but, it is understood, did not go into the details of the rail strikes. It was stated by a spokesman for the White House that the negotiations looking to a settlement were in the hands of certain of the railway executives and shop craft leaders, and that it would not be advisable for Administration leaders to offer any opinion as to what the outcome of the efforts might be.

The President, however, is being kept advised of each move in the negotiations. The intimation was given that there was no intention on the part of the Administration leaders to take further steps at this time, hoping that an agreement shortly would be reached.

In the meantime there was much comment in labor circles here concerning the injunction obtained by Attorney General Daugherty in the Federal Court at Chicago. It was contended that certain provisions of the injunction involving the freedom of speech and the tying up of union funds were in direct opposition to the Constitution and the statutes.

If the Attorney General employed money appropriated by Congress for the Department of Justice in an effort to enforce such provisions of the injunction, it was held, he would himself violate the laws, inasmuch as in making the appropriations for the Department Congress included a clause to the effect that none of the fund should be employed in the prosecution of suits against organizations or individuals seeking to obtain higher wages or better working conditions, unless the act was in itself unlawful.

The viewpoint taken in labor circles was that the Attorney General would be forced to admit in the courts that he had gone too far and would ask for modifications of the injunctions, which would make it a weapon of questionable value.

IRELAND'S NEW DAIL WILL MEET TODAY

CABLE TO ENGLAND IS CUT

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, Sept. 8.—Telegraphic communication between Ireland and England has been seriously interrupted. The land extension of one of the cables has been interfered with near Howth. Earlier in the week another was broken near Bray. There is a consequent delay in messages.

The postal position is very delicate. Reductions in wages came into operation today and caused grave dissatisfaction among employes, who are threatening a lightning strike this week-end, probably to take effect from tomorrow night. The Cabinet is considering the position at a special meeting this evening and it is considered likely a basis of negotiation will be contrived.

For the sitting of the Dail tomorrow elaborate precautions are being taken by the authorities to prevent any coup by the irregulars. Admission is by ticket and it is strictly limited. I understand that some of the anti-treaty members met in Dublin yesterday and discussed their attitude in view of tomorrow's session.

DUBLIN, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Many members of the new Parliament reached Dublin today in readiness for the opening session tomorrow. The attendance is not expected to exceed eighty.

If any of the followers of Eamon de Valera make their appearance it probably will be for the purpose of questioning the Government regarding the exact status of the new Parliament and to claim that the Dail Eireann still exists. A test case would be that of John O'Mahoney, who represented Fermanagh in the Dail but cannot obtain a seat in the new Parliament, the membership of which is confined to the twenty-six counties.

Among the prominent de Valerites seen in Dublin tonight were Count Plunkett, Laurence Ginnell and Mary McSwiney, sister of the late Lord Mayor of Cork. All three were returned at the last elections, and are entitled to sit in the Parliament. But such of their colleagues as are engaged in armed conflict against the Government would be liable to arrest before they reach the Parliament hall in Leinster House.

Approach to Leinster House is impossible for unauthorized persons. Their access is everywhere barred by high gates. The building is so situated that no surprise raid upon it is possible. Tickets of admission to the newspaper men are for one week only. After the formal election of a speaker and other officers tomorrow, the next session is uncertain—whether it will be Monday or Tuesday.

The threatened strike of the postal workers, if it becomes effective, would delay reports of the sessions to the outside world. The correspondents, therefore, are planning devious routes for their dispatches.

Disagreement between two irregular leaders operating in County Kerry is reported to have caused a sanguinary fight, in which rifles, bombs and machine guns were used by the opposing factions.

One leader, named McCellistrum, is said to have opposed plans for ambushing a food convoy en route to the relief of Kilkenny, where the people are suffering from hunger as a result of the irregulars' war on transports. Humphrey Murphy, another leader, differed on the issue with McCellistrum, and the split spread to the ranks.

Irregular forces yesterday attacked a signal cabin on the Great Southern Railway between Dundrum and Limerick Junction, but the small garrison of National troops repulsed them with the reported loss to the irregulars of one killed and several wounded. The Nationals' casualties were one killed and two wounded.

Steady progress by the Nationals is reported throughout the country generally. Men and material were captured at Kinnegad, in southeastern County Westmeath, where an attempt by the irregulars to burn the barracks was frustrated.

BELFAST, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—A stiff engagement between Nationals and irregulars occurred at Castletown, near Dundalk. Rifle and revolver firing took place. Many prominent irregulars were arrested and one was reported killed.

FIRES AT ELYSEE CAR, SEEKING MILLERAND

Salem, Egyptian Student, Seized After Wild Shot—President Was Absent.

PARIS, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Georges Salem, an Egyptian student, fired a shot at an automobile in front of the Palace of the Elysée today, believing the car to be President Millerand's. The shot went wild.

Salem, who is 19 years old, was seized by a guard as he fired. He collapsed, falling as if in a faint, apparently thinking that he had been shot.

Carrying a small brown satchel Salem went to the Elysée and asked for President Millerand, telling the guard who questioned him that he had a letter for the President. Noting a somewhat dazed look in Salem's face the guard suspected that he was mentally unbalanced and took the letter, promising to deliver it to the President personally.

At this the youth suddenly inquired if the President's carriage had left the palace, apparently not knowing that M. Millerand was at Rambouillet. The guard unthinkingly replied that the automobile had just left.

Salem then quickly drew a small revolver of an obsolete type and fired point blank at a car that happened to be in the front driveway of the Elysée. At the same instant the guard seized his arm violently and he collapsed.

The young Egyptian had a passport issued by the French Legation in Cairo. He denied intending to shoot the President. He said he had written to M. Millerand for money when he failed to receive funds from his Egyptian relatives, but as the President did not reply he had gone to the palace intending to commit suicide in the presence of the President as a form of protest against M. Millerand's "indifference."

Yesterday's incident at the Palace of the Elysée was the second one this year in which an automobile believed to be carrying the President of the French republic has been fired upon.

On July 14, as President Millerand and his official party were returning from the Bastille Day celebration at Longchamps, three shots were fired at the automobile containing Prefect of Police Naudin by Gustave Bouvet, an anarchist, in the belief that the car was Millerand's. M. Naudin's automobile immediately preceded the Presidential carriage in the procession.

ITALIAN PREMIER'S SON HERE

Federico Giolotti, Engineer, Arrives on Business Trip.

The Italian liner Giuseppe Verdi arrived yesterday from Naples and Genoa with 1,625 passengers, of whom 175 had been booked on the Philadelphia, which now lies beached at Naples. They said that they had been kept on board the American steamship 40 days waiting for her to start for New York.

Federico Giolotti, son of the Italian Premier, was a passenger. He will spend two months here, he said, on private business. He is a metallurgical and mechanical engineer.

CARMANIA ARRIVALS SAW DUBLIN BATTLE

AMERICANS NOT WANTED

Woman Writer Declares Irregulars Seek to Hide True Situation—Curfew Reduces Drinking.

The Cunarder Carmania arrived yesterday from Liverpool via Queenstown with 984 passengers, several of whom saw the fighting in Dublin and the blowing up of the Four Courts building.

Ralph Crimmins, who returned with his wife after spending the Summer in Ireland, said he was a mile away when the Four Courts building was destroyed. Bundles of papers fell where he was standing and fragments were blown a mile beyond him, he said.

"The Free Staters will win out," said Mr. Crimmins. "They have got the pick of the soldiers from such disbanded Irish regiments as the Connaught Rangers and the Dublin Fusiliers. There is much disorder in the South of Ireland. Even in Dublin people are stopped and questioned every few yards. But, although their uniforms are ragged, the soldiers are courteous.

"The hope of restoring peace lies with the new Civic Guard, largely recruited from the old Royal Irish Constabulary, known for more than half a century for its efficiency. All the police barracks in cities, towns and villages have been destroyed. Railroads have been torn up and bridges destroyed in every direction.

"However, a bridge may be blown up today and be in repair within twenty-four hours, because the irregulars do not really know how to blow up a bridge. It takes an army engineer to do that.

"There is no communication between Dublin and Cork except by sea. It is also difficult to enter Ulster from Dublin or to cross the frontier into the Free State territory coming from Belfast, where shooting still continues. The County of Donegal has gone Bolshevik and is running on its own account. The Irish are all tired of war, however."

Miss A. E. Campbell, a writer, of Providence, R. I., attended the funerals of Arthur Griffith and General Michael Collins. She said the latter function was more largely attended. Miss Campbell said she met Miss Duffy, a cousin of Father Duffy, traveling in a train after escaping from Monaghan when a bridge was blown up. Both women were searched for papers several times by irregular troops. Miss Campbell added that American women in Ireland were indignant at the way they had been treated in an effort to drive them out of the country.

"The irregular forces do not want Americans there to see what is going on," Miss Campbell said. "We were told in Cork that de Valera was in a hospital a few miles away suffering from a wound in the arm and pneumonia. He was found by an American woman reporter and was so angry that he had her permit revoked. She did not get an interview with him.

"Through the curfew there is less drinking in Ireland than ever, although drink is more plentiful and cheaper than in England or Scotland. It took me three days to get from Belfast to Dublin, an ordinary three hours' journey."

Another passenger was Edward Marjoribanks, nephew and heir to Lord Tweedmouth and president of the Oxford Union Debating Society. He will lecture at Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Columbia Universities on British trade unions. He said the British are quite willing to repay America but are sensitive about being reminded of it.

Others on the Carmania were Professor Clare Howard of Columbia University and Barnard College, the Rt. Rev. J. J. Collins, D.D., of Fordham University; Philip Wadsworth, artist, of Washington; Donald Newton of Montclair, N. J., and several Liverpool cotton brokers on their way to the Southern States.

MOSCOW HEARS CHINA FAVORS RECOGNITION

Pravda Reports That Resolution Has Been Introduced in Peking Parliament.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Sept. 7.—A resolution demanding recognition of the Soviet Government has been introduced in the Chinese Parliament, states a Peking telegram featured in the Pravda today. The document, apparently not drawn up by the Communist element, puts the case for recognition on the grounds of common sense and experience.

The three principal reasons advanced are: First, the Soviet Government, now established five years, has made good its claim to be considered as the Government of Russia and that Russia is China's most important neighbor, and it is essential for the well-being of both countries that they live on friendly terms. Second, the Soviet Government has given practical proofs of friendship by throwing overboard all treaties and agreements forced on China by the Government of the Czar with the purpose and effect of placing Russia in a position of suzerainty over China. Third, the Soviets have shown a willingness to conclude a trade agreement with China on the terms of involving no infringement of the latter's sovereignty and exhibiting no symptoms of political or territorial aggression. These negotiations were interrupted but are expected to be immediately resumed. The dispatch concludes with the suggestion that recognition be speedily voted by China.

This news follows the recent visit of the Russian delegation to the Russo-Japanese conference in the Chinese capital, where they received a warm welcome, among others, from the new Foreign Minister of China, Wellington Koo. Its chief interest lies in the fact that the Soviet Government is developing a clear-cut Asiatic policy which may be summed up in the phrase "Asia for Asiatics." The formation of a Far Eastern republic, distinct from and semi-independent of the central Russian Government, is the Soviets' answer to the charge, "How can Russia say that when she herself has vast possessions in Asia?" In her European policy Russia is fumbling between the Statecraft of Russian national interests and devotion to the vision of a world social revolution. But Russia now realizes that Asia is not ripe for Socialism, and the Moscow-controlled activities of Asiatic Communists are being directed along nationalist rather than socialist lines.

TAKE $50,000 IN GEMS FROM NEW YORKER

Chicago Robbers Seize His Wallet in Restaurant After Beating Him, He Reports.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Adolph Kunstler, said to be a New York jeweler, was assaulted by three men today in a restaurant in upper Sheridan Road and robbed of jewelry he valued at $50,000, according to reports made to the police. The robbers escaped in an automobile. Kunstler was taken to a hospital where, it was said, he had been severely beaten.

Few patrons were in the restaurant at the time and the robbers are believed to have previously learned Kunstler's identity and followed him to the place. Their automobile stopped in front of the place as Kunstler entered and the trio followed him in. A fourth man remained in the car.

Without losing any time, the robbers, according to information given to the police, attacked Kunstler and quickly got his wallet, containing the jewelry which consisted chiefly of diamonds, fled to their car and sped away.

Kunstler is said to be in the diamond brokerage business with a brother in New York.

Dewitt Faces Trial for Murder.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Owen D. Dewitt, real estate operator, charged with the murder of J. Frank O'Conner, a tailor, in the latter's storehouse August 28, was held for the Grand Jury today after a hearing in City Court, Criminal Branch. An unsuccessful effort was made by his counsel to obtain a dismissal of the case on the grounds of insufficient evidence, but their motion was denied.

French Oppose Allied Interference.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—Only prompt cessation of hostilities by the complete submission of Greece to the Turkish armistice terms can avert a complete catastrophe for the Greeks, in the opinion of French observers. The capture of the newly appointed Commander-in-Chief, the resignation of the Cabinet in consequence of the Kemalist victory at Ushak, and the utter demoralization of the Greek forces are taken to indicate that there is no hope left that any effective defense can be made. The view here is that the only thing for the Greeks to do is to make peace as quickly as possible on any terms that are imposed.

In French Governmental circles it is plainly stated that this is no time for allied or other interference, since the Greeks must now deal directly with the victors.

A considerable section of the press places the whole blame for the present catastrophe on Premier Lloyd George's pro-Hellenic policy and the delay of the British Cabinet in proposing some settlement. At the same time there are a few writers who are already beginning to consider the possible political results of a complete Kemalist victory. The attitude taken is that the British fear that the Kemalists will try to seize Constantinople is exaggerated. The Turks, the French believe, are tired of war and will be willing, now that the possession of Asia Minor is assured them, to lay down their arms. It is only here and there that uneasiness is shown at the prospect of a too complete Turkish victory. The French position in Syria is not much better assured than that of the British in Mesopotamia, and French diplomats are now getting ready to act the moment the Turks have completed their present operations and before they can begin to look about for further spoils.

This fear is certain to have a big effect in one direction, making the British and French co-operation in the Near East closer than it has ever been since the war ended. It is in the interests of both countries now to have peace established at the earliest possible moment, and, although the moment has not yet come for their interference, pressure is being kept between the Quai d'Orsay and Downing Street, so that a simultaneous effort may be made to persuade the Turks to remain satisfied with their victory and its fruits and not embark on any venture which would entail action against them by any or all of the Allies.

ANGORA, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The booty which has fallen into the hands of the Turks up to Sept. 4 is given as 510 guns, 1,500 motor trucks, 200 automobiles, 5,000 machine guns, 400 carloads of munitions and 40,000 rifles. In addition, more than 20,000 Greeks have been made prisoner.

Hint at Venizelos's Return.

PARIS, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Rumors that King Constantine of Greece intends to abdicate are current in several European capitals. They are considered here to have been given some color by the sudden recall of the Greek heir-apparent, Prince George, to Athens from Bucharest.

King Constantine's abdication is regarded here as an increasing possibility, particularly as it is considered the only method of getting former Premier Venizelos, Greece's wartime leader, to return to Athens, form a Coalition Government, make an effort to restore order in Greek affairs and regain a part of Greece's lost prestige.

The Angora Government will grant an armistice to the Greeks only if a request is made direct by the Greek Generalissimo, according to Nationalist circles in Constantinople, says a dispatch to the Havas Agency from Constantinople.

The dispatch adds that an armistice would be subject to two conditions—first, the evacuation of Thrace, and, second, the immediate departure of the Greek military and naval units in Constantinople. Permission to embark troops and material from Asia Minor would be subordinated to the above two conditions.

According to the Havas Agency, the Allied Ministers in Athens have made representations to the Greek Foreign Minister directing the Government's attention to the excesses alleged to have been committed by Greek troops in Asia Minor, which it was feared might provoke the Turks to reprisals against the Christian non-combatants.

The Belgian, Swiss and Czechoslovakian Governments have asked France to undertake the protection of their citizens in Smyrna. France has agreed to do this.

Forming a New Greek Cabinet.

ATHENS, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Nikolas Kalogeropoulos has accepted the Premiership, which M. Protopapadakis resigned on Thursday, succumbing to the pressure of public opinion as a result of the severe reverses to the Greek arms in Asia Minor.

A telephone message from the Greek commander in the field says that General Tricoupis, who had been appointed to the command, and General Digenis, were captured by Turkish cavalry while they were proceeding to join the Greek corps at Ala-Shehr, east of Smyrna. The waiting of these Generals, with their staffs, was not connected with the reported loss of their army corps, according to seemingly reliable information, this corps eventually retreating in the direction of Ala-Shehr.

The Third Army Corps, which suffered the brunt of the Nationalist pressure, retreated toward Brusa, and consequently doubt is cast upon the reports that Brusa has been evacuated. That Brusa had been occupied by the Nationalists was denied here today, and it was declared that the Third Corps had taken up its position there.

The allied diplomats had a conference with Foreign Minister Baltatzis and recommended measures to prevent disorders in the Greek Army which might provoke Turkish reprisals.

Refugees from Smyrna are already arriving here. Eight hundred of them were brought into Piraeus, the port of Athens. They were accompanied by a number of functionaries, bringing the archives of the Greek High Commissioner at Smyrna.

Greek warships, it is announced, have bombarded Valona on the coast of Montenegro, destroying one battery and silencing another which opened fire on them.

Announcement is made that General Hadjanestis, the deposed Greek commander, has received permission to remain abroad two months.

It is announced that General Polimenakos has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Greek forces in Asia Minor, in succession to General Tricoupis. General Digenis and four Colonels were captured by the Turks at the time General Tricoupis was taken.

An official Greek communique, issued under date of Sept. 5, says:

"Our troops in the southern group continue to retire and have reached a line eastward of Salihli (Salihlar?). Our forces in the Eski-Shehr sector have withdrawn eastward of Brusa. A cavalry attack from a northeasterly direction on Salihli was beaten off.

"The enemy launched a violent attack from Mount Birmanli against Kios (Chemlek), but were beaten off, largely owing to fire from the fleet. The fighting ended in our favor. We made a determined counter-attack, and strong reinforcements have now arrived."

The newspapers report that the Turks have set fire to the town of Ala-Shehr, eighty-three miles east of Smyrna.

M. Kalogeropoulos, the Greek Premier-designate, in addition to being one of the cleverest lawyers in his country, is also experienced in military affairs, and held the portfolio of Minister of War simultaneously with that of Premier in the Cabinet which he formed in September, 1916.

During his administration he steadfastly upheld the Greek claims to Smyrna and Thrace and opposed the appointment of an international commission to study the status of these districts. He was succeeded as Premier by Demetrios Gounaris in April, 1921.

Greek Governor of Smyrna Resigns.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Unable to extricate their army from the Kemalists' hold the Greek military leaders, it is believed here, will be obliged to accept any armistice terms the victors may dictate.

The Allied Commissioners have recommended to Hamid Bey, representative of the Kemalists here, that the Angora Government propose an armistice to Athens.

A Greek communique states that General Tricoupis, the Commander-in-Chief, was captured while attending an important military council at Ushak Sunday night, at which it was decided to withdraw to the Ala-Shehr line.

M. Stergiadis, Greek Governor General of Smyrna, has resigned in consequence of the refusal of the Consuls of the allied powers in Smyrna to accede to his request for mediation in favor of the Greeks, says a dispatch from Smyrna.

M. Stergiadis is declared to have also appealed to Consul General Horton to enlist the aid of the United States. Intense anxiety exists among the population of Smyrna, the dispatch adds.

Revolution in Smyrna Feared.

The Greek administration of Smyrna ceased to functions yesterday. Revolution within the city is imminent, according to reports. It is feared that the revolt will be accelerated by the enormous influx of refugees, bread riots and the lack of discipline in the Greek Army.

Two Allied transports left here for Smyrna with supplies. It is the prevailing opinion here that General Douemanis and Polymenakos will not be able to stem the Turkish advance and form a bridgehead to protect Smyrna. The swift movements of the Kemalist Army are looked upon as almost impossible to stop.

The departure for Smyrna of M. Theotokis, the Greek Minister of War, with plenary powers is interpreted here as signifying that the Athens Government is ready to begin armistice negotiations.

Conditions of panic prevail at Brusa while refugees are daily arriving in large numbers at Mudania. None of them are allowed to proceed to Constantinople, which is already overcrowded. The Allied High Commissioners have informed the Greek authorities that they must seek other places than Constantinople to care for the refugees.

Congratulatory messages were exchanged between M. Karakhan, acting Soviet Foreign Commissar at Moscow, and Reouf Bey, the Turkish Nationalist Premier. The latter, responding to the message of the former, said:

"The Nationalist Government is happy to receive the congratulations of Russia, the first power to offer us a helping hand in our difficulties. We are certain that the Turkish offensive will shortly be crowned with success."

Mustapha Kemal received a message from General Budenny, the Soviet commander, expressing the latter's complete admiration of the perfect strategy of the Turkish General Staff.

ADANA, Sept. 6 (Associated Press).—Advices received from Turkish Nationalist sources confirm the reports of the complete defeat of the Greek Army. The army, which at the beginning of the operations was estimated to aggregate 200,000 men, has lost more than half its effectives. The troops which are flying in disorder before the Kemalist cavalry amount hardly to 50,000.

Thousands of prisoners are being taken daily. The Kemalists continue to advance rapidly. They have reached Manisas and have occupied the whole of the railroad from Panderma to Mallesa.

ROME, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The Italian Foreign Office continues its efforts to persuade France and Great Britain to invite Greece and Turkey to a joint conference, to be held in Venice, according to an announcement made today. The purpose of the conference would be to discuss preliminaries for peace in the present Greco-Turkish conflict. An armistice or a truce is suggested by the Italian Government during the period of the preliminary negotiations.

MALTA, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The British cruisers Concord and Cardiff, nder command of Rear Admiral Reginald Tyrwhitt, are under orders to sail at noon today for Smyrna.

The entire British Mediterranean Fleet is now concentrated in Near Eastern waters.

Americans in Anatolia Safe.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—All Americans in Anatolia are safe, according to a dispatch received today by the State Department from an American consular officer temporarily and unofficially at Angora, the seat of the Turkish Nationalist Government in Asia Minor. It is understood that all Americans are behind the Turkish lines and, therefore, are not in the battle zone.

Information in the possession of the State Department indicates that there are approximately forty Americans in Smyrna, and about half a dozen in Brusa. Destroyers have been sent to Smyrna and about half a dozen in port of Brusa for the purpose of protecting American lives and interests.

"Good Morning, Judge"

I want you to judge for yourself today the style value of the hat that Judge Webb of the Superior Court protected by injunction until I put it on my Five Foot Style Shelf.

The roll of the brim is the Style Feature of the now famous $100,000 model.

The old floppy, flimsy soft style brim that the college boys used to turn down and bend up, and twist into all kinds of shapes a couple of years ago, is as dead as last year's Almanac.

That's why I introduced this Season a new Style Combination with a crown that is soft and full, and a brim that is firm enough to get hold of, and stiff enough to hold the style that I whittled into the flange.

As a matter of fact this new flange produces a brim on a soft hat that resembles the D'Orsey Derby "curl" that up to date has only been used on a stiff hat.

Of course, as usual I have the staple shapes in all the September shades that anybody else has, but, thanks to Judge Webb, I've something that nobody else has.

I think the Judge is some Judge of Style and that's why I named this hat

INJUNCTION TO SAFEGUARD HAT STYLE ISSUED

Following an all day session before Judge James H. Webb, sitting as a judge of the superior court, Truly Warner of New York City, one of the largest retailers of men's hats in the country, yesterday secured an injunction against Matthias C. Loewe, Ernest E. Loewe and Dietrich E. Loewe, comprising the firm of D. E. Loewe and company, hat manufacturers of Danbury, and Charles F. Yochum, also of Danbury, a maker of flanges used in the manufacture of men's hats, restraining them from manufacturing, selling or shipping any hats of the type known as the Truly Warner feature hat for 1922. Benjamin H. Kaufman of New York city, also a dealer in men's hats, was also named as one of the defendants in the action but because it was impossible to serve him at this time within the state of Connecticut, the injunction issued yesterday does not affect him except to prevent him from getting any of the Truly Warner style hats from any of the defendants.

At the hearing Mayor David E. FitzGerald and William L. Madden represented Truly Warner, Pullman and Comley of Bridgeport represented the Loewes and Attorney Alexander of Danbury represented Yochum.

The style hat that caused all the trouble and which since the suit has been referred to as "Truly Warner's $100,000 hat" the name being derived from the amount of damages claimed in the suit, is now reposing in the care and custody of Clerk Wheeler of the superior court, safely sealed up. The hat itself was introduced as an exhibit in the case and by stipulation of the parties was left with the clerk of the court.

A temporary restraining order was issued by Judge John W. Banks on Aug. 28 at the time that the papers in the suit for $100,000 damages and an injunction were presented to him in Bridgeport and a further hearing on the matter was set down by Judge Banks before Judge Webb yesterday.

Plaintiff's Complaint.

The style hat in question is, according to the complaint filed in the case, the feature Truly Warner hat for 1922. After preparing the design it is alleged that Truly Warner entered into a contract with the

PROTESTS IN BERLIN AGAINST LUXURY TAX

Hotel and Restaurant Owners Say It Will Be Impossible to Collect It.

AIMED AT THE PROFITEERS

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—In reply to bitter criticism, the Government today attempted to justify the proposed new municipal 100 per cent. "Schlemmer" tax, i. e., a tax on high living.

The proprietors of hotels, restaurants, cafés, bars, dance halls and other places of entertainment are loudly protesting that this sumptuary measure will spell ruin for them and declaring the impossibility of ever collecting such a tax. But a State Secretary of the Ministry of the Interior today presented the Government's view that the tax would prove not only possible, but exceedingly profitable, and that communities would derive not only financial but social and even political benefits from it.

Nothing more vividly illuminates the crazily abnormal conditions developing in Germany. The German term "Schlemmer" is inadequately translated by "gourmet" or "epicure." The Government's definition of a high liver (for purposes of taxation) is one who consumes "a big bill for food or drink, or both, in one place. A big bill is one which exceeds a very modest maximum. The amount of the tax is to be fixed by each municipality and may be revised from time to time as the value of the paper mark changes.

The Government strongly advises all cities having 100,000 or more inhabitants and all other places having the character of baths or "cures" to put the high living tax into effect, each municipality to fix the amount of the maximum tax-free waiter's check according to local conditions. For Berlin today the Industrial Minister suggests from 300 to 400 marks. This would mean that anybody who ate or drank more than 30 cents' worth at one sitting—or standing—in any public place of entertainment would be mulcted the amount of his check for the municipal tax.

First, it argues that "anybody who can spend more than such maximum amount for food, drink or entertainment can certainly afford to contribute an equal amount to the municipalities to be used for feeding the poor."

Secondly, the argument is advanced that "big bills are chiefly run up in luxurious hotels, restaurants, bars and night-life places," and that "in a time of increasing general need and hardship such extravagance for food and drink constitutes a standing provocation of the poorer classes." It will be recalled that only recently the Control Commission of the Berlin Business Council made strong representations to the Wirth Government to close all luxury restaurants, bars and all other places providing extravagant entertainments. A State Secretary of the Ministry of the Interior said today:

"The provocative luxury places of entertainment are the solidly built rim of a volcano which may break out any day, and they would be the first to be swept out of existence."

There is in the mind of the Wirth Government, which is forced to placate the big Socialist and Radical element supporting it, the idea of practically taxing these institutions that are "hateful to the proletariat" out of existence, or else taxing their patrons to the limit.

Another Government argument is that the new tax will bring in handsome additional revenues, particularly from visiting foreigners from "high valuta" countries like the United States, England, Holland and Scandinavia, and will not overlook the French, either.

"Foreigners," said a Government spokesman, "naturally furnish an incentive to the proprietors of these luxury establishments to increase their prices. Now the francs, dollars and kronen pour into the pockets of these profiteers. The new tax will make it possible to take these same francs, dollars and kronen for the whole community."

Serious Radical demonstrations broke out yesterday in the industrial town of Ruhla, in Thuringia. The workers of all the factories marched in a body to the City Hall, called the Chief Burgomaster out and demanded immediate measures against profiteering and the high cost of living. The Burgomaster, alarmed, promised immediate compliance. The workers also sent a committee to Weimar to demand the immediate summoning of the Thuringian Landtag. They are trying to establish a system of Radical "control commissions" to control about everything.

Berlin financial circles are somewhat worried by reports that Communists are beginning to show increasing activity in attempting systematically to precipitate disorders involving riots and bloodshed. Demonstrations of Communist women were attempted in various parts of Berlin today.

NEW GERMAN OFFER MADE TO BELGIANS

Big Underwriting Syndicate Is Proposed as Guarantor of Treasury Notes.

BERLIN, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Fresh proposals by Germany for guaranteeing the six months' Treasury notes which are to be given to Belgium as reparations in lieu of cash were submitted to M. Bemelmans and M. Delacroix, the Belgian delegates, by Dr. Hermes, the German Minister of Finance, this afternoon.

These were immediately relayed to Brussels, MM. Bemelmans and Delacroix deciding that they were of such a nature as to necessitate the Belgian Government assuming responsibility for their acceptance or rejection. This was considered especially true by reason of the fact that the proposals were somewhat complicated and required careful consideration.

Unofficially it was learned tonight that the plan provides for the formation of a huge underwriting syndicate, the nucleus of which would be composed of German industrial and financial interests, as the German Government itself is not in a position to offer gold guarantees or negotiable securities to cover the entire issue of notes.

When asked whether an agreement was likely to be reached tomorrow on the basis of the new proposals, M. Bemelmans said this depended on the reply received from Brussels. In German financial and industrial circles the belief is expressed that an agreement will be impossible if the Belgians demand the equivalent of gold guarantees.

PRINCESS AT DOORN VISITING EX-KAISER

DOORN, Holland, Sept. 8. (Associated Press).—Members of the family of former Emperor William and of his entourage strongly oppose his marriage to Princess Hermoene of Reuss, widow of Prince Johann of Schionaich-Carolath, and are hopeful of being successful in preventing the union. It is understood that the presence here of former Crown Prince Frederick William is connected with this opposition.

The correspondent today saw the former Emperor walking near his chateau accompanied by the Princess. They were in animated conversation. The princess is a tall and handsome woman. She is a blonde with an abundant head of hair.

BERLIN CROWDS SEEK CASH.

BERLIN, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Crowds again today besieged the Reichsbank to obtain cash. Many persons waited for hours in line and then were disappointed, as they received only a fraction of what they were entitled to on the Reichsbank checks.

Notices posted in the principal banks attribute the scarcity in currency to the printers' strike, but the belief prevails that it is due largely to the hoarding of notes.

URGES LONG LOANS TO HELP EXCHANGE

Dr. Owens Proposes Amortization on the Basis of Farm Credits Here.

SEES HOUGHTON IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Sept. 6 (Associated Press).—A programme looking toward the stabilization of international finance on the basis of amortization is being submitted to Alanson B. Houghton, United States Ambassador to Germany, it is understood, by Dr. Clarence J. Owens, Chairman of the International Trade Commission of the Southern Commercial Congress, the members of which have arrived here from Holland.

Dr. Owens conferred with Ambassador Houghton today. Together with the other members of the commission he will spend several days here before continuing their investigations regarding international finance in other countries of Europe.

The basis for the proposed scheme is said to be the principle that the Southern Commercial Congress took from Germany to the United States in 1913, on which the Federal Farm Loan act is based. It is understood that Dr. Owens called the attention of interested circles in Berlin to the system of finance in operation in the United States under the Farm Loan act, declaring that it makes possible the absolute cancellation of a loan in thirty-four and one-half years, in sixty-nine semi-annual payments, merely by adding 1 per cent. to the interest charged.

Would Save Dignity of Nations.

Commenting to a correspondent on the possibilities of applying amortization to war debts, Dr. Owens said:

"Under the amortization plan the dignity of nations would be maintained, and they would not be holding out their hands for alms. They would be paying their debts."

Dr. Owens said that the German plan of amortization prior to the World War resulted in making 87 per cent. of the people on the soil in Germany either landowners or holders of equities in land, "which built up the great economic structure on which Germany entered the war."

Commenting on steps which President Harding is reported here to have taken toward the stabilization of international finance, Dr. Owens expressed the opinion that "the steps taken by President Harding could be efficacious if divorced absolutely from all political significance in America and if his plan could be divorced from all international politics. It must be on a practical, common sense, economic basis, where the fate of parties must not be taken into account. With the World War over, all questions of hate and revenge must be eradicated."

New Markets Sought in Europe.

The commission's investigations have covered France, Belgium and Holland, and it will return to France shortly after studying several countries in this section of Europe. The objects of the commission were described by Dr. Owens as the establishment of direct trade relations and the extension of the commercial relations of the United States with the countries of Europe, recognizing, he said, the fact that Europe must be the greatest market of America for raw materials and manufactured articles. Dr. Owens said the commission had sought to find the barriers to the easy flow of commerce between the various nations.

"Of the many barriers found," he added, "the fundamental one in all countries is the condition of international finance—the uncertainty following fluctuations in exchange and the lack of stabilization."

The commission, Dr. Owens said, would try to "contribute some small part, at least, to standardizing and stabilizing international finance through the proposal of a plan, based upon its findings in Europe, to accomplish this result."

conference, because the standards used for grading the navies of Great Britain, Japan and America cannot apply fairly to smaller countries. The units for the big powers are ships of 35,000 tons, whereas only a few other nations would ever build such ships. Therefore it becomes for them a matter of regulating what were called at Washington auxiliary ships. Because this section of the problem was not settled at the conference which America called, the League leaders hope that America will join in the effort to effect a worldwide naval limitation.

Lord Robert Cecil presented to the third committee today his plan for regional peace agreements as an essential condition of effective land disarmament. Discussing the results of the inquiries addressed to members of the League relative to their military needs, Cecil showed the remarkable result that twenty-four nations of Europe have one reason and only one for maintaining armies—assurance against fears of aggression. With the exception of the forces needed by France and Great Britain to carry out treaties, no other reason was given for maintaining large armies.

Cecil Would Remove Fears.

On that basis, Cecil argued, the way to get disarmament was to remove fears of aggression. Therefore the proposed general world peace agreement in which all nations would be guaranteed against aggression by the pledge of other nations to render impossible the victory of any aggressors. The duty of giving military aid would fall only on nations in the same part of the world. The Council of the League would be the director of the system and would have a general staff.

It is a good prediction that Cecil's plan will not be adopted this year, but it will not be rejected and many diplomats think he has found a good path to follow. Reports to the League show in addition to the naval reduction made at Washington, a general reduction of 20 per cent. during the last year in the armies of Europe. Cecil said that economic considerations rather than moral disarmament had brought about the result. Until political fears are allayed, as he proposed to do by his peace agreements, he does not believe that nations will radically reduce their armies further.

Cannot Manage World, Balfour Says.

Lord Balfour today effectively halted the movement led by his fellow countryman, Lord Robert Cecil, to turn all international business over to the League of Nations. He spoke for the British Government and Cecil spoke for himself.

In a notable address of more than an hour before the Assembly, Lord Balfour said that the League depending on moral influence to get results could not manage the world of today. That was, he said, more a reflection on the world than on the League. Referring to criticism of the League for not intervening in the Anatolian war, he reminded his hearers that Turkey didn't belong to the League and added:

"Using moral influence to bring peace in the face of the Kemalist action is surely rather a forlorn hope. Remember that the founders of the League conceived they were setting up machinery to preserve the peace, which the founders thought they had established. They thought—and I was one of them—we thought—we were engaged in the task of removing the debris of a great war, of rearranging the map of Europe in conformity with the wishes of its populations and laying the foundations for a peace which, with a little good will and with help from the League of Nations might be eternal.

"Now, I don't say that this dream may not come to pass in the time of many whom I am addressing. Evidently and notoriously, all statesmen and all the publics in the world did not foresee the character of the post-war calamities from which we are suffering, and the machinery of the League contrived by them was not intended, was not calculated and was not capable of settling the terms of peace.

Not Ready for Near East Action.

"This miserable, wretched struggle now going on in the Near East is the last episode of the great war. It must be remembered, though, that we were not created to deal with this sort of crisis, and whatever our machinery may become at this moment we are very ill equipped for taking part in dealing with this scourge. Though I think our moral position is improving, though I think our authority is greater than it ever was we are still miserably equipped for want of money from doing many things that might otherwise be within our power."

Then he referred to Lord Robert Cecil's plan by which all international efforts of every nation would be merged in the League and called it "the vision of a new world always before him." Lord Balfour added:

"I am far from saying that this will never come to pass, but I would warn every man and woman in this hall that if we are to grow to the heights of our great ideal it must be by slow stages, by careful remodeling of our machinery, and the fact that the League may some day be found to have the machinery for the greatest tasks is not a sufficient reason for plunging into tasks for which at this moment we are imperfectly equipped.

"It seems to me a most ignorant reading of history, a most impossible view of the slow, cumulative effects of human effort to imagine that we who came into existence a few short years ago, we who are even now face to face with a situation never contemplated by those who created us, should take on tasks beyond our ability and act as if we had already acquired all the authority, all the prestige, all the administrative machinery and financial resources which would enable us to pursue effectively those great visions of the future."

Nations Report Arms Reduction.

GENEVA, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Reports presented by the Council of League of Nations on reduction of armaments at this afternoon's session of the League Assembly show that in more than a score of countries, restriction of military outlay has begun.

Great Britain reported a reduction of 55 per cent in naval tonnage, France 36 per cent., Italy 49 per cent. and Japan 50 per cent.

In land armaments France reported a reduction of 200,000 men under arms, and a shortening of the term of military service by one-half. Sweden also reported the cutting of her military service period in two, Italy reduced the period of service and suppressed 88 battalions of infantry.

Poland reduced her army 1,000,000 men to about 200,000; Japan made reductions but failed to give the figures, while Switzerland reduced 70 per cent. to 55 per cent. the proportion of her men eligible for military service.

PERU TO WAIT FOR US.

Will Not Join in League Work While America Keeps Out.

LIMA, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Peru does not intend to participate any further in the work of the League of Nations and will reconsider her decision only in case the United States decides to join the League.

This statement was made by Foreign Minister Salomon today concerning Peru's failure to send delegates to the present Assembly of the League.

"Peru did not name delegates to the present Assembly of the League of Nations," the Foreign Minister said, "nor had it any intention of naming any. Neither does it intend to name delegates in the future, since it considers that the League lost all its efficacy when the United States manifested its decision not to form a part of it. Peru will reconsider its attitude only in case the United States should decide to join the League."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The statement from Lima that Peru is to participate no further in the work of the League of Nations caused a deep impression in Latin-American circles here. Concern was expressed lest the step had been decided upon, in part, at least, through the election of Señor Edwards of Chile to the Presidency of the Geneva Assembly and was a reflection of sentiment between the two countries.

It was generally agreed that such a development could not be interpreted as a happy one in connection with the ratification by the Congresses of the two countries of the protocol signed in Washington to submit the Tacna-Arica question to arbitration.

No comment was made upon the propriety of Señor Edwards's election, which was independent of any aspect of South American politics, and as such was favorably received. It would be regretted, therefore, it was said in Latin-American circles here, if the Peruvian Government had given it an unfavorable interpretation.

Although no one cared to venture a prediction concerning the probable result of Peru's action, the hope was expressed that if the Tacna-Arica agreement was involved the two Governments would smooth away any new differences and bring about ratification of the protocol within the time specified, that is before Oct. 30.

PRECOCIOUS

In its native habitat, Armenia, where the apricot flowers very early, it may truly be called precocious;

MADE-TO-ORDER RUM DEALER ARRESTED

COULD SUPPLY ANY BRAND

Fear Veteran Took Wood Alcohol Applejack—Three Held in Still Death Freed.

A double capture of an alleged bootlegger and a dealer in counterfeit United States and Canadian Government liquor strip stamps and fake whisky labels was made yesterday afternoon by Federal Prohibition Agents Charles Guttman and Harry Drescher.

Chris J. Fortman, Chief City Enforcement Agent, said last night that Guttman and Drescher had reported that after completing a deal with one man for ten cases of "Johnnie Walker" whisky which was being put up "to order" in a rear room at 236 West Thirty-fourth Street, in walked another man with a bundle of counterfeit Government strip stamps and fake labels. The latter had been under the observation of the agents in Mulberry Street for several days. The agents were surprised to encounter him uptown. He was arrested and the stamps and labels seized. He gave his name as Attilio Sirignano, 22, of 549 Seventeenth Street, West New York, N. J.

The man who negotiated the whisky deal gave his name as Anthony J. Raymond. He was summoned to appear before Commissioner Hitchcock. The agents said they first met the man in an office building in Times Square shortly after noon yesterday. On his offer to sell them "Johnnie Walker" they accompanied him to the West Thirty-fourth Street address. In the rear the man had a room which the agents said was used for manufacturing "bootleg" from alcohol and coloring matter, after which it was labeled with whatever well-known brand the purchaser wanted. Little time was required, the agents said, to label the ten cases. While this was going on Agent Drescher remained on the sidewalk in front of the building.

Drescher entered the building with Sirignano and had him to open the package of counterfeit stamps containing fifty dozen sets of strip stamps and back and front bottle labels, each set selling for 20 cents.

These agents also raided the restaurant of Joseph Reville, 340 West Twenty-fifth Street, leaving a summons for the owner and his wife after, they allege, they bought drinks. At the candy store of Timothy Ring, 413 West Fifty-sixth Street, drinks were purchased and a summons left for the owner. The agents said they also found two drunken men in the back of the store.

The police early yesterday morning arrested John Kozen, 28, and Michael Chernoff, 32, of 634 East Thirteenth Street, who conducts a restaurant at 608 East Thirteenth Street, on a charge of felonious assault. It was alleged that on Thursday night they sold "Applejack" made of cider and wood alcohol to Raymond Kirkpatrick, 44, of 2,024 West Boulevard, Cleveland, an ex-soldier. Kirkpatrick was taken to Bellevue Hospital Thursday night in a serious condition. In Essex Market Court the two defendants were held by Magistrate Messa R. Rittenberg in $5,000 bail each for examination on Sept. 15.

Federal agents in Brooklyn yesterday at 305 Bedford Avenue seized two stills, each with a capacity of 100 gallons a day, and seventy gallons of mash and thirty gallons of liquid marked "cider" in the plumbing store of Morris Seigfried. He was summoned to appear Monday.

Whisky peddling among employes of shoe factories in Kent Avenue, Brooklyn, at $1.50 a bottle, has recently attained large proportions, according to the police. Yesterday Patrolman O'Rourke arrested Vincenzo Espisito of 175 Thompson Street, Brooklyn, with a valise at Penn Street and Kent Avenue. Seven bottles of supposed liquor were seized.

Three of the five persons charged with homicide in connection with the death of Lieutenant Albert L. Duffy, who was injured during a raid when a still exploded at 192 Beaufort Street, Jamaica, on July 27, were discharged by Magistrate Thomas Doyle in the Jamaica Police Court yesterday. Charges against them of violating the prohibition law were also dismissed. Those freed were Alexander Bruno, 56, of 213 Liberty Avenue, Jamaica; his son, Anthony, 26, of 3,503 Beaufort Street, Woodhaven, and John Defio, 21, of 8 West Catherine Street, Jamaica. The other two, Carmine Pizza, 26, of 192 Beaufort Street, and his wife, Julia, 23, were held in $15,000 bail each on both charges. Mrs. Pizza was also held in $1,000 bail for the Grand Jury on a charge of felonious assault.

It was said at prohibition headquarters yesterday that a warehouse of the Vendam Warehouse Company had been robbed a few nights ago of twenty-five barrels of whisky and that a few days ago a truck with twenty-five barrels of alcohol for the Alcohol Warehouse Company was held up on West Street and robbed. The alcohol was being transported from the Lehigh Valley Railroad to the warehouse.

It was also said at prohibition headquarters that Government agents are making progress in their investigation of the robbery early Wednesday morning of the Republic Storage Warehouse Company, 541 West Thirty-fourth Street. The loss was said yesterday to have been 300 cases and twenty-seven barrels of whisky instead of 200 cases and fifty barrels, as first reported. Forges & Levy, importers, who lost 295 cases of champagne on May 25, when a large amount of liquors was withdrawn on alleged forged customs permits, were reported last night as being the heaviest losers. Other importers who suffered are Mossbacher & Company of 238 West Twenty-seventh Street and Henry Holtander & Company, Inc., of 1451 Broadway.

Edward Cronican, bartender at 1,435 Amsterdam Avenue; Timothy Ring, bartender at 413 West Fifty-sixth Street; Joseph and Christine Revelli, owners of a café at 232 West Forty-eighth Street; Henry and Martha Neuse, owners of a café at 1,717 First Avenue; James Moran, bartender in the Dublin Restaurant, 401 East Thirty-fourth Street; Patrick J. Hearty, owner, and John Mullen, bartender of a café at 230 Ninth Avenue; Dominick Tano, owner, and Rudolph Graff, bartender of a café at 428 Brook Avenue, the Bronx; John Gallik, owner, and Wald Lazoski, bartender of a café at 540 Bergen Avenue, the Bronx; Patrick Dobell, bartender, and John J. McDonnell, owner of a café at 475 Columbus Avenue, and John Carney, owner, and Patrick Gannon, bartender of a café at 370 Columbus Avenue.

INSISTS HE SAW GIRL SLAIN.

Naval Recruit Tells of Kidnapping and Killing of a Child.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 8.—George Bennett, sixteen-year-old naval recruit, has refused to change his story that he was a witness to the murder of eight-year-old Clare Stone near Baltimore last February, according to statements today by officers of the Naval Training Station here.

"I feel more at peace now than at any time since the little girl was killed," he is said to have told the training authorities after he had signed a statement that the child was kidnapped by a Baltimore man identified only as "Reps" and killed when ransom was not forthcoming.

Bennett has been cross-examined several times since his story was told, but the authorities said efforts to shake it had failed. Baltimore detectives are expected here today to take Bennett to Baltimore.

SEEK RED HOOK POISON IN SHEDS AND CELLARS

Gas Burning Under Still Extinguished From Cellar Before Raiders' Eyes.

Determined to find if possible the source of the supply of the wood alcohol whisky which caused the deaths of eleven persons in the Red Hook section of Brooklyn since last Monday, District Attorney John E. Ruston of Kings County, Captain Daniel O'Conner, five detectives and twenty patrolmen of the Hamilton Avenue Police Station yesterday morning began searching cellars and woodsheds on Conover Street between Sullivan and King Streets. This was the third and most thorough search in that block since the first deaths were reported.

The police believed last night that they had located the source of most of the supply of the poisonous liquor when they found and seized earlier in the day a still for redistilling denatured alcohol on the top floor of the three-story building at 115 Wolcott Street, owned by Michael Auleti, a longshoreman. He was locked up in default of $2,500 bail charged with manufacturing liquor.

The raiders started out without search warrants, because the persons who furnished information aiding the search fear they would be killed, they told Mr. Ruston.

The search was directed particularly at cellars and woodsheds for the District Attorney had been informed that the traffickers, frightened at recent disclosures, had cached their liquors in odd places. Five wine presses, empty whisky barrels, demijohns and bottles were barrels, demijohns and bottles. In some the containers was a liquid colored like whisky. In sheds behind 149 Conover Street the raiders also confiscated several flasks of whisky.

On the third floor of a three-story tenement at 115 Wolcott Street the raiders found a twenty-five-gallon still in operation. It was one of the most complete the raiders had ever seen, and was valued at $7,500 to $10,000. With it were four barrels of grain mash, eight five-gallon cans of alcohol, five 100-pound bags of sugar and some denatured alcohol.

Michael Auleti, a longshoreman, owner of the building, later at the District Attorney's office said he rented the room where the still was found to a man called Giuseppe Ferino on Aug. 10. Ferino, he said, had not been in for two days. Gas jets burning under the still when the raiders entered the place were turned off by some one operating a valve in the cellar, according to the police.

In 72 Sullivan Street, a three-story house, a 10-gallon still was found. In an apartment Casimvel Shuporl was found asleep near a can half full of mash. William Webbe, a restaurant proprietor, was arrested in his apartment on the top floor and charged with violating the Mullan-Gage law.

Application for bail for Mrs. Armalina Vadala, Mrs. Adaline Reall and Mike Caruso was made to Supreme Court Justice Callaghan yesterday by Edward J. Reilly. The three are held pending the investigation into the wood alcohol deaths. Justice Callaghan postponed the hearing to Monday.

VICTIM GIVEN BACK PART OF LIQUOR LOOT

Special to The New York Times.

NYACK, N. Y., Sept. 8.—When Morris Kohn, a motion picture manager at 729 Seventh Avenue, stepped forth early this morning from the door of his country home at Nanuet, five miles from Nyack, he found a burlap bag containing seven bottles of liquor that had been left there before dawn. Attached to the bag was a piece of wrapping paper and this scrawling message written in pencil:

"Mr. Kohn: Here's some of your booze back. Since we took it we've been sorry a whole lot. We didn't think when we bust into your place and grabbed it that you didn't have lots of ways of getting more. Down in good old New York we can buy it like water, at its price. Up here at Nanuet, we are told that it is hard to get it at any figure, and we got to thinking that maybe you might be took sick and not have any and die by being cut off sudden.

"So, as we are game enough to take a chance of being shot up to grab it, we are game enough to take another chance of being grabbed to slip you some back in the original bottles. We want to say that this stuff is o. k.—plus; and also, if we hadn't seen a movie this night, where a guy almost croaked for the want of a drink, you wouldn't be getting this note or the stuff. Yours truly."

It had not been generally known that there had been a robbery at Kohn's home, but following the finding of the bag of bottles it was rumored that thieves had broken into his house five weeks ago and had stolen $2,000 worth of liquors from his private stock in the cellar. Deputy Sheriff E. F. Jenson at Nanuet admitted he was investigating a robbery reported by Kohn at the time specified, but the official declined to discuss the nature of the booty of the robbers.

Several days before the robbery a funeral had taken place at Kohn's home and there were a number of strangers among the visitors and attendants. It is believed that the thieves learned of the vault in the cellar at that time and laid their plans to return and get its contents. They broke into the main part of the house and jimmied doors to the cellar, and carried the bottles to a car in a rear yard.

OBREGON WILLING TO TREAT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—President Obregon is willing to consider that the Mexican Government will have been "implicitly recognized" if the State Department will accept the general invitation issued by Mexico to all nations whose citizens have claims pending for damages incurred in revolutionary disturbances, to establish a mixed commission for the negotiation of the settlement of such claims.

This is the most striking feature of the official English translation of the message delivered by President Obregon to the Mexican Congress on Sept. 1. The translation was received by the Mexican Embassy today.

President Obregon expressed the opinion that once the United States had responded to Mexico's invitation to join such a conference he would be ready to proceed with discussions for the negotiation of a treaty of amity and commerce with Secretary Hughes. He could accept this form of recognition, he said, "without impairment of the national prestige."

General Obregon also called to the attention of the Mexican Congress numerous communications which various State Legislatures, commercial bodies and individuals had addressed to the State Department of the United States urging the recognition of the Obregon Administration. This, he contended, was a vindication of his policy.

CLARKE FACES LIQUOR TRIAL

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 8.—Edward Clarke, Imperial Wizard pro tem. of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, appeared in the Federal Commissioners' office here today and gave bond in the sum of $2,000 for his appearance Nov. 7 to answer to charges of possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor. Clarke came here from Richmond, Ind., when he learned that a warrant had been issued for his arrest.

In connection with his arrest, Mr. Clarke, in a statement to The Associated Press, said he believed the charges against him were made in an effort to discredit the Ku Klux Klan. He declared that he had no liquor in his handbag when it was taken at Muncie, and that he does not use liquor in any form.

JUDGE RAPS POLICE FOR RAIDS ON CLUB

NO EVIDENCE OF GAMBLING

Entry Without Warrant Fails to Establish Grounds for Conviction, Marsh Declares.

In granting an injunction restraining the police from interfering with the Oscar H. Waters Democratic Club in West 132d Street, Supreme Court Justice Marsh yesterday wrote an opinion criticising the police and pointing out that they can act only for legal reasons and in a legal manner. The Court added that the injunction to be signed will not interfere with the execution of a warrant, entry into the clubhouse to make a lawful arrest without a warrant, or necessary action in case a crime has been committed. The Court said:

"The plaintiff is a duly incorporated club, organized for political and social purposes. Both men and women are members, and the organization has entertained some of the most prominent and respected citizens in the life of the city. In spite of raids which have been conducted without issuance of legal warrants, the Police Department has been unable to secure evidence to sustain conviction of the charge of gambling. Slight effort, if any, is made to justify the attitude of the defendants by claiming that the premises are conducted in such manner as to disturb or annoy the neighborhood.

"In such cases it seems to be settled that mere suspicion is no adequate ground for such measures as are here complained of (police surveillance of a special order, with the importuning of members, guests and others and the stationing of police in front of or within the premises). The case is not like those wherein issue is raised as to police stationed to watch hotels, saloons, &c., for this is a private house. Even the fact that two or three of the members have criminal records is not enough to warrant subjecting the club as a whole and its hundreds of law-abiding members to invasion of their rights.

"The good faith of the defendants is not doubted; nor is the Court unsympathetic to efforts of the police to overcome serious difficulties and obstacles encountered in fulfilling their duty. But the constitutional guarantees of freedom from unwarranted arrest and search are supreme.

"The defendants will be enjoined pending trial of action from interfering with, preventing or intimidating any persons or persons lawfully on or seeking to enter the premises and from in any manner carrying out or putting into effect any raids or threats of raids and from stationing and maintaining any police officers upon the premises."

FIGHTS MATERNITY ACT AS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Massachusetts Starts Proceedings in Supreme Court to Enjoin Expenditures Authorized.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The constitutionality of the Sheppard-Towner Maternity law was attacked today by the State of Massachusetts, in a petition filed in the Supreme Court of the United States asking permission to bring an original suit against Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; the Chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service and the Commissioner of Education, who, under the act, constitute the Board of Maternity and Infant Hygiene. This is the first attack before the court on the constitutionality of the measure.

The proceeding was instituted by order of the General Court of Massachusetts, and would restrain those charged with the enforcement of the law from carrying its provisions into effect, especially by prohibiting the expenditure of any public funds. Massachusetts contended that the act was unconstitutional and void because it would impair and violate her sovereign rights and the rights of her citizens, and protested that under the act a system of government was established between the United States and the States accepting it, from which Massachusetts was excluded—a "system which is neither the Federal Government, established by the Constitution, * * * nor the State Governments recognized therein, but an alien form of government not provided for nor recognized by the Constitution, but inconsistent with and contrary to its provisions."

The motion will be considered when the court reconvenes next month.

MILLER ON WELFARE WORK.

Governor Discusses His Policy Before Women's Convention.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Declaring that his policy has been and will be "welfare work that reaches down to the individual) to be helped rather than welfare work that merely gets headlines in the newspapers," Governor Nathan L. Miller tonight told delegates to the State convention of the League of Women Voters what the State has accomplished and what he intends it shall accomplish in all lines of activity which are grouped as "welfare work."

Speaking before an organization which he frankly condemned more than a year ago, on the ground that there should be no sex line in the exercise of the franchise, the Governor set forth his policies with a courage and vigor that plainly startled many of the delegates. Most of them have been in disagreement with him, at one time or another, over the very policies he discussed.

Regarding the Shepard-Towner Maternity bill, which was backed by the league with all the influence it could command, and which the Governor opposed with equal vigor, he said:

"I realize fully that I am not in agreement with most of you on that point. But I want to say that the agitation in this State for adoption of that bill did lead to the State's doing something along that same line, and in that way was productive of much good. And although the majority of the Legislature took the position in which I concurred—that $75,000 was too paltry a sum for which to sell the sovereignty of the State and submit to the supervision of the Federal Government in this manner, we felt that there was a duty for the State to perform in the matter which the Shepard-Towner bill was designed to cover.

"I know well that the plan we have adopted may not satisfy those who have a craving to serve humanity on a larger scale, but the fact is that if you are going to serve humanity, you must get down to where humanity is. You must go where the mothers and babies are—and you can't do it through a national campaign."

Citing the law establishing children's courts as one of the things which he is particularly proud to have accomplished, the Governor declared that lawyers advised him to put legally-trained minds in charge of the courts.

"But it seemed to me," he said, "that any intelligent person could get all the law he needed, and that the greatest need was knowledge of humanity and sympathy with boys and girls. And so we have left the way open for communities to get men and women who are so qualified, whether they be lawyer or layman."

"Made Expressly for Macy's"

WHEN you think of Macy's, do you think of it only as a place where the thousands of products of hundreds of manufacturers are brought together so that you may choose your needs with the greatest possible convenience? That is, as a kind of huge merchandise fair where every manufacturer, importer, and distributor has equal chance of offering his products for retail sale?

Or has experience proved to you that virtually the opposite of this is true? That, while thousands of products are brought together here, Macy's is at all times scrupulously selective as to the character of these products?

Such, in reality, is the policy of this great store. So much so, in fact, that in recent years more and more of its merchandise has come to be marked: "Made expressly for Macy's"—and often to bear exclusive Macy names, many of which have been registered as trade-marks! And the ever-increasing volume of our business shows that the shopping public is fully appreciative of our high policy.

Made by Macy's

IN addition to the long list of articles manufactured expressly FOR us, is another large quantity of merchandise manufactured entirely BY us, in our own workrooms and factories.

Two entire floors in our new factory building illustrated above will be devoted to candy making alone—for practically all the candy sold at Macy's is Macy-made. Most of the regular household remedies in the United States Pharmacopoeia that are sold here are made or packed in our factory. Almost all perfumes bearing the Macy name are made there, too. All the coffee we sell we roast in our own ovens, and we blend and clean our own teas. And there is, furthermore, an enormous number of articles which we buy in great bulk and put up in retail size Macy cartons, bottles, packets, etc., as the case may require—all in our own workrooms and factories.

FOR in this way—by guiding the manufacture of what we sell, or by manufacturing it ourselves—we can most efficiently control its QUALITY and the PRICE. In other words, in this manner we can best intensify the verity of our motto: "Merchandise of taste and quality at lowest-in-the-city prices."

LINK RAID PRISONER WITH WARD WITNESS

NOT THE SAME, SHERIFF SAYS

Alleged Head of Drug Ring, Seized With Others in Hotel, Held in $10,000 Bail.

Federal agents who took part in the raid in the Hotel Longacre in Forty-seventh Street, just off Broadway, Thursday night, said yesterday that they believed that Charles Rogers, alleged leader of the drug ring who was arrested with seven others at the hotel, might be the mysterious Charley Ross who is said to have witnessed the killing of Clarence Peters by Walter S. Ward on a lonely road in Westchester County last May.

The agents admitted that it was only a guess based upon a line of deduction. It is said that Ward of Palmer S. Tubbs, his assistant at the office of the Ward Baking Company, who is also alleged to have seen Ross, may clear up the matter today by a visit to the Tombs prison, where Rogers is confined.

After Rogers had been arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Hitchcock and held in $10,000 bail on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Harrison Narcotic law, private detectives said to be employed by the Westchester authorities appeared at the Federal Building. They talked with Ralph Oyler, chief of the narcotic division, who planned the raid, and with Abraham I. Menin and Moses Polakoff, assistant United States District Attorneys who accompanied the raiding parties. Later Samuel Miller, from the office of Rabenold and Scribner, Ward's attorneys, went to Mr. Menin's office.

Asked Federal Aid.

"He asked me if the Federal authorities would assist in investigating the report that Rogers and Charley Ross might be one and the same person," said Mr. Menin. "I told Mr. Miller that the Government would do everything in its power to help. Personally, I haven't the faintest idea as to whether Rogers is Ross or not. I also met two gentlemen who, I understand, were acting for Westchester County, but I don't even recall their names."

An agent who said that he had followed the Ward case closely thought that it was possible Rogers might be Ross.

"Here is how I figure it out," he said. "Charley Rogers, who was arrested last night, used the name of Ross at various times. That we know. He also has been in various parts of the country and is the brains of this drug ring. He has admitted that he has been a bookmaker and has spent a great deal of time around the tracks. Every one of these things fits the description we have had of the Ross in the Ward case, who used the name of Rogers as well as Ross."

On the other hand, Sheriff George F. Werner of Westchester County declared emphatically last night that he knew that Rogers could not be Ross. Asked for details, he said he did not care to discuss the case, as District Attorney Weeks had sole charge of it. He would not say whether the detectives who went to the Federal Building for the Westchester people had reported to him.

Insists Rogers Isn't Ross.

"All I can tell you is that it is impossible for this fellow to be the Ross in the Ward case," were his final words.

District Attorney Weeks could not be reached last night nor could any of Ward's attorneys.

When he placed the bail for Rogers at $10,000, Commissioner Hitchcock fixed a like amount in the case of Edwin Travers, the clerk of the Longacre. He held Thomas Anderson, Charles Burns and Abe Rosen, other prisoners, in $7,500. Irving Landauer, son of the manager of the hotel and acting manager, was held in $5000 bail, while Ivan Lang and Frank Cooper, the negro bellboys, were held in $1,000 apiece. Jacob Rosenberg, alias Dr. Ross, also known as "Butch," who was arrested late Thursday night as a result of the raid, was held in $10,000 bail.

Rosenberg telephoned to Travers while Agent William J. Mellin was seated at the switchboard.

"He is not in at this moment," said Melling. "Where can we call you?"

Rosenberg gave his number, which was traced to a shop in Delancey Street, where Mellin arrested him. The authorities say that Rosenberg supplied drugs to Rogers and the others who peddled them at the hotel.

John Oliver of Lynhurst, L. I., was recognized yesterday by one of the agents who had been living at the Longacre for several weeks gathering evidence for the raid. Oliver had gone to the Tombs to inquire about bail for the prisoners. He was arrested by Agent William J. McCormick in a building on Centre Street directly opposite the Tombs.

During the raid, it developed, agents found in Travers's pocket a key to an apartment maintained by the clerk in a house on West 143d Street. Going there they found, according to their report a large packet of drugs. They arrested two women in the apartment who said they were Sonya Lewis, a motion picture actress, and Gladys Goldberg. The two were turned over to the police on the charge of possessing narcotics.

$1,500 Spent for Drugs.

"The Longacre people have been bothering us for some time," said Mr. Oyler yesterday. "I put four persons in there several weeks ago and during that time they spent at least $1,500 for drugs. On the day of the raid they paid out $400 in marked bills, part of which money was found on some of the prisoners."

The Federal authorities regard very lightly threats which reached them yesterday that the management of the Longacre would charge violation of the terms of the search warrant under which the raid was made. It was alleged that the agents and detectives had authority only to search six or seven rooms, whereas it was admitted they entered a hundred or more, breaking down the door in many cases.

Randolph Landauer, manager of the hotel, who is ill in bed, declined yesterday to say what steps he would take, but admitted that he had placed the whole business in the hands of his attorney. He denied that the hotel was concerned in the drug traffic as had been alleged by the Federal agents. His son Irving, who was arrested, had just come from California, he said, to help him out while he was confined to his bed, and knew absolutely nothing regarding the peddling of narcotics in the Longacre.

TAKE KOSHER LAW TO COURT

Four Bronx Butchers Accused of Violation—Cases Set for Sept. 25.

Four meat dealers were summoned to Morrisania Court yesterday by Assemblyman Samuel Dickstein, who charged them with violation of the law relative to the sale of Kosher and non-Kosher meats. Magistrate Douras adjourned the hearing to Sept. 25, suggesting that Mr. Dickstein place the matter before Chief City Magistrate McAdoo to determine whether the warrants should be issued.

The four butchers summoned were Reeker Bros., Inc., 830 Union Avenue; Max Gerber, 943 East 165th Street and 858 Union Avenue; Charles Fess, 898 Union Avenue, and Gerie Alexander, 847 Union Avenue, all of the Bronx.

Mr. Dickstein explained that he had been appointed as Special District Attorney, serving without pay, to prosecute violations of the law which requires dealers to specify when they sell Kosher and non-Kosher meats in the same store. Mr. Dickstein said he understood the dealers have raised a fund of $25,000 to fight the law, which they say is unjust.

GOOD-WILL MISSION RETURNS FROM FRANCE

American Committee Entertains 87 Who Spent Six Weeks Abroad—Praise the French.

Reaching New York yesterday after their six weeks' trip abroad, the eighty-seven members of America's first Good-Will delegation to France were entertained at dinner last evening in the garden restaurant of the American Committee for Devastated France at its national headquarters, 16 East Thirty-ninth Street.

Mrs. Gilbert Montague, Vice Chairman of the committee, Acting Chairman in the absence of Miss Anne Morgan, who is expected to follow the delegation in a few days, presided, welcomed the guests and read telegrams of welcome from several of the Governors of the sixteen States from which the delegates were sent.

There were 100 at the dinner, including the officers and members of the Executive Committee of the American Society for Devastated France. The delegates spoke individually of the great pleasure the trip had given them.

Miss Lesette Haase of Detroit, speaking of the trip for the delegation, said:

"We all feel that we have been the luckiest women in the country to have been able to make this trip under the auspices of the American Committee. It has been a broadening experience and we all have a new idea of the French people, whom we have grown to love and admire for their courage, cheerfulness and hospitality."

Among the American Committee members present were Treasurer Dr. Alexander C. Humphreys, Assistant Treasurer Miss Miriam Blagden, Secretary Miss Elizabeth Scarborough, and Mrs. Elihu Chauncey and Edward Dean Adams of the Executive Committee.

He also received internal injuries.

WON TWO BETS FROM LAYER HE ARRESTED

Actual Placing of Money With Suspect Has Become Rarity in Police Circles.

When Hugh Whittel, 33 years old, of 412 West 124th Street, was arraigned last night before Magistrate Edgar Y. Frothingham in the Night Court on a charge of making a handbook on horse races Detective Frank L. Rowell of Inspector Bolan's staff told the Court that he had not alone succeeded in placing bets on two races with the prisoner, but that the horses had won. He added, however, that he did not collect his winnings, for it was not until he was on his way to Court several hours after he had arrested Whittel that he learned that his "bets went over."

The detective's statement that he actually had succeeded in placing a bet with Whittel in order to obtain evidence that the man was operating a handbook caused Magistrate Frothingham to commend him. "If more such good detective work was done by the men assigned to suppress gambling in this city," the Magistrate said, "the gambling evil soon would be suppressed."

Rowell said that he approached Whittel at the address given by the prisoner and told him that "Louie had sent him over to place a few bets for him."

"All right," the detective quoted Whittel as replying. "I guess I can take your money with safety."

Rowell said that he then told Whittel that he wanted to place bets on "Bit of Black" to run third and "Banker Brown" to run second in the fourth and sixth races, respectively, at Belmont Park. When Whittel accepted the money, he said, he arrested him.

Spectators listened attentively to the sleuth's story, as it was the first time in many years that a detective had testified that he actually had placed a bet with a man suspected of running a handbook in the city. Whittel waived examination when the Magistrate asked him if he had anything to say, and he was released in $300 bail for trial in Special Sessions.

HOLD THORNTON GIRL IN CLINE KILLING

made for a duel with revolvers between Cline and Bergen and that she did not hear any struggle after the men went upstairs and just before she heard the shot. She has been reported in interviews as saying she did hear Bergen agree to fight a duel and that she did hear a "scuffling" noise upstairs just before the shot was fired.

Miss Thornton said that she had been invited to the house that night by both Mr. and Mrs. Cline and that on arriving at the house she heard Cline accuse Bergen of attacking Mrs. Cline, and heard Bergen admit it. She said that Bergen crossed from Manhattan on the same ferryboat with her, but did not see her, and that they went to the house in different taxicabs.

Not a Movie Actress.

Miss Thornton lives at 514 West 136th Street, Manhattan, with her grandparents. She is pretty and well dressed and is not a motion picture actress, as some reports have had her, but a filing clerk in a downtown business house. Her name first came into the case in Cline's statement to the prosecutor, in which Cline revealed her presence in the house on the night of the shooting, and said that she was the one who first told him of Bergen's relations with Mrs. Cline.

According to the prosecution, Miss Thornton and Bergen had been sweethearts before Bergen jilted her for Mrs. Cline, and jealousy was the motive that animated her in telling Cline of the relations between his wife and Bergen. It was to satisfy this jealousy, according to the prosecution, that Miss Thornton accepted Cline's invitation to face Bergen at Cline's home on the night of Aug. 23 and confront him with the story of what she had seen in case he should deny the facts.

Cline was indicted on his own statement, in which he said he shot Bergen after the latter had agreed to accompany him upstairs and fight a duel in the dark following his admission of intimacy with Mrs. Cline. According to Cline, he gave Bergen a revolver, and was just turning out the light when he saw Bergen aiming at him. Then, said Cline, he sprang upon Bergen and tried to take the pistol away from him, and the weapon went off while the two men were struggling for its possession.

Scullion, brother of Mrs. Cline, was indicted on his admission, together with the statements of witnesses, that at Cline's request he went upstairs and got a pistol for Cline just before Cline took Bergen upstairs.

Miss Thornton, Cline and Scullion will be arraigned before Supreme Court Justice C. W. Parker in Hackensack Tuesday morning, when a date will be fixed for their trial. It was understood that State Senator W. B. Mackay Jr. of Hackensack, who represents Cline and Scullion, would appear as counsel for Miss Thornton. The girl was committed to the county jail at Hackensack late yesterday afternoon.

DEPUTY LOST IN CITY, IS FIRED UNDER FIRE

Climbs a Tree, but Bullets Force Him Down to Surrender His Badge.

FOUND WORKING ON FARM

ROSLYN, L. I., Sept. 8.—Sheriff Charles W. Smith of Nassau County, read newspaper accounts of the activities of Deputy Sheriff Frank Jarvis in Brooklyn the last few days and came to the decision that Jarvis must be stripped of his authority. Jarvis had taken a prisoner to the Tombs in New York, spent the night at "a swell hotel on the Bowery, where they had marble stairs, free soap and towels and everything," then got lost in Brooklyn, and finally haled a man into court on charges of having stolen his gold watch and $10.

Sheriff Smith said Jarvis has failed to uphold the tradition of dignity attached to his position and sent Deputy Sheriff Leonard Thorne to take the deputy's badge from Jarvis. Thorne found Jarvis, still wearing his brown derby, celluloid collar and bright yellow shoes, working on the farm of Henry Smith here. When Jarvis saw Thorne coming he ran to a near-by tree and climbed close to the topmost branch. Thorne ordered him to come down, but Jarvis refused to move.

Thorne resorted to diplomacy, but Jarvis still refused.

Then Thorne acted. He whipped out his revolver and demanded that Jarvis come down.

"I want that badge," said Thorne.

"Well, you hain't a-goin' to get it," said Jarvis.

"No you hain't," said Jarvis.

"Now, you looka here," said Thorne, "unless you come down out of that tree in three shakes of a lamb's tail, I'm going to fill you fuller of holes than a Swiss cheese."

But Jarvis didn't move.

Then Thorne began firing up into the tree, but not at Jarvis. After three shots, Jarvis yelled that he would come down.

"But you hain't-a goin' to take my handcuffs and whistle away from me, are you?" Jarvis asked.

"No, all I want is that gold badge." He got it.

Jarvis was made a Deputy Sheriff about two weeks ago so that he could have authority to arrest persons stealing fruit and vegetables from farms here.

OVERPOWER POLICE AND TAKE THEIR CAR

ONE WOUNDED BY PURSUERS

Special to The New York Times.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Sept. 8.—Three men, traveling in a seven-passenger touring car believed by the police to have been stolen, engaged in a hand-to-hand fight with Police Lieut. Maurice Higgins and Sergeant Dennis O'Keefe in West Front Street, near Rock Avenue, this morning. After overpowering the officers and taking their guns, the men escaped in a police car, firing several shots at the officers as they fled.

Within two hours two men, alleged to be members of the trio, were captured near Metuchen by Police Chief Cornelius McCarthy of South Plainfield, after an exchange of shots, and Police Chief William Hutchinson of Metuchen caught a third man in a swamp back of Metuchen, where he was attempting to hide. The three were brought to Police Headquarters here and held on a charge of atrocious assault and battery with intent to kill. The police car was found abandoned at Metuchen, with one tire missing.

The men said they were Joseph L. Allen, 26, of 31 Elm Street, Newark; George Conway, 29, of 310 West 142d Street, New York City, and George Brown, 27, of 242 West 111th Street, New York City.

The touring car was taken to Police Headquarters and in it were found a revolver, box of cartridges, razor, blackjack, a torn auto license card bearing the name of James J. Hart, 279 West 117th Street, New York City, and a business card of Cloose Garage, Hoyt and Crescent Avenue, Astoria, L. I.

The New York police were asked to ascertain the name of the owner of the car, and whether the prisoners had records.

Lieutenant Higgins was on another case when he met the three men in the touring car, which had just plunged into an excavation in West Front Street. The officer asked the driver to show his license. This he could not do and Higgins placed the men under arrest, sending a call to headquarters for help. O'Keefe arrived and the prisoners were ordered into the police auto.

Higgins had driven a short distance when he was dazed by a blow on the back of the head, and dragged out of the car. Then began the fight which ended in the flight of the prisoners.

When the pursuers found Allen and Conway crawling through underbrush near Metuchen, Allen fired several shots at Chief McCarthy but all went wild. The officer returned the fire and a load of buckshot entered Allen's left leg. He and Conway were then hustled into an automobile and brought to Plainfield. A half hour later word was received that Chief Hutchinson had captured Brown in a swamp near Metuchen after an exchange of shots.

MAN IS HANGED IN IOWA.

First to Pay Death Penalty in 12 Years Goes to Gallows Smiling.

FORT MADISON, Iowa, Sept. 8.—Ira Pavey was hanged today for the murder of Claude Letner, the first hanging in Iowa in twelve years, and the most remarkable display of fortitude known to Iowa prison officials.

Pavey sauntered to the gallows smoking a cigarette and addressing those around him with the banter he has kept up since his imprisonment. He stood on the platform with a smile, and as the hangman shroud was being fitted he called: "So long, everybody. Warden, tell my mother good-bye."

Pavey's mother and sisters previously had raced 200 miles to the prison. They reached it in time to be with Pavey for two hours.

DIVINE HEALING SANCTION ASKED

OUTLOOK IS FAVORABLE

Bishop Manning of New York Intimates Committee Report on Request Will Be Favorable.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 8.—A memorial asking the general convention of the Episcopal Church to recognize Divine healing was received this morning by the House of Deputies and was referred to the joint standing commission appointed three years ago at the Detroit convention to consider the subject.

The memorial, coming from the Episcopal province of the Pacific which includes all the dioceses of that coast, was presented by the Rev. Dr. J. Wilmer Gresham of San Francisco. It urged recognition of what it called Christian healing, whether of body, mind or spirit, as a manifestation of the life-giving spirit of God and Christ.

Bishop Manning of New York is a member of the joint commission. When he was asked about the report his commission would present later to the convention, he intimated it would be in favor of official recognition of the ministry of healing. When Dr. Manning was rector of Trinity Church he held healing missions throughout the country.

Most of today's session of the convention was given to a joint session of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies, who heard the first report of the Council of the Episcopal Church. The Right Rev. Thomas C. Gailor, Bishop of Tennessee, who completed twenty-three years as President of the Council, presented his first report. Lewis B. Franklin of New York City, Treasurer and Vice President of the council, explained the budget for the next three years, which is for $21,000,000.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Review of the work of the last three years of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States and plans for the coming triennium occupied a joint session of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies today at the forty-seventh triennial convention.

It was estimated that for 1920 the dioceses for themselves increased appropriations for diocesan mission work to the amount of more than $2,150,000 and the parishes for parochial work to more than $9,500,000.

The department of missions reported being sent to the domestic and foreign fields during 1920 eighty missionaries; in 1921, seventy-two, and in 1922, fifty-one.

The Church pension fund showed that salaries of the clergy during the year 1920 were increased $1,418,000 and during 1921 by $907,000, a total of $2,415,000.

Mr. Franklin's report as Vice President and Treasurer showed that for the first time in several years the income of the General Church in 1920 and 1921 had exceeded expenses, the total excess being $352,954.91 which was applied toward reduction of the accumulated deficit of past years.

Mr. Franklin presented to the convention the proposed general church program for the next three years, as adopted by the National Council. This provides for the expenditure in maintenance work of $12,600,000. Advance work is listed under the head of priorities, and calls for $8,400,000, making a total of $21,000,000. This, he said, was $6.50 a year for each communicant.

Columbia's Summer Concerts End.

Columbia University's Summer concerts closed last night with a crowd estimated at 22,000, including 15,000 actually seated upon benches on the campus to hear Goldman's Band. Murray Hulbert spoke on behalf of the Mayor, who did not attend as expected, and said the city had provided 520 free concerts of all sorts this year. City Chamberlain Philip Berolzheimer introduced a series of speakers midway in the evening's program, one from the band itself presenting a wreath to Edwin Franko Goldman, who has led the campus concerts for five seasons.

WAGNER 'RING' REVIVAL FOR THE MANHATTAN

German Company and Production From Berlin State Opera to Be Here in February.

With a four-fold production to be brought complete from the Berlin State Opera, or former Royal Opera of that capital, Wagner's "Ring of the Nibelung" was yesterday announced here for the first time since the Metropolitan last performed it in 1917. The "Ring" revival is planned at the Manhattan on four afternoons, from Feb. 13 to 23 next, as part of a two weeks' engagement of a group of singers drawn from Dresden, Munich, Berlin, Hamburg, Cologne and Breslau.

The German company will sail Jan. 3 on the George Washington from Bremen and will open its American tour Jan. 29 at Baltimore and Jan. 30 at Washington. Other cities to be visited between that time and May, according to George Blumenthal, a former assistant to the late Oscar Hammerstein, will include Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

While the "Ring" production must be shipped back to Berlin after the New York performance, according to terms of the official release of the main portion of the company, the operas on tour will include "Flying Dutchman," "Tannhäuser," "Lohengrin," "Tristan" and "The Master Singers," as Beethoven's "Fidelio," Johann Strauss's "Fledermaus," a novelty called "Das Hofkonzert" and Richard Strauss's "Salome."

Georg Hartmann, the Berlin director, will produce the operas "uncut," the longest beginning at 6 P. M. and the others at 4 o'clock. Among 200 in the party will be Vera Schwarz, who took Jeritza's rôles in Vienna; Ottilie Metzger, once heard in contralto parts here; Fritz Vogelstrom, a Dresden tenor, and their Berlin conductor, Leo Blech. A possible feature of the tour, Mr. Blumenthal said, will be twenty concerts directed by Siegfried Wagner.

SENATE ORDERS INQUIRY OF COTTON MARKETING

Adopts Resolution of South Carolina Senator on Supply and Demand Situation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A broad investigation by the Senate Agriculture Committee into the methods and practices employed in the marketing of cotton was ordered by the Senate today in the adoption of a resolution offered by Senator Smith, Democrat, of South Carolina, which seeks to determine whether there is interference with the law of supply and demand in the cotton market.

The assertion is made in preambles to the resolution that the combination of the carry-over and the estimated production for this year will not be sufficient to meet the world demand, and that quotations fail utterly to respond to these conditions. It is further stated that cotton consumption, both here and abroad, has increased, but there has been no corresponding increase in revenue to the producers. A condition which, it is alleged, threatens to damage the industry seriously has resulted.

THOMAS W. PAGE RESIGNS.

Harding Requests Him to Remain on the Tariff Commission.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Resignation of Thomas W. Page of Virginia, former chairman of the tariff commission, from his membership in that body, has been placed in the hands of President Harding, it was learned today, but Mr. Harding has requested Mr. Page to reconsider his decision to give up the post.

The President, it was said, thinks highly of Commissioner Page and is hopeful that the increased work which the Executive believes will be transacted by the commission will be sufficient inducement to have Mr. Page decide to remain in the service.

BEAUTY CROWN WON BY 'MISS COLUMBUS'

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 8.—Triumphing over more than 500 amateur and professional rivals, including fifty-eight civic beauties from all sections of the United States and two from Canada, "Miss Columbus," otherwise Mary Katherine Campbell, 16 years old last June, with fair complexion, auburn hair and hazel eyes, was crowned "America's beauty queen" tonight in the national beauty tournament of Atlantic City's annual pageant.

She will be the "Miss America" of the 1923 pageant assuming the laurels of Margaret Gorman, last year's winner and queen of the present carnival. Miss Gorman, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Gorman of Washington, D. C., was in the competition, and there were hundreds of the audience of 20,000 tonight who disagreed with the experts. The $5,000 golden mermaid is the grand prize which must be won three times for permanent ownership.

Miss Gorman a Popular Favorite.

In the task of elimination there were three preliminaries today, the final contest of the inter-city beauties in bathing suits, other amateurs in surf attire and professional mermaids. The winners in each division were finally judged against "Miss America" on the great pier before an assembly that fairly rocked the great structure with its demonstration, in which Miss Gorman seemed to be a favorite. Not one of the four finalists had bobbed hair. "Miss Nashville," Sue Burton, was second in the inter-city beauty contest and "Miss New York," Dorothy Hughes, third.

Dorothy Knapp of 416 Fort Washington Avenue, New York, who will be 18 next month, won among the professional beauties. She is a brunette. Miss Knapp is a model and has posed for James Montgomery Flagg. Pauline Virginia Dakin, Wellington Hotel, West Fifty-fifth Street, and Sidney Nelson of the same address were second and third.

Gladys Greenamyer, 18, of West Philadelphia, won among the other amateurs. Mary Elizabeth Edwards of Vineland, N. J., was second, and Estelle Marks of Atlantic City, third. The finalists were "Miss America," "Miss Columbus," Miss Knapp and Miss Greenamyer. The judges were Heyworth Campbell, Coles Phillips, Joseph Cummings Chase, Dr. Arnold Genthe, Willy Pogany, August William Hutaf, Norman Rockwell and Howard Chandler Christy.

Before 250,000 spectators, 1,200 entries in the bathers' revue paraded a mile on the sands today, between the Garden and steel piers. The whole Police Department, long, fat, lean and short, were in bathing suits, plus their badges, clubs and caps. For a moment, while men, women and children gasped, they held the centre of the stage until the inter-city beauties appeared.

A canvas curtain hid the entire south side of the Garden Pier at 3:30. Suddenly six bombs shot into the air, exploded, and six American flags materialized on parachutes. At the moment four trumpeters in white bathing suits stepped out from behind the curtain and blew a fanfare. Then the big curtain dropped, and revealed Neptune and his court of beauty. Neptune, who is Hudson Maxim, was borne by Nubians on a great shell. He led the parade, followed by Mayor Bader and Atlantic City officials in bathing suits, and the girls, all sorts of girls, in all sorts of bathing suits. There were echoes of every musical comedy in the last twenty years and reincarnations of all the beauties of antiquity—a profusion of Cleopatras, Helens, Dianas, Aphrodites and Atalantas. They gilded down the white beach in four divisions, amateurs, models, stage and screen, and finally the inter-city competitors for the beauty crown. Conspicuous in the dazzling spectacle was "Miss America," Margaret Gorman of Washington, D. C., the winner of the $5,000 Golden Mermaid beauty prize last year, resplendent in a bathing suit of Stars and Stripes.

POLICE FIELD MEET TODAY.

Dempsey to Give Exhibition at Jamaica Track.

The annual Police Field Day will be held this afternoon at the Jamaica race track, and yesterday the final work was being done at the track. Jack Dempsey will give a boxing exhibition during the games, it was announced by Fifth Deputy Commissioner Gillespie. Dempsey will go through several rounds with one or two of his sparring partners.

As part of its emergency work, the New York Chapter of the Red Cross will have a first aid squad in attendance at the track. Six tents will be pitched within the track enclosure, each equipped with cots and stretchers ready for instant use.

HEALTH IN POSTAL SERVICE.

Free Medical Examinations Will Be Given to Employes.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Employes of the postal service in fifty-seven of the largest cities throughout the United States in the future will receive free medical examinations whenever desired, under a plan worked out today by the Post Office Department. Such examinations, it was explained, have been authorized by the Treasury Department and will be made by representatives of the United States Public Health Service at their stations in the cities designated by postal officials.

The plan was said to mark the beginning of a movement to provide as far as possible free medical examinations for all postal employes.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The opening of the Park Music Hall with the "Minsky Brothers" burlesques, which was to have taken place last night, was postponed until next Friday.

Florence Reed, after appearing in "East of Suez" under the direction of A. H. Woods, will be seen in a new play under the management of Charles B. Dillingham. The play is now being written by Eugene Walter.

Kathleen Comegys succeeded Winifred Lenihan in "The Dover Road" last night and will continue in the role when that comedy starts on tour next week. Miss Lenihan will appear in Winthrop Ames's production of "Will Shakespeare."

Delay in obtaining a passport has compelled Jacob Ben-Ami to abandon his proposed trip to Berlin to see "The Mysterious Tales of Hoffman," in which he is to act here.

Harry Kelly has joined the cast of "Springtime of Youth," which the Shuberts are producing.

The premiere of "The Lady in Ermine" at Joison's Fifty-ninth Street Theatre will take place during the week of Sept. 25 instead of a week earlier, as originally announced.

FACES CHARGE IF SHE LIVES

Promising her husband all the luck her spirit could bring him from the world beyond the grave, Mrs. Martha Lavender, 30, attempted suicide by gas yesterday in her apartment at 2,217 Mermaid Avenue, Coney Island. Her attempt at suicide failed, at least temporarily, because of the presence of George Aumiller, an employe of the Brooklyn Borough Gas Company, in the cellar, who traced the escaping gas to its source and rescued her, unconscious. Her two children, Lillian, 7, and William, 3 months, died. Mrs. Lavender, who was in a critical condition last night in the Harbor Hospital, Bensonhurst, will be charged with homicide if she recovers.

Soon after her husband, Jacob, an employe of a cloak and suit firm, left for work in the morning Mrs. Lavender placed her baby on the bed, called her daughter into the bedroom, stuffed the keyhole and crevices of the door with cotton and turned on the single-burner gas jet. Aumiller, at work in the cellar, smelled the gas and found the door of the Lavender apartment locked. He and Policeman Leo Kalstrandt broke open the door.

They found Mrs. Lavender and Lillian unconscious, and William, the baby, dead. Lillian died about an hour later in Coney Island Hospital. Mrs. Lavender was taken to Harbor Hospital in a passing automobile.

The police found a note from Mrs. Lavender to her husband, in which she recalled that she had been in ill-health for the last two years and that two previous attempts at suicide had failed. "I am taking my children with me," she wrote, "as I could not think of leaving them behind me. Whatever luck my spirit can bring you will be yours. God bless you and lots of love. Your wife, Martha."

FAMILY WIPED OUT, WIDOW ENDS LIFE

Grieving for Daughter, Husband and Son, Dying in Five Months, She Inhales Gas.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Asta Latimer, 38 years old, of 30 North Maryland Avenue died in the City Hospital this morning from inhaling illuminating gas. Before the end came incipient pneumonia developed. It was the fourth death in the family within five months; first a daughter, then the husband and father, and within two weeks afterward a son, all victims of double pneumonia. But one son survives of the family, William, 15 years old.

Mrs. Latimer could not become reconciled to the deaths of husband, daughter and son, and constantly grieved, becoming indifferent to life. From a vigorous and healthful woman she became a shadow of her former self.

and cautious you will weigh and consider such splendid safeguards.

And now, when we call your attention to the excellent account of the last twelve months, $31.53 paid on every $100 invested, you'll appreciate that your amount with us will not only get a substantial return through the distribution of monthly checks, but will at all times be particularly well guarded and under the supervision of persons whose integrity and character merit your trust."

The Fidelity and Casualty Company denied issuing any bond to the firm, and reported back to investigators that the explanation was that the name had been "inadvertently used." The International Indemnity Company, the surety bonds had been written by it for seven years, W. M. Smith, manager of the Fidelity and Surety Department of the Aetna Life Insurance Company, wrote that its bond business was confined to members of the New York and Consolidated Stock Exchanges and insured only "against losses due to acts of employes and certain acts of outsiders, such as robbery, hold-ups, &c."

"If a member of the firm should commit an act," continued the letter, "which would involve the firm in difficulties with consequent loss to depositors, the insurance would not cover."

A stream of pamphlets and letters on credit and investment was sent out by the firm, investigators said, and one circular said:

"The house of Winthrop Smith & Co., with its branches, is located in the heart of probably the greatest business and financial district in the world. The house of Winthrop Smith & Co. deals in Stock Exchange and season securities. Perhaps in this there is no organ in the whole body of the financial world which throbs more delicately and accurately as the pulse of the money world, than does this great heart of finance, Wall Street."

The circular told of bankers participation in bond offerings and said that the banks and financial interests worked to make certain stocks and bonds advance.

"The general public, of which the average person is a part, is presented with the opportunity to enter this syndicate," added the circular, "and receive, as others are doing, an average of 1 per cent. or more monthly."

It told also of the receipt of advance information on financial movements, and stated:

"Indeed, this information and knowledge is got to be at the command of participating syndicates long before it reaches the public or the newspapers."

Dr. Hirshberg said he had not taken active interest in the company, but had merely visited the offices once or twice a week. He said that he lived at Long Beach in the Summer and Baltimore in the Winter. His wife and two children are now at Willwood, N. Y.

Clarence J. McKenna of Olcott, Benynge, McManus & Brust of 170 Broadway, who was called as counsel for Dr. Hirshberg, said that he had not gone deeply into the case, but that the physician had all the assurance of honesty.

Mr. McCoy told Commissioner Hitchcock that, judging from the balance sheets of the packagers house, which showed net profits for August of $41,510, supposed to represent a per cent. on investments, in advance of the partners, the company was accountable for at least $1,000,000. Other investigators said that the sum certainly would run into hundreds of thousands.

Dr. Hirshberg is 46 years old and was graduated from the Johns Hopkins Medical School in 1902, and later studied in Berlin and Vienna, as well as at Harvard. He was an instructor in the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Baltimore in 1904, and on the staffs of three hospitals there. He also won the Fisk Fund Prize, given by the Rhode Island Medical Society, with an essay on "Light as a Therapeutic Agent." In 1914 he was President of the American Association for Clinical Research.

He has written several books and his articles on hygiene were widely syndicated. In 1913 the Medical and Chirurgical Society of Maryland named a committee to investigate an article he had written on leprosy. An article on cancer also was criticised. Dr. Hirshberg took the criticism to court and the proceedings were dropped.

SWEETSER TO PLAY EVANS FOR TITLE

WESTERNER WINS EASILY

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 8.—A veteran, as veterans go in the game of golf, worldly wise in the ways of the royal and ancient pastime, tested and tried in battle, and a comparative youngster will meet on the historic links of The Country Club tomorrow to decide who is to wear the amateur championship crown of the United States Golf Association for the year 1922.

The veteran is Chick Evans of Edgewater, Ill., who today gained a place in the finals of the national amateur golf championship for the fourth time since his career began thirteen years ago by overwhelming his fellow Westerner, Rudy Knepper of Sioux City, Iowa, by 11 and 9. The youngster is Jesse Sweetser of Siwanoy who, playing in his third championship test, fought his way into the finals by crushing the aspirations of no less formidable a slot maker than Bobby Jones of Atlanta, Ga. Sweetser's mastery over the Southerner was almost as decisive as was Evans's, for it was 8 and 7.

Thus ended two of the most lopsided semi-finals that have been played in the national championship for many a year, and thus also, for the first time since 1915, the metropolitan district has succeeded in getting one of its Knights of the Niblick into the final match. Peculiarly enough, its champion, and its hope, Sweetser, hails from the same golf organization as Johnny Anderson, who was a finalist at Detroit seven years ago.

Evans's victory over Knepper was generally regarded as almost a foregone conclusion, inasmuch as the pair had met on innumerable occasions before, especially in the Western amateur, and never once has the Iowan succeeded in overturning the Chicagoan. What was unexpected was the one-sidedness of the affair, especially after the wonderful showing made by the Princeton senior in his matches against Torrence, Oulmet and Tolley, three king pins whom he bowled over with comparative ease on the first three days.

Sweetser's Victory Decisive.

Sweetser's defeat of Jones, especially its decisiveness, was a distinct surprise, even to the former intercollegiate champion's fondest admirers and staunchest supporters. To crush completely a golfer of the calibre of Jones by 8 and 7 was to do something that no one would have dreamed possible until Sweetser actually accomplished it today.

In doing it the metropolitan youngster became a machine that would have crushed any opponent, just as it did Jones. Sweetser was inspired, performing miracles. Jones was the same brilliant player as always, shooting golf that would have won the majority of matches, but golf that trended into mediocrity as compared with the uncanny game of the New Yorker.

It was Jones's fate today, just as it has been ever since his name first flashed into the golf firmament, to meet a golfer not only endowed with the necessary shots to win, but with more than that—a golfer playing a charmed game and a master magician who made the little white pellet perform in a champion manner.

It was his lot to be pitted against a player who not only shattered the course record by a stroke with his 69 in the morning, but who played with a perfection seldom, if ever, before seen in a championship, a player fired with the will to win, and who not only traded shot for shot with one of the finest shot makers that ever lived, but actually excelled him.

What Bobby was fighting against at Brookline today is best seen in a glance at what happened toward the close of the morning round, when, after being 6 down, he proceeded to negotiate the last nine holes in 34, two under par, and was able to gain back only a single hole, and that only when Sweetser committed one of his few sins on the putting green.

Still fighting grimly for the golden apple that has been dangling just outside of his reach for so many times since his career began, Jones was only one over fours for the first nine holes of the afternoon, but going even at that dizzy pace he dropped back one hole further, Sweetser, still playing like a machine, coming within a stroke of duplicating his own morning's performance.

Sweetser kept the same pace, and the only difference between his afternoon and morning rounds lay in the fact that in the afternoon Jesse had no particular good fortune such as came to him in the morning, especially at the second hole, when he pitched into the cup from some eighty yards away for his first win. He was even a bit more relentless, for he showed flashes of his human side by giving Bobby chances now and then to build his hopes, only to dash them down by some miraculous recovery or putt.

His misses on the putting green were few, indeed; only once did he take more than three putts. Off the tee there was little choice between the two, as oftentimes the drives were within a few feet of one another, so accurately were they hitting them. But when it came to iron play, supposedly Jones's forte, the Atlantan, whose work in this feature brought praise from Vardon and Ray, was forced to doff his cap to the former son of Old Eli. It was in this department that Sweetser shone with particular brilliance, and it was through his command over his irons that he smothered Bobby.

Close of Match Dramatic.

The close of the match was almost dramatic in its pathos. After a great drive going to the tenth, Sweetser laid his second within a yard of the cup for an easy birdie 3, while Jones was on the far side of the green left with a slippery downhill putt for a half. Bobby hit his ball too hard and it went scampering past the cup, leaving him almost as hard a putt as before. He missed and conceded Sweetser the hole, making the metropolitan player 8 up, with the same number of holes left to play.

Just as in the morning, Jones had two wonderful shots to the eleventh, his brassie second stopping just a few yards short of the green. Sweetser trapped on his second, scooped the ball out, sending it seven feet past the pin. Then Bobby was too strong with his approach and his ball came to a stop only a few feet closer to the hole than was Sweetser's. The latter almost holed while Bobby's ball curved away, and he knocked Sweetser's ball away and offered his congratulations to his conqueror.

There was no trace of the disappointment that must have been in the heart of the game little Southerner.

"Jess, you shot the great golf that I have ever played against," said Bobby with his Southern drawl.

"The best of luck to you tomorrow."

"Thank you, Bob," answered Jess, "you're the finest sportsman I ever played against. I'm sorry that both of us couldn't win."

The gallery, after giving both players an ovation, flocked back to see how the Evans-Knepper battle was proceeding. The Western pair was coming up to the eighth green, Evans being dormie 12 at that stage.

Both players were on the green in two, Evans away. He took three putts, giving Knepper the hole, and the contest went to the half-way mark from completion. Here Knepper was short of the green in two, while Evans was safely home, with a possible putt for a three. Rudy's approach was short and so was Evans's approach putt, the Chicagoan being left with a makeable putt. Knepper, however, after missing his try for a four, picked up his rival's ball and they clasped hands just as they have so many times before. Knepper offering the congratulations and Chick accepting them.

Sweetser really won the match on the first nine holes of the morning round, at the end of which he was no less than 6 up. After halving the first hole in 5, Sweetser, electrified the gallery by holing his approach going to the second. Bobby made a great try to duplicate Sweetser's feat, but failed by the margin of a foot. Jess saved his half at the third by laying his approach dead for a 4, and they halved the next in par figures.

Sweetser became 3 up by winning the fifth, after being trapped on his second shot. Jones, from just off the green, took four to get down, missing a three-footer for a 6, while Jess was dead with his fourth. Going to the sixth, Jones had a fine approach to within ten feet of the pin, but lost the hole when Sweetser almost holed an approach from forty yards off the green, the ball stopping less than eight inches from the pin.

Jess then won the next four holes. Jones had a poor approach putt at the seventh, leaving himself an eight-foot putt, which he missed by an inch, while Sweetser, well inside from the tee, putted up dead for a 4.

Bobby encountered a bad break at the eighth when Sweetser laid him a dead stymie after a great approach; while at the ninth Sweetser's ball hit a spectator and stopped in the long grass just off the green. Bobby, who was short on his second, rolled his ball down the bank to within ten feet of the cup, but Sweetser's third was well inside, and, after the Southerner missed his putt, Jess holed his six-footer for a win.

Jesse Matches Bobby's Shots.

Then Bobby started out on a brand of golf that would have broken the nerve of a less stolid golfer than his rival today. They halved the tenth in 4s, Sweetser's downhill putt for a 3 grazing the cup. Jones, out ahead on the drive, crashed a tremendous brassie straight for the green, and was on the edge, with every indication of winning the hole, for Sweetser's second left him down the hill, far off the green. Once again Sweetser arose to the occasion. His approach left him only twenty feet from the cup, and he proceeded to hole out for a half in 4.

Going to the one-shot twelfth, Jones was well inside of Sweetser, who was on the edge of the green, but the Siwanoy youngster approached up dead and, after Jones's was a yard short, did a mighty sportsmanlike thing in conceding Bobby a half when the latter might well have fared far worse with a clump of mud clinging to his ball.

They halved the thirteenth in 4, and both got home at the fourteenth on their second shots, Sweetser being again well inside of Jones. The latter almost holed his sixty-foot putt, while Jess, from forty feet away, hit the cup and hung on the lip.

The next two were halved in par figures, but Jess lost the seventeenth when he partly missed his second shot, and then took three putts, the only time of the day that he was guilty of transgressing beyond the regulation number. It was the only hole that Jones had to his credit in the round, as it developed when they halved the home hole in 4, Jones making a great recovery from the long grass just short of the green to within a foot of the cup to get his 4.

Jones Starts Poorly.

Bobby, with the better of the drives, lost the first hole in the afternoon round when he hooked his second to the rough, while Sweetser's shot flew straight for the flag and ended up on the green. Jones was away short on his approach and then took two putts. Sweetser lost the second, his only loss in the afternoon, when he hooked his drive to the rough and then, after a fine recovery to within fifteen feet of the pin, missed his putt by a slender margin. Jones getting a ten-footer down for a 3.

Jones also had to sink a ten-footer for a half at the third. After Sweetser, having hit a fine second from a hard lie, reached the green with a putt for a 3. Jones duplicated the shot, but overran the cup with his third. Jones sank the putt for a half, Sweetser's approach being dead for a 4.

Sweetser showed his nerve by calmly sinking a six-footer for a half at the fourth after Jones missed his ten-footer and he got down another putt of almost the same length for a win at the next. Bobby played two poor shots at the sixth, but saved his half by negotiating a stymie. Bobby took his niblick and jumped his ball squarely into the hole.

At the seventh Jones was off to the right in the rough, while Sweetser was on from the tee, a superb iron shot leaving him less than fifteen feet away. Bobby pitched on, but overran the cup and then missed his putt. Jones played a fine approach from the bank of the eighth, green, his ball stopping on the lip of the cup, but he got only a half, for Sweetser, on the fringe at the far side of the green, putted up to within two feet and sank the putt.

Bobby lost the ninth when his second failed to reach the green and his chip overran and he missed coming back. Sweetser, on in two, putted up close and then sank his putt.

Although Knepper was 36 going out against Evans in the morning round, he was down at the turn, Evans being exactly par. Chick was playing beautiful golf, straight for the pin all the time. Despite the fact that his second was in the race track, short of the green, Chick approached to within six feet for a win at the first. He also won the fourth hole with a birdie 3, getting down a ten-foot putt and after winning the fifth, 4 to 5, he barely missed an eight-footer for a win at the sixth. The only hole that fell to Knepper on the outgoing nine was the ninth, where he hit the cup on his second shot and scored a birdie 3, Evans taking a 5.

Knepper won only one hole on the incoming nine, the thirteenth, where he had a birdie 3. Chick won the tenth with a fine second to within four feet of the pin and his tee shot at the twelfth left him less than five feet away from where he putted down for a birdie 3.

The Iowan was out of bounds at the fourteenth, Evans winning the hole with a six and Chick added the fifteenth and the eighteenth to his collection, making him six up at noon. After that it was only a question of when the end would come.

RUMSON, N. J., Sept. 8.—Captain Lewis L. Lacey of the Argentine polo team this afternoon said that he and his fellow-players will be unable to return here next season, as they must get home and to work. He expressed the hope, however, that the American four would visit Argentina next year. As to his team's prospects for the final of the open championship against Meadow Brook tomorrow, he said he thought the South Americans had an even chance.

"When you are facing a team with a Milburn and a Hitchcock on it, you cannot be altogether confident," said Captain Lacey. "Our ponies are greatly improved, but two of our best are lame and cannot be used, one belonging to Jack Nelson and the other to me. They have played in four countries in eight months since March 15—the Argentine, Chile, England and the United States—and have been through a long and hard campaign."

TENNIS STARS WIN IN FIRST MATCHES

DAVIS SCORES OVER NILES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—The leading tennis players of four continents who are met at the Germantown Cricket Club in Manheim for the national tennis championship of the United States in singles all came through the opening rounds of the tournament today without mishap.

The winners included William T. Tilden 2d of Philadelphia, champion of this country and the foremost player in the world; William M. Johnston of San Francisco, former champion and Tilden's leading rival for the year's honors in singles; Richard Norris Williams 2d of Boston, Vincent Richards of Yonkers, Gerald L. Patterson, Pat O'Hara Wood and James O. Anderson of Australia, Manuel Alonso and his brother, José M. Alonso, of Spain; Zenzo Shimizu of Japan, Wallace F. Johnson, Willis E. Davis, Watson Washburn, the Kenney brothers, Francis T. Hunter, Lucien E. Williams and other leading players of this country.

In the whole day's play, which started at 10 in the morning, there was no single upset. Form ruled in all cases. The closest approach to a reversal was when Fred C. Anderson of Brooklyn, one of the best metropolitan players, took the first two sets of his match with José M. Alonso, brother of the Spanish ace, and came close to taking the fourth and fifth sets as well. Yet this would have been no tremendous upset. Anderson is an excellent player and Alonso makes no claims to being the equal of his brother.

Anderson's Errors Costly.

José Alonso has many of Manuel's mannerisms in his play. There are almost as many wasted motions in his service. He applies very nearly the same energy to every rally. He is less brilliant than his brother, but always capable of bringing off an electrifying shot. He was steady against Anderson, but the latter had largely himself to blame for his misfortunes at critical moments. The Brooklynite made the most sensational pull-up of the day, when, trailing at 0–5 in the fifth set of his match with Alonso, he drew level at 5-all. He played magnificently all through this rally, but the big effort seemed to cost him his steadiness. At any rate he made errors on shots that should have been easy for him in the eleventh and twelfth games of the fifth set and thus blew the match.

Anderson did his most effective shooting at the net, where he clearly outplayed the Spaniard excepting in a few highly important rallies. The Spaniard's ground strokes had good length and pace. His control was generally reliable. But Anderson might have won against him had he not netted needlessly on easy volleys at important moments. The American had the aggressive game to beat the Spaniard, but did not have it completely enough under control. The scores in José Alonso's favor were 3–6, 2–6, 6–1, 7–5, 7–5. The Spaniard used a steel racquet of the kind invented by former champion Larned and seemed to get a free and effective swing with it.

The other most sensational match of the day on the centre courts was won by Willis E. Davis of San Francisco from Nathaniel W. Niles of the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston, by scores of 2–6, 6–3, 2–6, 6–3, 6–4. This was a battle between a player who relies wholly upon speed of service and hard overhead hitting against one who is dependent upon accuracy, powering ability and excellent control of his attacking shots off the ground. Davis was better able than he has been in some of his other matches this Summer to combine accuracy with his speed, and that was why he won.

Johnston drew a first round bye and met Craig Biddle, the Philadelphia veteran, in the second round. The Californian was content to run along easily and keep the ball in play until Biddle made errors. But on the few occasions when Johnston wanted to open the speed clutch, he demonstrated that he will be a hard man for anybody to beat and that even Tilden himself has no more than an equal chance of downing him. Johnston has never been in better form in his career than he is at present, and his supporters are rejoicing that where, last season, he was heavily handicapped by poor health he is at present as physically fit as ever he was when he won his two national championships.

Tilden Gains Easy Victory.

Tilden's defeated opponent was Alex Thayer, a fellow Philadelphian. Thayer plays a good game but is not sufficiently severe or resourceful to extend Tilden. The latter loafed through the match even though he allowed Thayer only four games.

Dick Williams, who, with Gerald Patterson, is favorite in the lowest quarter of the draw, was another player to take things easily. He dropped a set to his Longwood clubmate, Irving C. Wright, largely through experimenting with trick shots. Nevertheless, Wright's chop strokes were remarkably steady and when Williams was in need of important points, he could not depend upon errors. He had to go out and earn them himself.

Patterson had a mild workout with Charles C. Hubbell and Anderson was only moderately occupied in his task of beating Sydney Thayer Jr. Shimizu had a busier session than either Australian in vanquishing Walter Weshrook, University of Michigan star. The scores were: 6–4, 7–5, 6–3, and the Japanese was in difficulty on numerous occasions. His great getting enabled him in the end to circumvent the Westerner, who, as usual, accounted for many clever volleying placements as well as some decisive kills whenever Shimizu failed to get the best of length on his lobs.

Fred Baggs of the West Side Club set aside comedy long enough to take the measure of Gerald B. Emerson of Columbia. This was a remarkable fine victory for the West Sider and it was recorded by 4–6, 6–4, 7–5, 6–2. Baggs roamed the court in aggressive fashion and cut off the best drives the Columbian could offer with accurate placements. Frank Anderson, another Columbian and a probable intercollegiate champion in another season, had a tough time turning back Henry H. Bassford of the New York Tennis Club.

Washburn Beats Baggs.

Anderson won in straight sets, but every set went to deuce. Washburn had Ralph Baggs of the West Side club for an opponent and easily outstepped him to win by a count of 8–1, 6–1, 6–2. S. Howard Voshell, another member of the West Side Club contingent, was a decisive winner.

Richards demonstrated that he was in exceptionally good stroke in an easily won victory over Thomas J. Mangan. Tilden has expressed the opinion that Richards is the dark horse of the tournament and likely to upset even Johnston, who will meet he will probably meet in the semi-finals. That way the Yonkers youth has shown up when he has really cut loose in practice here indicates that Tilden's words are well worth heeding.

Browns Begin Plans to Erect More Seats for World Series

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—"The time to accept reservations for the world's series is about nigh." Thus Bob Quinn, business manager of the Browns, expressed his conviction today that the local American League team would win this year's pennant. Plans for the erection of temporary stands, he admitted, were already under way, but he would not say when construction would be started.

He said he already had been swamped with requests for tickets for the championship games, but added that none had been issued or promised yet. Local sport writers agree that the final series between the Browns and Yankees will be the deciding factor in this year's fight for the pennant. These games will be played, Sept. 16, 17 and 18. The season's record between these two teams favors the Yankees, but Manager Fohl is hopeful of taking at least two of this important series.

U. S. SENIORS BEAT CANADIAN GOLFERS

Score Fourth Successive Victory in Annual International Match by 24½ to 20½.

TORONTO, Ontario, Sept. 8.—The United States senior golf team of fifteen players won the fourth successive victory in the annual international match with the Canadian Seniors' Association here today, being 4 points up when the last pair finished. The totals were 24½ to 20½.

The first seven Canadian players held their opponents fairly well, but the Americans gradually assumed a lead of 10 points. Victories by Martin Burrell and Alfred Wright, the last two Canadians to finish, helped to reduce the margin to 4 points.

The big game of the match was that between the champions of the two associations, George S. Lyon, Canada, and Martin J. Condon, United States, which was won by the former, 5 up. The pair were even at the turn, having halved seven holes. Each had a medal score of 35, one over par.

On the homeward journey, Mr. Lyon maintained his form at the first nine holes, and came in in one less than par, giving him a par round, while Mr. Condon was slightly erratic in his approaching and took 42. Lyon's 70 was the best of the tournament.

In the afternoon the play was devoted to foursomes, in which the United States players participated. The cup presented by the American Association at the dinner last evening probably will be used as the trophy for the low net for the 36 holes.

The scores:

UNITED STATES SENIORS.

Frank Presbrey, Appawamis, 8; Martin J. Condon, Memphis, 4; Charles D. Cooke, Arcola, 0; Hugh Blaisell, Dallas, 1½; Andy J. Carty, Ina Valley, 3; Fred Snare, Appawamis, 4½; W. E. Trussdell, Appawamis, 1½; Otis L. Williams, Appawamis, 1½; Fred C. Ecker, Blind Brook, 3; A. H. Revell, Chicago, 3; H. W. Reddield, Hartford, 3; H. J. Rodgers, Philadelphia, 0; I. R. Freeman, Schenectady, 3; W. S. Kinnear, New York, 0; C. V. Lee, Detroit, 0. Total, 24½.

FAMOUS SHOW HORSE DIES.

R. C. Vanderbilt's Lady Dilham Victim of Pleuro-Pneumonia.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 8.—Lady Dilham is dead. This world-famous mare, the pride of Reginald C. Vanderbilt's stables and the winner of prizes too numerous to count, died at the Vanderbilt estate, Sandy Point Farm, yesterday afternoon. She was a victim of pleuro-pneumonia.

Lady Dilham was nineteen years old, but few who watched her action while being exhibited at the recent Newport Horse Show would have believed that she was that old. Incidentally Lady Dilham won several ribbons in the harness classes in the show, took the single harness championship and then won the Grand Championship prize for the best horse in the show. The mare was 14 hands 2½ inches high, sired by Dilham Prince Minuteo, her dam being Silesgat III.

NEW BOXING RULE IS PUT IN FORCE

Ebbets Field Must Increase Ticket Accommodations—May Hold Two Shows Next Week.

Chairman William Muldoon of the State Athletic Commission yesterday registered his opposition to a return bout between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight, in a conference with the champion, Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, and Dan McKetrick, Kearn's Eastern representative. The conference followed a meeting of the State Athletic Commission, at which a rule was adopted making it compulsory for boxers of obscure reputation, who are signed for bouts under the Commission's jurisdiction, to train publicly for at least two weeks in advance of the bout. The Commission also continued the suspension of the Ebbets-McKeever Company, operating as a boxing club at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, thus forcing a cancellation of the bout between Willie Jackson and Sid Marks which the club had announced for last night.

Chairman Muldoon stated after his conference with Dempsey, Kearns and McKetrick, that Kearns complained to the commission that Dempsey was not being accorded fair treatment in the matter of matches. Kearns, Chairman Muldoon said, pointed to bouts in which Harry Wills, Dempsey's negro challenger, was permitted to engage, and compared the Wills matches with contests in which Dempsey was prevented from appearing.

"Kearns asked for the privilege of closing negotiations for a return match between Dempsey and Brennan, but I would not consent to such a bout," said Chairman Muldoon. "I told Kearns that if the Velodrome or Madison Square Garden or any other club wanted to promote a match for Dempsey, first to arrange a bout between two capable heavyweights to determine an opponent for the champion, if Brennan defeated some good rival, Brennan would qualify, I informed Kearns. Kearns told me that he thought Brennan the only suitable white opponent for Dempsey right now. That, however, is merely what Kearns says. I hold my own opinion of that. If Brennan is the best man, let him prove it by beating some worthy rival.

Wants to Help Champion.

"I impressed on Kearns that I was not trying to keep Dempsey from making money. On the contrary, I would be glad to help the champion. But the unfortunate part of it is that there is no single match of any Kearns suggested which appears justified, in my opinion. I insisted that if Brennan wants a return bout he must qualify for it in the accepted method, by beating some capable rival.

My opinion was sought on the attitude of the commission toward a bout between Wills and Jack Thompson, a sparring partner of Dempsey's. I was asked if such a match was possible. My answer was that such a match, if made, would come before the commission through some promoter, and then the commission would make known its attitude."

The ruling compelling boxers with whom the Commission is not familiar or who are not well known, to train in the vicinity of their scheduled bouts in this State, came as an outgrowth of the recent Harry Wills-Tut Jackson bout at Ebbet's Field. Jackson, on that occasion, was found to be far short of the complimentary record claimed for him in advance accounts of his prowness. By making it compulsory for out-of-town boxers of little reputation to train publicly two weeks or more in advance of a bout, the Commission provides an opportunity for inspection of the boxer by a commission representative, critics and the boxing public generally. In this way, it is hoped to preclude a repetition of the Tut Jackson situation.

The hearing on the suspension of the Ebbets Field boxing license ended with the suspension still in force and to be continued until next Monday. It had been announced by the Ebbets Field officials that the club had been restored to good standing and that the postponed bouts of last Wednesday night would be conducted last night. This was found to be erroneous. Chairman Muldoon announced that the club's suspension would end in time to permit of holding the Johnny Buff-Pancho Villa flyweight bout next Tuesday night. The commission extended to Ebbets Field the privilege of retaining last Wednesday night's card intact, and promised the club officials permission to hold their bouts next Thursday night. Under this arrangement, if the club elects, there will be two shows next week at Ebbets Field.

Club Must Increase Accommodations.

One of the conditions of the club's restoration to good standing, which was demanded by Chairman Muldoon, was an increase in the club's general admission accommodations. It was because of alleged mismanagement in the sale of admission tickets that the organization was suspended. Chairman Muldoon specified, in consenting to restoring to the club the privilege of holding bouts, that the general admission accommodations in future must total about 8,000, instead of 1,600 as was the capacity in the past. Further than this, Chairman Muldoon insisted upon the installation of four or five admission ticket booths in order expeditiously to handle the applications for these tickets. This order means that practically the entire upper section of the club's concrete stand will be open for general admission prices.

Chairman Muldoon took occasion to declare that he would not revise the conditions under which a bout between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills is possible in this State. Publication of a proposal by John M. O'Connor, President of the Republic A. C., to hold the bout at the Polo Grounds with certain modifications of Chairman Muldoon's conditions, prompted the commission leader's reiteration of his original plan. Under O'Connor's plan, 30,000 seats would be made available at the Polo Grounds, where the seating capacity will be 30,365, at $5 or under. Chairman Muldoon insisted in his conditions that at least 40,000 seats of a club with a capacity for a crowd of 100,000 be sold at general admission prices.

COFFROTH ARRIVES TO SIGN DEMPSEY

James W. Coffroth of San Francisco, boxing promoter and owner of the race track at Tia Juana, Mexico, arrived late yesterday on the Ward Line steamship Esperanza and announced his intention of matching Jack Dempsey to box Jack Johnson in Mexico City this Fall. Coffroth said he would communicate at once with Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, who arrived here last Wednesday.

Coffroth was met at Pier 15, Brooklyn, by Billy Gibson, manager of Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard, James Woods, former Police Commissioner of San Francisco and now a hotel proprietor in this city, and State Senator William C. Lyons of Colorado.

The promoter also announced the running of the Coffroth Handicap at his track in Mexico this Winter. The race, which will be open to all ages, will be at a mile and a quarter, with $30,000 added, and will be the richest race in America, if not in the world, he declared.

Questioned about the proposed Johnson-Dempsey match, Mr. Coffroth said that he preferred Johnson to Harry Wills, because Johnson had a tremendous following in Mexico and would draw a record crowd.

AMATEURS MAY NOT ACCEPT GOLF BALLS

U. S. G. A. Amends Its Definition at Meeting of Executive Committee at Brookline.

Special to The New York Times.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 8.—The acceptance without payment of golf balls, clubs or merchandise will render a player ineligible to compete in the amateur championship, it has been decided by the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association at a meeting held here to consider the amateur definition. At the conclusion of their conclave on the matter the U. S. G. A. gave out the following:

An amateur golfer is one who, attaining the age of 18 years, has not

(a) Carried clubs for hire.

(b) Received any consideration, either directly or indirectly, for playing or for teaching the game, or for playing in a match or tournament.

(c) Because of his skill as a golfer, received after Dec. 31, 1922, a salary or remuneration, either directly or indirectly, from any firm dealing in goods relating to the playing of the game.

(d) Played for a money prize in competition.

The statement relating to the acceptance of balls, clubs or golf merchandise is contained in a note to the above. The present rulings are to stand in defining a professional. A professional golfer is any player who has played for a money prize or has received payment for playing or teaching the game.

KUHN WINS STATE JUNIOR NET TITLE

Defeats Van Ryn, 2–6, 6–2, 6–2, 4–6, 9–7—Whitbeck Takes Boys' Championship.

Ernest Kuhn and Brainerd Whitbeck were the victors in the final round matches of the first annual New York State tennis singles championship tournament for juniors and boys, played on the clay courts of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills yesterday. Kuhn captured the juniors' title by defeating John Van Ryn in the final match by scores of 2–6, 6–2, 6–2, 4–6, 9–7, and Whitbeck won the boys' title by defeating Robert Millen in the final match by 7–5, 8–6, 6–4.

Van Ryn worked his way into the junior final round yesterday by defeating Valentine Gross in a third round match by 6–4, 6–4, and then winning over C. Schuster in the semi-final round, 6–2, 6–1. Kuhn won the other semi-final match over J. C. Cuddy by 6–0, 6–1.

The final match between Kuhn and Van Ryn brought forth some splendid tennis on the part of both contestants. With the match tied at two sets each, the pair struggled through sixteen games in the fifth and deciding set before Kuhn was able to capture the match. Van Ryn was within a point of victory in the fifth set on nine different occasions, but each time his opponent rallied and brought the set to deuce.

In reaching the final round in the boys' play Whitbeck triumphed over Stuart Gaynes of the West Side Club in the semi-final by 6–4, 6–3, and Millen defeated F. Smith by 6–2, 6–3. Whitbeck lost the first set of the final round match to Millen in twelve games and then took the second set after had gone to fourteen games. Whitbeck was in his best form in the third set and won it by 6–1 and Millen was standing twenty feet behind the baseline, and showed the effects of his wider experience.

The summaries:

Semi-Final Round—John Van Ryn defeated C. Schuster, 6–2, 6–1; Ernest Kuhn defeated J. C. Cuddy, 6–0, 6–1.

Final Round—Ernest Kuhn defeated John Van Ryn, 2–6, 6–2, 6–2, 4–6, 9–7.

YANKEES WIN AND TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

JOHNSON DRIVEN FROM BOX

Is Pounded for Twelve Hits, Including a Home Run by Pipp, in Six Innings.

Once more the Yankees lead in the race for the American League pennant. They batted their way back to the front in yesterday's game with the Washington Senators at the Polo Grounds, while the St. Louis Browns were being humiliated by the Detroit Tigers. The Yankees treated Walter Johnson so roughly that they drove the one-time king of twirlers to the dugout, the finishing blow being Wallie Pipp's home run in the fifth inning with two men on bases. In these six sessions the Huemen hit Johnson for twelve safeties. In the next two they made only one of Erickson—a single by Carl Mays. All told, therefore, the Yankees made an unlucky number of hits but a lucky bunch of runs, enough to bring them victory by the comfortable margin of 8 to 1, and at the same time the league lead over the Browns by the narrow margin of six points.

The Yankees put up a rattling fielding game. Only one error was charged against them, that being a fumble by Mays. The submarine twirler, however, made two safe hits. Meusel's one-handed catch of Goslin's short fly in the sixth brought forth the greatest applause of the game. He nabbed the ball on the dead run, just back of short. Dugan also made a scintillating one-handed stop back of third, and Peckinpaugh, a former Yankee player, came to the front with a single-handed catch of Schang's fly in the sixth.

Outside of Pipp's home run, the other long drives credited to the Yankees were doubles by Dugan, Scott and Ruth. Ruth had rather a hard time at the bat, his two-bagger being the only safety he made. The first time up, with two on bases, he struck out; the second time up, with one on, he forced Witt; the third time up, with no one on, he doubled, and the fourth time up, with two again on, he forced Witt for the second time.

The Yankees got away to plenty of music and good cheer, due to the presence of a Boys' Scout band, which paraded across the field with the Syracuse boys' nine which won the Syracuse Herald's championship of that city, and came to this city to play the nine of Eddie Bennett, mascot of the Yankees. The game was put on yesterday morning at the Polo Grounds, and the Benets won by 3 to 0. After the two teams had gathered at the plate they were joined by Babe Ruth and Nick Altrock and with these major leaguers in the spotlight the cameramen got busy. With all these frills duly attended to, the Senators and the Yankees began their diamond battle.

Yanks Take Early Lead.

In the first inning Judge walked, receiving four balls in rapid succession. Harris dropped a Texas leaguer into short right, Judge moving to second and then taking third on Rice's fly to Ruth. Goslin hit into a double play, Scott to Ward to Pipp. The Yankees in their half started the same way as the Senators, Witt walking on four bad ones. Dugan slammed one against the left field bleachers for two bases. On a wild pitch Witt scored and Dugan took third. After Ruth had fanned Pipp walked, Schang grounded to Judge and was out, but Dugan scored. Pipp was caught off second on Picinich's throw.

After Brower had been retired, Scott to Judge, in the second, Peckinpaugh singled past Dugan. Lamotte fell a victim of a pop fly to Ward. Picinich singled to right and was forced on Johnson's grounder, Scott to Ward. In the Yankees' half Ward slashed a single to left. The hit was of no avail, for Johnson prevented a tally.

In the third, after Mays had thrown out Judge, Harris hit safely toward Dugan and Rice followed with a single to left. Goslin forced Rice at second, Ward to Scott, Harris advancing to third. Brower then ended matters with a long fly to Ruth. For the Yankees in their half of the inning Witt bunted safely. Dugan fouled to Picinich and Ruth forced Witt, Judge to Peckinpaugh. Pipp singled to centre, Schang filed to Brower.

Mays's fumble allowed Peckinpaugh to reach first in the fourth, but a second later he was nipped off the bag on Schang's throw. Lamotte walked, but Picinich filed to Ruth and Johnson forced Lamotte, Dugan to Ward. Scott singled with two out in the Yanks' half and Mays followed with a safe one to the same territory. Witt tried another bunt. This time he was out, Johnson to Judge.

Ruth enlivened the fifth inning with a two-bagger to right. He went to third on Pipp's out at first and scored when Schang dropped a single into left centre. Schang stole second, and took third on a wild pitch. Meusel walked. He and Schang then started a double-steal, and the Yankee catcher was really caught at the plate on Peckinpaugh's return of Picinich's throw, but Pininich dropped the ball in the mix up, and Schang was safe with the Yankees' second run of the inning.

Senators' Errors Costly.

In the sixth, after Goslin had been retired on a seemingly impossible catch by Meusel, Brower walked and Peckinpaugh singled to right. Peck, however, was forced by Lamotte, Ward to Scott, Brower scoring, and Picinich was out, Mays to Pipp. In the Yankees' half Scott doubled over third base, went to third on Picinich's bad throw and got home on Rice's toss over Lamotte's head to catch him on the way to third. Witt and Dugan bunted and Ruth forced Witt, Johnson to Lamotte. Pipp caught one of Johnson's curves and sent it sailing into the lower right field grandstand, just inside the foul line, scoring Witt and Dugan ahead of him.

Milan went to bat in the seventh in place of Johnson. He filed to Meusel in short left. Judge got an infield hit to Pipp, who made a fine stop. Harris filed to Witt and Rice forced Judge, Pipp to Scott. Erickson took Johnson's place on the mound. Meusel, first to face the new twirler, filed to Brower, Ward fanned and Scott filed to Dugan.

In the eighth Goslin singled to centre, but was forced at second by Brower. Peckinpaugh forced Brower, Dugan to Ward, and the second baseman doubled up Peck at first on his throw to Pipp. Mays, for the Yankees, bunted to Brickell and was safe. Erickson, Peckinpaugh and Judge executed a double killing on Mays and Witt. Dugan was tossed out by Peck.

Lamotte singled to center for the Senators in the ninth, Shanks, batting for Picinich, filed to Witt, and Charrity, in place of Erickson, was thrown out by Dugan. Judge ended the game with a grounder to Pipp.

BOSTON WINS ON 4 HITS.

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Boston made only four hits off Hasty today, but defeated the Athletics, 2 to 1. The visitors' run came in the first after J. Harris's two-base muff, B. Miller's single and a wild pitch. W. Collins's single in the sixth, followed by two errors by Galloway, gave Boston a run, and the Red Sox scored again in the seventh on J. Harris's double, a fielder's choice play, and O'Rourke's single.

WHITE SOX ROUT INDIANS.

Make It Two Straight From Cleveland by Score of 7 to 2.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Chicago made it two straight from Cleveland here today, winning, 7 to 2. Mostil's triple, following singles by Collins and Shealy, tied the two-run lead of the Indians, which they made on three sharp singles. Mostil then stole home, putting the White Sox in front, and they were never headed again, as Leverette tightened up and pitched airtight ball. By bunching hits behind weak support, Chicago scored its other runs.

CARDINALS CURB REDS.

Hornsby Gets Thirty-Fifth Homer as St. Louis Wins by 6 to 1.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8. — Pfeffer's pitching stopped the Reds after the first inning here today and St. Louis won 6 to 1. Couch pitched well, but was taken out for a pinch hitter in the last half of the seventh and the Cardinals pounded Gillespie for four runs in the eighth inning. Hornsby made his thirty-fifth home run of the season with no one on base in the fourth inning.

Curves and Bingles.

Walter Johnson was not forgotten by the fans. He was given an ovation as he walked to the plate in the second inning.

Mays hit the ball hard in the second with Scott on first as the result of the latter's forcing Ward at the midway station. Twice it looked like five good for two or three bases. But Brower caught it close to the bleachers.

Dugan's one-hand step back of third on Harris's drive in the third was one of the fielding gems of the game. Eddie could not recover in time to get his man, so Harris was permitted with a hit. Later Meusel made a sparkling one-hand catch which aroused the crowd from its slumber.

Two wild throws and two safe hunts are not usually worth one inning. But in the sixth Picinich and Rice made bad heaves in succession, enabling Scott to score, and Witt and Dugan dumped consecutive bunts off Johnson to the great delight of the crowd.

Ruth, notwithstanding his bulk, was not afraid to slide into second base in order to stretch his drive into a two-bagger. This fast work on the base paths later enabled him to score the Yankees' third run of the game.

Witt was caught off first base in the first inning on Picinich's quick throw to Judge, but he was safe as Judge dropped the ball.

Picinich made two fine throws in the opening innings. First he caught Witt off first and then muffed the ball. Then he caught Pipp off second, and Pipp was out. He was showing the Yanks they couldn't take any liberties with him behind the bat.

Peckinpaugh got a hand from his old New York admirers when he made his first appearance at bat. He responded with a safe hit.

M'GRAWMEN LOSE TO PHILLIES, 8 TO 4

QUAKERS TIE IN THE FIFTH

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Kicked and mauled one day, kickers and maulers the next—just a brief sketch of what the Phillies have done so far in the series with the Giants. After losing the first game the Phillies came back today and defeated the league leaders by 8 to 4. The friendly spirit shown by the Pirates in dropping a game to the Cubs permitted the Giants to retain their four and one-half game lead.

The Phillies started off in the most approved local style, handing McGraw's men a four-run lead in the second inning. Four hits, separated only by a force-out, accomplished that number of markers. Thereafter the Giants on the base paths were a rarity, for Lee Meadows in the remaining seven innings allowed only five hits.

Art Nehf was easily solved by the Phillies. Wrightstone and Rapp found him for singles in the first round, but that was the total injury to Nehf's reputation for three innings.

Phillies Score Two Runs.

In the fourth Wilhelm's clan scored two runs. Walker led off with a blow to centre. Henline drove a double to the bleacher wall, that let Walker cross. Lee laid one of Nehf's curves against the centre field wall for a pair of sacks. Henline hadled up at third and was later nipped at the scoring station on Leslie's grounder to Maranville. Lee crossed on Parkinson's single to right.

The count was evened in the fifth: Wrightstone reached first when Nehf dropped Kelly's flip to first. Rapp filed. Cy Williams tripled off the scoreboard, counting Wrightstone, and crossed himself when Walker singled to right.

The game was lost for the Giants in the seventh. With one down Rapp picked the bleacher wall with a triple. He cleared around the torrid corner while Williams was rolling to Frisch. When Walker slapped one to Kelly, Long George threw wild to Nehf, who covered first, and Rapp scored.

Merely because they were in the mood, the locals added three more in the eighth. Leslie doubled and beat the throw to third on Parkinson's bunt, Parkie taking first. Leslie registered on Meadows's looping single to right. Wrightstone grounded to Kelly, both runners advancing. Rapp came through with his third hit, and Parkinson and Meadows sprinted home.

It was not a disgrace to be beaten by a team playing like the Phillies did today, but the three Giant errors were hardly an honor. Groh doubled in the first round, but that was all the hitting the Giants did in this inning.

Young Draws Only Giant Pass.

For six innings not a Giant got as far as second. Three hits was the total of their offensive. In the ninth they made a good try. Kelly led off by driving a high one against the bleacher wall. It was good for two bases, but George wanted three. Lee's peg nipped him at third. Rapp made a one-handed stop and an off-balance throw on Stengel's bunt that killed off Casey. Smith was hit by the pitcher, and Robinson, batting for Nehf, bounced a single off Meadows's toes, Smith reaching third. Bancroft picked this exciting moment to hit to Meadows and be retired at first.

ROBINS BEAT SEMI-PROS.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Sept. 8.—The Brooklyn Nationals defeated the Recreation Club's semi-pro baseball nine here today by 6 to 3. Art Tenscher, Recreation pitcher, who relieved Boyle at the start of the sixth, held the Robins hitless and runless for the last four innings. Two triples by Bernie Neis and a homer by Eddie Einhorn featured in the hitting line. Fast fielding cut off Recreation rallies in the eighth and ninth innings.

CUBS RALLY IN 8TH AND CRUSH PIRATES

Chicago Scores Four Runs at Crucial Moment and Triumphs by 10 to 7.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8.—An eighth inning rally by Chicago which netted four runs upset the Pirates' chance to gain a notch on New York in the pennant race here today. The score was Chicago 10, Pittsburgh 7. Both teams hit hard, seven pitchers, three for the visitors and four for Pittsburgh, being used.

A pass, a double and three singles off Brown gave the Cubs their four runs in the eighth. O'Farrell was put out of the game in the eighth inning for protesting a decision.

ORIOLES TRIM SKEETERS.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8.—The Orioles made it two straight over Jersey City today when they won 6 to 4. Jack Reid, a youngster, did the twirling for the champions and performed splendidly. The Skeeters got eleven hits against ten for the home nine, but could not connect when hits meant runs. Bishop played a sterling game in the field for the Orioles, while Styles got three hits out of three times up.

Planaky of Boston Has 46 Ft. 9⅝ In. in Hop, Step and Jump—N. Y. A. C. Wins Team Prize.

Three junior championship records were shattered and another narrowly escaped being broken yesterday in the Amateur Athletic Union's national junior track and field championships, held at Weequahic Park, Newark, N. J. These events served as an appetizer for the senior title tests on track and field which will be held in the Newark park this afternoon. Competing before a crowd which numbered 7,000, units in the army of America's foremost athletic juveniles unceremoniously shoved into the discard the junior championship records for the three-mile walk, running broad jump and running hop, step and jump. In the running high jump the victor, B. P. Chamberlin, Baltimore Cross-Country Club, missed by one inch of equalling the championship record and failed in three attempts to throw himself over the bar at the new record figures of 6 feet 3⅝ inches.

These record performances shone brilliantly through a day of interesting competition, a day which was bright overhead, with such conditions under foot as to contribute to an enjoyable afternoon of sport for the crowd which jammed the small grandstand to suffocation and overflowed away from both sides of the covered stand. Many of the spectators watched the proceedings from seats in hundreds of automobiles which circled the half-mile trotting track enclosing the quarter-mile cinderpath whereon the athletes struggled.

Following the record achievements in point of importance was the triumphant showing of the New York A. C.'s band of twenty-seven juveniles in the struggle for the team championship. The Mercury footers captured this title with the score of 36 points, just six more than the number attained by the Baltimore Cross-Country Club's representatives, who were second, with 30. The Meadow Brook Club of Philadelphia, with its team of twenty-three athletes, tied with the recently formed Newark A. C., for third honors at 18 points.

Roberts the Individual Star.

The bright, shining light in point of individual accomplishments was Captain Edward R. Roberts of Fort Myer, Va., Uncle Sam's lone army representative. This brawny fighter carried off the 56-pound weight title, finished third in the 16-pound hammer and fourth in the discus throw, thus providing the eight points which are credited to the United States Army in the final point standing. Roberts scored with comparative ease in the 56-pound weight event, in which his winning distance was 31 feet 7⅛ inches. In the 16-pound hammer throw the heavy of 134 feet 6½ inches got for Captain Roberts third medal. A toss of 119 feet 3 inches landed the army man within the select quartet in the discus.

Probably the most spectacular performance was the record leap of De Hart Hubbard, a negro athlete of Cincinnati, who last year was a freshman at the University of Michigan. Competing without club affiliations Hubbard startled the crowd with a record leap of 24 feet 3½ inches in capturing the running broad jump title. His performance was the second record performance in this particular test. Previously A. Dowding of the Illinois A. C. shattered the old mark with a leap of 23 feet 6 inches. The colored jumper flashed a distinctly impressive form of take-off and jump. After clearing 24 feet 3½ inches, subsequent to Dowding's record leap, Hubbard watched from the sidelines as his rivals tried without success to improve on his mark. The old record was 23 feet 1 inch, made by Harry Worthington, old Boston A. A. jumper, in 1914.

In the other record field performance Anthony J. Planaky of the Knights of Columbus, Boston, occupied the limelight. He captured the running hop, step and jump with the remarkable distance of 46 feet 9⅝ inches. This leap bettered the best previous championship record of 46 feet 7½ inches, made by Kaufman Geist of the Ninety-second Street Y. M. H. A., in the title meet two years ago. Planaky's leap gave him the title by almost two feet over his nearest rival.

The walking record was made by Charles Foster, 23-year-old athlete of the Detroit Y. M. C. A., who has been striving for the last twelve years to win a national title. Foster scored a hollow victory in the three-mile heel-and-toe test in the superb time of 23:39 6-10, an improvement of 17 4-10 over the old record of 23:57, made four years ago by Louis Laboyuits of the Pastime A. C. In clearing his record triumph Foster outclassed a field of five rivals, among them Morris Greenberg, Pastime A. C. pedestrian. The Detroit heel-and-toe athlete, who finished third last year in the national seven-mile walking championship, set the pace from the start of the event and made it to suit himself. After crossing the line Foster complained of the lack of opposition and expressed confidence in his ability to walk an even faster three miles.

Greenberg and Foster went off in a struggle for supremacy which started after the first round of the quarter-mile track. Until within a mile and one-quarter of the finish Greenberg clung to his rival's heels. At this stage, however, the Pastime walker began to lose ground and he fell back steadily during the last mile, while Foster proceeded to work up a victorious margin of 150 yards.

Representatives of the New York A. C. accounted for three of the nineteen individual titles in the Mercury Foot's advance on the team championship. Walter Gegan, local timber-topping champion, flashed to victory in his specialty, clearing the fences over the quarter-mile route in 57 6-10 seconds, and finishing with an advantage of fifteen yards on Y. Chittick of the Newark A. C. Otto Wanzer gathered to himself the 16-pound shot title with a heave of 45 feet, just 2 feet 6 inches short of the record, which has withstood assault since 1909. The other title for a Mercury Footer was captured by Charles Ashton in the discus throw, when he got the Greek missile out the winning distance of 133 feet 9 inches.

Mile Run Is Exciting.

The most exciting race of the day came in the mile run, in which a field of fifteen middle-distanceers struggled for the title. W. O. Spencer of the Mississippi A. and M. College breasted the tape a winner after one of the most exciting track duels in the history of the junior title meet. The Mississippi runner won by the width of his chest from William Sullivan, a local aspirant for the title, in a thrilling finish over the closing furlong of the mile. The time was 4:27 9-10. Edward Kirby at the Newark A. C. finished third, five yards back of Sullivan, and B. Booth of the Baltimore Cross-Country Club was fourth.

Spencer ran a heady race in this event. He followed the pace of ambitious rivals until the bell lap and then spurted to the front and in a spectacular neck-and-neck dash through the greater part of the backstretch, around the final turn and through the homestretch, held the position against the determined challenge of Sullivan. Charles Hayne of the Cincinnati Gymnastic and A. C. led the title seekers over the opening quarter-mile, followed by A. T. Kirley of the Pastime A. A. At the half-mile mark Frank McLane of the University of Pittsburgh was in front, with Booth second and Spencer third.

Spencer dropped back to fourth position at the close of the third quarter, but with the bark of the gun on the final circuit, dashed for the lead and held his objective rounding the turn for the backstretch. With the field strung out in the straightaway Sullivan called on his reserve and went out to give Spencer battle. Shoulder to shoulder the pair raced to the last turn and round into the homestretch. Sullivan's strike weakened for a moment, but he quickly recovered and went after Spencer again in a burst of speed which electrified the crowd. On to the wire the pair thundered as a team, but in the final few strides Spencer forged to the front by an infinitesimal margin. So close was the finish that many thought the race a dead heat.

The quarter-mile run produced a similar finish. In this event Douglas Fessenden of Onawa, Iowa, defeated a representative field, which included Dewey Rodgers, former University of Pennsylvania star, who ran for the Meadowbrook Club of Philadelphia. Rodgers showed the way to the furlong pole, where he gave way to Fessenden and Willie Farley, Loughlin Lyceum entrant. Farley flashed a wonderful burst of speed in the drive on the finish line, when, running on the outside, he overhauled Rodgers and then gained Fessenden's shoulder. Fifty yards from the finish Farley showed in front for a flash, but Fessenden came strong, and, with a closing burst of speed, led the Loughlin Lyceum runner to the worsted by inches. A blanket would have covered the four point winners at the finish line. The race was run in 0:52 2-10; two-tenths of a second slower than the fastest heat, which was won by Rodgers.

Bob McAllister, the metropolitan district's "flying cop," captured the 100-yard title in hollow fashion. With a typical demonstration of ability, McAllister shot to the front at the gun bark and thundered down the straightaway to victory by about a yard and a half try Club in 0:22 6-10.

BRAINSTORM WINS THE CEDARHURST

Henry Waterson's black gelding Brainstorm flashed a mile in 1:36 4-5 yesterday afternoon at Belmont Park and that flight of speed was ample to bring the three-year-old son of Peter Pan home alone in front of the three other contenders in the Cedarhurst Handicap, the starred event of the card. Four lengths back of the winner at the finish line was the Chesterbrook Farm's Chesterbrook, while F. E. Brown's recent acquisition from the E. R. Bradley string, Bit o' Black, was third, two lengths farther away. The only other starter, Gifford A. Cochran's June Grass, the odds-on favorite in the race, turned a form somersault and was beaten off.

Ponce took the track with Brainstorm, with the rise of the webbing and rushed into a lead of nearly two lengths in the first quarter. He was never bothered by any of the contenders and the boy took him up in the last sixteenth, crossing the line a cable's length ahead of Chesterbrook, which finished sturdily to wrench the place from Bit o' Black. The winner's time was the best yet recorded in a mile race during this meeting and only one and one-fifth seconds slower than the American racing record for the distance, set by Audacious on the same track last year.

Shamrock Wins Sea Cliff Purse.

The Sea Cliff Purse, a test over the five-and-a-half-furlong course for two-year-olds which had not won as much as $2,500 in races other than selling, resulted in a comparatively easy victory at the close for Chicago O'Brien's colt Shamrock. The Riviera Stable's filly, Miss Star, was second a length away, and R. L. Gerry's black youngster, William Tell, took the remnant of the purse.

The Rancocas Stable's Coeur de Lion was first to show at the start, but soon gave way to Miss Star, which shot to the front and set a merry pace to the half, at which point the fleet Miss Star led Shamrock by a length, the latter being twice that far ahead of Coeur de Lion. Swinging into the stretch, Ensor let Shamrock down, and the Rock View colt soon collared Miss Star and raced her into subjection, to win going away in the fast time of 1:05 2-5. William Tell closed with a rush down the straightaway and headed Coeur de Lion out of the money.

As a speculative proposition the race was a very open affair. Coeur de Lion was the closing favorite at 3 to 1, and was heavily played, as were also William Tell at a trifle longer odds, and Miss Star at 5 to 1.

The Quincy Stable's Poor Sport, a gelded son of Delhi, was graduated from the maiden ranks in the claiming race for two-year-olds which opened the card. Having decided to win a race, this youngster went about the task with much gusto, leaping to the front with the rise of the barrier and drawing constantly further away from the pursuing pack as the race progressed. At the close of the trip of five and a half furlongs the victor was five lengths ahead of H. Acker's filly, Betty Wood, with H. Fleishhacker's Leloba taking third honors.

Plegan Wearies Swinging Into Stretch.

W. R. Coe's Plegan, a newcomer, ran well for a first attempt, keeping nearest to the pace until the swing into the stretch. Then the colt wearied and Betty Wood, always well up, passed him and managed to stand off the challenge of the fast closing Leloba to secure the place by a head.

The Greentree Stable's old timber topper, Mohican, cantered off with the winner's share of the money in the Lawrence Steeplechase Handicap, J. T. McMahon's Frank B. capturing the place ten lengths back of the victor and as far ahead of the Malvern Hills Farm's Sea Wold. The last named, after being well up in the running almost all the way, grew so weary after taking the last hurdle that The Virginian almost nipped him at the wire.

Mohican was the good thing of the race, his price being hammered from a high of 2 to 1 to 7 to 5 at post time. The Virginian and Earlocker, coupled in the betting, shared the position of favorite with the Greentree leaper, but the backers of the pair lost hope when Earlocker, which was counted upon to bring back the bacon, tossed Mahoney from his back at the very first obstruction.

Revenue Service to Patrol British-American Cup Race

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 8.—In order that there shall be no crowding of the course tomorrow when the British and American yacht teams are racing for the British-American Cup, off this port, there will be a strict patrol by United States Government vessels and by vessels deputized to fly the United States Government Revenue Service flag. It is announced by the Special Committee of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club. This committee has the races in charge and it has taken energetic steps to prevent any interference with the racing yachts. A great number of sightseeing vessels are expected by the committee, but it is hoped that those in command will co-operate with the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Club in keeping the course clear.

EASTCOTT DEFEATS ALL-IRELAND FOUR

In the final match for the open championship of the Polo Association, which will be played on Herbert Field of the Rumson Country Club, at Rumson, N. J., this afternoon, the teams will line up as follows:

MEADOW BROOK.
No. 1—F. S. Von Stade.
No. 2—Thomas Hitchcock Jr.
No. 3—E. C. Bacon.
Back—Devereux Milburn.

ARGENTINE.
No. 1—John B. Miles.
No. 2—J. D. Nelson.
No. 3—David B. Miles.
Back—Lewis L. Lacey.

RUMSON, N. J., Sept. 8.—In an exhibition match played on Herbert Field today, the Anglo-American Eastcott team defeated the All-Ireland four by the score of 11 goals to 6. The game was a seven-period match and much slower than the other thrilling tournament matches. Eastcott started out with a rush and scored the first three goals. All-Ireland then warmed up and started an attack which netted two goals. The score was a tie in the fifth when Eastcott sent five goals through in succession after breaking down All-Ireland's defense.

Laddie Sanford was the star of the game, scoring 7 of the 11 points for his team. Keen of eye and speedy, the young player recovered the ball for Eastcott and with fast galloping carried the ball down to pretty goals. Long shots, drives from difficult angles and backstrokes were included in Sanford's brilliant mallet work and goal scoring. Luis Nelson, the Argentine player, proved an able substitute for Captain Goulding and tallied two of the All-Ireland goals.

The two invading teams lined up at 4:30 on Herbert Field, which was put in good shape after yesterday's match. A fair-sized gallery turned out to see the game. Luis Nelson, a substitute on the Argentine team, replaced Captain W. L. A. Goulding at No. 1 for All-Ireland, the Captain laying off on account of an attack of lumbago.

Eastcott took the ball down from the toss-in and Hopping drove it through in forty-five seconds. A half minute later Sanford put it through at the other end of the field. In the second period play centred in All-Ireland's territory and after several hard scrimmages Sanford drove it through for his second goal. All-Ireland rallied, Captain Gill making a cut shot for the Irishmen's first score. The Green and White players carried the ball up again from mid-field and Nelson drove it through for the second score.

Hopping Recovers Ball.

While Nelson and Gill were carrying the ball down Hopping recovered it, drove it along the sideboard and shot it to Hurndall, who sent it through in two and one-half minutes of play in the third period. Nelson missed a try at goal after the knock-in and Hopping drove the ball down and passed it to Sanford, whose long shot at full gallop went true.

The fourth period was hard fought. After Sanford missed, Nelson got on the ball and in a fast gallop drove it through. All-Ireland continued their attack and were outplaying Eastcott just before the bell. Trench carried it through for All-Ireland, who shut out their opponents and needed one point to tie the score at 5-5.

Ireland tied the score in twenty seconds of play in the fifth when Douglas carried it down from the toss-in and made a pretty shot at a very difficult angle for Trench to shove it through. Sanford, who was playing a flashy game, made a clever back-hand stroke for a goal, which put Eastcott again in the lead. Sanford made it 7-6 by shooting another goal as the bell sounded.

Eastcott tallied three goals in the sixth. Hurndall's gallops down the field and Sanford's and Hopping's accurate mallet work featuring the play. All-Ireland was shut out in the period.

Game Cut to Seven Periods.

The game was cut from eight to seven periods. In the final the ball seesawed up and down, with much galloping and open play for the first five minutes when All-Ireland made an attack and Douglas scored. Just before the bell Sanford made another long drive to a spectacular goal. The game ended with the score 11-6.

The line-up:

ALL-IRELAND.	EASTCOTT.
No. 1—L. Nelson.	No. 1—S. Sanford.

YACHTS ARE READY FOR TROPHY RACES

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 8.—The stage is set for the start tomorrow of the first international yacht race since Resolute defended the America's Cup two years ago. Again the yachting battle will be between the United States and Great Britain, but this time the match is for the custody of the British-American Cup, the trophy which was founded last year by members of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club and a number of members from several of the Royal Yacht Clubs of Great Britain, which is now in the possession of the visitors, who won it last year in the initial races off Cowes, Isle of Wight.

This trophy, unlike the matches for the America's Cup, is raced for not by two yachts, but by teams, each country having four yachts in the match. The yachts are of six-meters rating measurement. While they differ from one another in waterline length, displacement and sail area, they all conform to the rating requirement. The average waterline length is about twenty-one feet, so that it may be said the trophy is raced for by twenty-one footers.

The four American boats which will race tomorrow, and every day next week except Sunday and Wednesday, according to present plans, are Grebe, L'Esprit, Clytie and Lea. The British yachts are Ring, Caryl, Jean and Colin III. So far as any one can see, the match will not be decided until the last boat crosses the finish line in the final race, so closely do the teams seem to be matched.

The Britishers have built for heavy weather, and they would consider their chances materially increased should it come on to blow. The sail area of the British yachts is less than that of the American boats, and the hulls are designed to cope with short, choppy seas. The American boats, with their greater sail area and lighter hulls are expected to foot faster if the wind is of the catapaw variety. Nevertheless the visiting team has a couple of light weather boats, and the American four includes two which have proved able in heavy winds, so that it is doubtful if the weather will be so much of a deciding actor as is believed.

Since the yachts race as teams the match will be decided on a point score. Every boat to finish will be credited with one point and an additional point for every boat it defeats, whether of the rival team or of its own team. Thus, if all eight finish, the first boat across the line will receive eight points, the second seven, the third six, and so on down. A yacht failing to finish will receive no credit in points.

The race tomorrow will be started from a line established between Centre Island and Oakpoint Buoys and sailed over a windward-leeward course, to be signaled by the Regatta Committee. The distance to the weather mark will be three nautical miles and the course will be sailed twice around for a total distance of twelve nautical miles. The warning signal, wind permitting, will be given at 1:30 P. M., daylight saving time, and the gun for the start will be fired ten minutes later.

It will not be difficult to follow the performance of the individual yachts, as each carries a racing number near the top of the Marconi mainsails. The number on the British yachts is preceded by the letter K, the number of the American yachts is surmounted by the numeral 6 above a black bar.

The roster of each team, with the helmsmen, owners and the amateurs in the crew, follows:

AMERICAN TEAM.

No. 2, Grebe, Richard Boardman, helmsman; E. Townsend Irvin and E. N. Boardman.

No. 6, L'Esprit (owned by William P. Childs), sailed by Butler Whiting, Cornelius Shields and Burton Hart.

No. 9, Clytie, Henry B. Plant, owner and helmsman, H. B. Nevins.

BRITISH TEAM.

No. 1, Ring, Captain R. T. Dixon, helmsman, and Norman Clark Neill, owner.

No. 13, Caryl, W. S. Robertson, owner and helmsman, C. G. MacAndrew and J. S. Aspin.

No. 10, Jean (Sir John Ward, owner), sailed by Sir Ralph Gore and Lady Gers.

No. 20, Colin III (owned by G. J. Stephens), J. G. Stephen, helmsman, and J. H. M. Clark.

BANZAI LEADS N. Y. THIRTIES INTO PORT

Intersclub Cruise Ends With Race From Stamford Yacht Club to Huntington Bay.

HUNTINGTON, L. I., Sept. 8.—Commodore Edmund Lang's Banzai led the fleet of the intersclub cruise into this port today. It was the final run, the fleet coming here from the Stamford Yacht Club. The weather was perfect, with the wind coming from east northeast at the start and with enough strength to bury lee rails. Later in the afternoon the breeze hauled to the south, which gave the craft practically a beat for the whole race.

The 30-foot division was the largest class to fill. Banzai, which was sailed by Captain Tod Currier, won by 39 seconds from Silhouette, the property of R. H. Amberg. In the handicap class Commodore C. A. Marsland's Azor again was the first across the finish line. This yacht has been sailing throughout the cruise with a crew made up of women. They are Miss Evelyn Marsland, Miss Edith Mead, Miss Edna Masury and Miss Alice Lampheer.

The fleet will stay here tonight and will be entertained by the Huntington Bay Club. Tomorrow the yachtsmen proceed at will to the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club to see the first race of the international six-meter series.

SUSPICIONS AND FACTS.

Some weeks ago Mr. HENRY FORD bluntly gave it as his opinion that the leaders of the striking railway and miners' unions were really in the pay of Wall Street. His line of reasoning was simple. The strikes made troubled waters in which speculators could catch good fish. Moreover, industrial troubles always work out to the advantage of those in control of capital. They will be sure in the end to recoup themselves handsomely for any temporary losses which they may suffer. What, then, could be more natural than for the Detroit philosopher to assume that the disturbances certain to inure to the benefit of rich men had been instigated and paid for by them? This conclusion of Mr. FORD's is not unlike that of some disgruntled labor leaders, who now complain that the railroad brotherhoods which refused to strike had "sold out."

All such violent suspicions are doubtless to be dismissed as unfounded. There may be isolated instances of corruption, or of blackmail, on the part of men prominent in labor organizations, but as a rule they are not open to the charge of outright dishonesty. Yet stupidity may lead to results as harmful as lack of integrity. Mistakes of judgment made on behalf of labor unions, and persistence by their leaders in a course of action that has been shown to be perverse and injurious, may have an effect not unlike that referred to by HENRY FORD. The labor leaders do not intend it, but they sometimes play as directly into the hand of their supposed capitalistic enemies as if they had taken money to do it. President LEWIS of the United Mine Workers is boasting, as in duty bound, of the great victory which they have won; but when the final balance comes to be struck, when the indirect effect of increased cost of production begins to take its toll from the pockets of the humblest workmen, it may appear that the victory was painfully hollow.

HUMOR AND THE LAW.

While we shall all have to pay roundly for the strike which seems to be dissolving, if one may use the expression, like an injunction, it is some intellectual and moral consolation to see that the country swarms with confident lay lawyers, "great constitutional lawyers." If these gentlemen distrust the courts, it must be because they trust so thoroughly in their own powers and wisdom. On Thursday the Chairman of the Central Strike Committee here telegraphed Senator BORAH, demanding, in behalf of the New York striking shopmen, the instant impeachment of Attorney General DAUGHERTY and Judge WILKERSON of Chicago for the high crime and misdemeanor of issuing the strike injunction. On Friday the delegates to the Central Trade and Labor Council called upon the Senate, "through Senator BORAH, to immediately institute "impeachment proceedings" against these officials "for malfeasance of "[sic] office by their act in disregarding Article I. of the Constitution and "Section 20 of the Clayton act of "Congress."

Apparently these jurists expect that Senator BORAH will prepare articles of impeachment, and, with other "impeachment managers" chosen by the Senate, prosecute them before the House of Representatives, sitting as a Court of Impeachment. The process is novel, and one almost feels that these stern resolutions were not passed without a wink. Some of the delegates, or lay judges, displayed considerable talent for humor and sarcasm. One of them said candidly that he hadn't read the injunction and wasn't going to read it, for he might violate it. That is judicial impartiality in a high degree. Impeachment is one of the easiest remedies for hotheads to suggest. Congressmen often lightly mention it when they are aggrieved. It has turned up in Congress, of course, as it has in the Strike Committee and the Council. A successful impeachment even for substantial causes is mighty rare. The injunction matter belongs to the court, and when proceedings have reached the impeachment stage one may conjecture that the life has oozed out of the strike and that the strikers and their friends are merely starting a counter-attack to save their faces.

The leaders of the American Federation of Labor are cold to impeachment. They are going to look to Congress, though not hopefully. Meanwhile, organized labor, which has made such a fight against the tyranny of injunctions, is itself seeking an injunction. If at first sight this seems humorous on account of the long-continued and continuing opposition, it is solid common sense. The most clear-sighted men in organized labor now see that the injunction is sauce for the goose as well as the gander; can protect as well as restrain labor. So two officers of the shop-craft organization have asked the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for a temporary injunction restraining the District Attorney and the Marshal from enforcing the Chicago temporary injunction. Their bill of complaint is clever and plausible. Whatever the decision upon their application, they have taken the right method. They are fighting law with law.

On the whole, in spite of some heated talk, the course of the strikers and of organized labor generally has been creditable. There seems to be behind it an essential moderation and a sufficient sense of humor.

HIS PAY.

One of the most touching cantos of the great epic of Senator HIRAM JOHNSON was his clinging to his post in the Senate last Summer, though his interest called him to the Golden West and his primary campaign. In an affecting telegram he told his constituents that, much as he would love to be among them, he had to stay in Washington till the duties on California products had been accepted by the Senate. They were. The San Francisco Chronicle says of him:

> He has so cared for the interest of California as to give a great boost to the prosperity of the State. He will continue in Washington to promote the welfare of California.

For that prosperity every American who buys almonds, olives, dates, figs, lemons, shelled walnuts, will have to pay. The steep duties on shelled almonds and shelled walnuts, indispensable to the confectioners and bakers, every buyer of candies and cakes in which these articles are used will have to shell out. The American people will have to pay for the tariff-brought prosperity of California. No blame attaches to Mr. JOHNSON. Tariffs are made in this way. Each Senator must get a fat slice of protection for the bawling "infant" industries of his State. To do it, he must see that the mouth of every bawling overgrown "industry" of every other protection State is stuffed with subsidy. Logroll, swap, divide—that is the system. Possibly the unregarded, all-paying consumer can't be duped by it much longer.

THE NEW JERSEY GOVERNORSHIP.

The New Jersey primary will not see those devoted friends Judge GEORGE S. SILZER and State Banking Commissioner WILLIAM E. TUTTLE contending for the Democratic nomination as Governor. On physician's orders Mr. TUTTLE has retired from the contest. Thus the candidate of Mayor HAGUE of Jersey City will be pitted against Senator RUNYON, the Republican candidate for Governor. Judge SILZER is "a friend of the workingman," an advocate of five-cent trolley fares (they are now in places seven and eight cents) and a "wet" without mental reservations. He recently came out squarely for beer and light wines. "The present prohibition laws," he said, "and the methods of enforcing "them have produced a chaotic and "unsatisfactory condition."

Judge SILZER has never hid his light under a bushel. He is an adroit politician and an able campaigner. As a candidate for Governor he will have the loyal and energetic support of the organization Democrats. In the banner county of Hudson he should run well. He should also be strong in Essex County, for the Volstead act is not popular there. Of the five-cent trolley fare "slogan" the Judge will not have a monopoly. The Republicans recognize that it is a vote-getter. In all parts of the State the higher rates are regarded with disfavor. Senator RUNYON has pledged himself to seek reduced rates by legislation. The Bacharach law, which would deprive the Federal courts of statutory authority to regulate utility rates within States, found an ardent supporter in Judge SILZER. He has many strings to his bow. In announcing his candidacy in June he cited his services in aiding EVERETT COLBY to enact the Railroad Commission and the Public Utility Commission laws. He had a good deal to do with drafting the Geran Election law, which gave New Jersey a direct primary, and as a State Senator he was active in procuring legislation desired by the labor unions, such as the first Workmen's Compensation law and the law requiring the payment of railroad employés twice a month. Senator RUNYON and Judge SILZER are warm personal friends. There will be no personalities in the Gubernatorial campaign, yet no quarter will be shown.

AIRPLANE ACCIDENTS.

If there were a good Federal aviation law, such shocking accidents as that at the Rutland Fair, in which Lieutenant MAYNARD, Lieutenant WOON and CHARLES MONNETT, a mechanic, lost their lives, would seldom occur. As Lieutenant MAYNARD, the pilot, was an expert aviator with several years of experience in France and in this country, the presumption is that his engine went wrong, either because it had been used so much as to be unsafe or from want of the thorough inspection which a Federal law would require. It is to be feared that much flying makes the best of aviators overconfident. This seems to be particularly the case when they give exhibitions over fair grounds. A motor that has worked satisfactorily in many ascents is assumed to be accident-proof when a close examination might reveal defects. Unfortunately there is no real regulation of flying outside of the army and navy, the Post Office Department, and those commercial companies that make a business of carrying passengers over advertised routes.

It was calculated in August that 1,400 airplanes were being operated for passenger and freight transportation in the United States. This estimate may be supposed to include exhibition planes used at fairs and the Summer resorts. Any one who can command the purchase price may acquire a plane and operate it for pleasure or profit. Many second-hand machines are sold to speculators who want to turn an "honest penny" by offering their services to the first comer. Managers of fairs succumb to the temptation to engage aviators without looking into their qualifications. No license is required of these speculative operators and there is no guarantee that their machines are sound. While accidents in the well-regulated Post Office service are infrequent, there are many needless fatalities in the course of the year among unattached aviators and their patrons—needless because there is no adequate inspection and the operators are not under the necessity of proving their skill and experience. It seems preposterous that an examination is not required of them when the driver of an automobile cannot get a license until he satisfies the State Motor Department that he is competent.

THE WAY OUT AT ATHENS.

The Greek Ministry has resigned. Apparently, when the seriousness of the defeat in Anatolia was first recognized, the Premier and his colleagues looked around and picked out the nearest exit. According to all speculations on Near Eastern politics, that was afforded by STRIGIADES, Governor of Smyrna, and the only Venizelist sympathizer retained in high office after the return of CONSTANTINE. Ever since the failure of the campaign against Angora in September, 1921, there has been talk of a transition Ministry which should ease the shifting of power from GOUNARIS and other members of the Constantinist group to VENIZELOS. But it may be that the royalists are not yet ready to let go their power; as it is certain that STRIGIADES has enough on his hands in Smyrna just now.

So KALOGEROPOULOS, Premier in the Spring of 1921, has been asked to form a new Ministry. It may be of interest to recall the steps by which the present ruling parties came back to power after the election of Nov. 14, 1920, which turned out VENIZELOS. First the aged former Premier RHALLES took over the Government, and under him CONSTANTINE returned. With the call for the Near Eastern conference in London in March, 1921, where a vain effort was made to harmonize Greek and Turkish, English and French interests, a younger and more vigorous man, more closely connected with the ruling groups, was needed. GOUNARIS, the head and centre of the anti-Venizelist extremists, was the logical man; but he was in great disfavor in England, and still more so in France. Hence KALOGEROPOULOS, who had been Finance Minister under RHALLES, took over the direction of the Government, with GOUNARIS at his side as Minister of War. After the failure of the London conference the Greek delegates went home and decided to try to fight it out, and when this happened the leadership of the Government was transferred to GOUNARIS in form as well as in fact.

The campaign of 1921 was by no means a piece of reckless folly, and it came near attaining at least so much success as would be implied by the capture of Angora. But in the end it failed, and since then things have been getting worse in Greece. GOUNARIS had to give up the Premiership last Spring, but was able to prevent the formation of a Government in any sense hostile to him. Under PAPOULIAS he has still been the leading man of Greece next to the King. But how a change is necessary, and KALOGEROPOULOS, the last step but one in the series that brought GOUNARIS to power, is the first step on the way out. It is too early to predict the return of VENIZELOS, for today, as twenty-four centuries ago, there are apparently Greeks who would rather be ruined under a man of their own party than win under another. But Venizelist Generals have been welcomed in Smyrna; for the present danger is a danger to the whole nation and not to any one party.

The exact situation is not clear. The Father of Lies would be quite at home in Constantinople, and equally pleased with the sort of Near Eastern "news" that is given out in Paris. For example, Constantinople has "confirmed" the reports that MUSTAPHA KEMAL's army numbers 350,000 men. If that is true, then Boston is going to win both big league pennants.

"MYTH" OF A GENERAL STRIKE.

Mr. GOMPERS knew all along, of course, that a general strike is impossible, and even if it were possible he would be the last of all labor leaders to invoke it. But he received multitudinous letters calling for a general strike and shrewdly made use of that fact. The idea, however, was something a little more serious to those who conceived it. When W. Z. FOSTER wrote his "Syndicalism" he believed in it, or said he did. He acknowledged that the strikers themselves would be the first and worst sufferers from the deprivation of fuel and food, but said that by seizing shops and warehouses they would be able to resume production and distribution under a new and better order. But the great champion, philosopher and—eventually—critic of syndicalism had no such illusion. GEORGES SOREL was an engineer who had made himself financially independent before he gave his leisure to radicalism. Keenly as he felt the need of a new social and economic order, he knew the limitations of the workman. To him the general strike was quite the contrary of a feasible program—what in his "Reflexions sur la Violence" he called a "social myth." Though he regarded it as essential to the syndicalist propaganda, he knew that nothing could be more fatal to the cause than to make a periodical test of its reality.

Every great popular movement, SOREL said, must centre in a conception that cannot be either proved or disproved. In every human soul there is "a metaphysical hearth-altar." Such is the nature of humanity that the things we know familiarly have little power to move us. All great religions centre in the miraculous. In order to command the pure passion of belief, an idea must not be so—credo quia impossibile! KARL MARX knew this well. The myth he employed was the cataclysmic social revolution, leading to proletarian democracy through a brief transition period of dictatorship.

SOREL did not believe in democracy, and made a mock of equality. Syndicalism is anarchism "possibilized"; its goal is not democracy, but a thing which SOREL conceived as its opposite and negation, liberty—a world in which ability rises inevitably to leadership. That is not to be easily or speedily achieved, but SOREL valued the myth of the general strike as a means of inspiring the masses of workmen and solidifying their ranks—or he did so until his acute mind tired of syndicalist dreams.

It may be noted that President LEWIS of the Mine Workers has little interest in the general strike. He is dealing not in myths but in realities. A famine in coal was quite enough for his purpose—merely the threat of a fireless Winter. He is not at all mythical, and is distressingly unsocial.

DRAWN-OUT "HEARINGS."

The Board of Estimate announces hearings on the Mayor's $600,000,000 subway plan, to be prolonged all through the political campaign. Curiously, the Mayor's home borough, one of the city's most populous, is far down on the list. The Transit Commission is even more above suspicion of playing politics than the Mayor, and it urges the corresponding routs in its plan for immediate execution. The boroughs across the East River imperatively need routes paralleling the north and south routes in Manhattan. The physical differences between the routes of the Mayor and the commission are less than the differences in the methods of setting about construction. The Transit Commission proposes a small and immediate expenditure for the extension of existing lines. The Mayor would give transit relief to Brooklyn and Queens only tardily, awaiting disintegration of the system which the Transit Commission intends to strengthen and enlarge.

Recapture of the routes necessary for the Mayor's plan is possible only after years of delay, and in the background will lie the immense difficulty of financing. Plainly, a part of the Mayor's hope that his scheme will prove popular lies in its requiring the expenditure of many millions through many years. But it can hardly be popular in Brooklyn indefinitely to postpone its hopes. Much the same must be true of the Mayor's placing of the Brooklyn-Richmond tunnel at the bottom of his list. Those who build subways quickly and cheaply give double relief. In that respect the Transit Commission's plan is far superior to the Mayor's, and will particularly commend itself to the residents in Brooklyn and Richmond.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

An Inquiry Promptly Terminated.

For one or another of several reasons that might be imagined, the most frequently audible of the city's Commissioners, DAVID HIRSHFIELD, chose to get from The Tribune reporter who recently acquired a lot of first-hand information about the treatment of street vendors under this Administration, not as much, but as little, of that information as he could.

The reporter was quite willing to tell all that he had seen and heard during the several days when he pushed a cart himself and talked with dozens of other men who did the same thing, not as investigators, but to earn a living. Before the interrogation had well begun, however—as soon as the collection of money from unlicensed vendors came up—Mr. HIRSHFIELD ran the inquiry into what he must have known was a stone wall at which its program along that particularly interesting line would stop. This he did by asking the name of the man who gave the money and in confidence had told the reporter about it.

Of course, the result was a refusal to answer, and then came the familiar threats to do terrible things to a witness who, without claiming privilege under the "incriminate and degrade" exemption, yet chose not to betray the confidence of his informant.

For such a refusal there are at least as many reasons as for the eliciting of it, but they differ from the others in being—well, avowable, which is a considerable distinction. Though the law does not allow, clearly and distinctly, to newspaper men the sort of exemption from giving testimony that it gives to priests, doctors and lawyers, yet in effect the law has recognized the fact that the ends of justice and the interests of society are best served when the journalist is permitted, in proper cases, to conceal the identity of informants who would or might suffer persecution if it were revealed.

Now and then a reporter or editor has gone to jail for such concealments, but never has his seclusion been more than brief, and nobody thinks of attaching anything of moral turpitude to his offense. It is the duty of journalism, on fit occasion, to disclose abuses; it is not the duty of journalism to do for public officials the work which they are paid to perform.

Now Another Monopoly Has Departed.

For the first time since 1904 the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association is to be held next month in this city. It will be, of course, a highly important gathering, and one interesting feature of it will be its revelation that banking is no longer an activity entirely masculine.

Ten years ago, though there then were no women holding official positions in banks, the elder JAMES STILLMAN prophesied to Miss MINA BAUERS, now manager of the women's department of the Central Trust Company, that in time there might be women Vice Presidents of banks. He was too cautious. Though the highest bank title held by a woman in New York is Assistant Secretary, in other parts of the country several women have risen to the post of President, and in minor positions they are numerous all over the country.

It is natural, therefore, that at the coming convention women will play a prominent part. For one thing, there is to be a committee of women who are to act as guides, counselors and friends of the men delegates, telling them where to go, what to do and—presumably—how to behave amid the metropolitan excitements and temptations. A part of this committee's duty will be to look after the wives and daughters of the stranger bankers and to see to it that they do not have such a dull time as did the wives and daughters of such bankers in 1904. At their service will be 136 girls, all warranted bright and all secretaries of bankers, who have released them for this kindly purpose while the convention is in session.

But there—bankers always had wives and daughters and took care of them fairly well, even in the darkling past. What really is new is the invasion by women of a business which until recently was regarded as equally remote from their interest and their competence. Now they are showing both the interest and the competence, and it is safe enough to say that not many of them will in the long last make the confessions with which Mr. HUTCHINSON's Rosalie closes her career as a banker.

Guarded as Well as Exploited

It would be well if all the States were as careful as is the State of Maine in compelling the strict observance of sanitary precautions at all Summer camps within their boundaries. Several other States, indeed, are awake to the necessity for such supervision, and, as a result, it is by no means so common now as it used to be for vacationists to return from their seasonal outings with the germs of typhoid and other like maladies concealed about their interiors, ready for the starting of brisk little epidemics in their home cities.

Governor BAXTER of Maine is properly proud, and therefore divulges, that he has received a highly commendatory letter from Dr. J. J. NUTT, chief surgeon of the New York State Hospital for Crippled Children, telling what he himself saw of the inspection service performed at the Summer camps by Maine's Commissioner of Health, Dr. C. F. KENBALL, and by WALTER J. BRENNAN of the Division of Sanitary Engineering.

All this is enlightened self-interest. Summer visitors and campers are profitable to a State, and it is good sense to make them safe as well.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

With what strange inconsistency of logic a public will withdraw a helping hand from a legless beggar and his kind when their incomes and living conditions have been revealed to be above the general consumption of institute mendicancy, and then, on the other hand, or with the other hand, dive deep into its pockets to bring forth the inevitable coin of "tip" which the ever-hovering "tip vulture" extorts!

We deny and spurn the legless, armless and blind beggar who holds out his hat of pencils to catch the coin of the passer-by. Let us even hasten to report him to the Association for the Suppression of Mendicancy, but let us not cease to contribute to the prosperity of these sleek, well-fed, well-groomed, diamond-studded lords of the restaurant and hotel dining room.

For myself, if I had to choose between contributing to the purchase of a flivver or a pair of artificial legs for a legless beggar and the purchase of a car or a string of pearls for some of these rich waiters—well, I would drop a coin in the beggar's hat, any day! T. E. SIMPSON.

SECURITY OF MARRIAGE.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Perhaps the members of the Security of Marriage Association that Mr. GWYNNE represents feel sure enough in their own minds of the exact form that the marriage institution should take. But would they find anything like universal agreement with their views, or even agreement among the more enlightened sections of the public? The Federal enactment for the District of Columbia, for instance, which he cites as "an excellent model for the whole country," apparently contains no provision for divorce, or even legal separation, on the ground of insanity, or conviction for felony.

Now the members of his association may take the view that insanity, or conviction for felony, should not be a ground for divorce. If so, it would, of course, be impossible to prove that they are wrong; as proof, in a scientific sense, cannot be applied to questions of this sort. But it would be rash to predict that an enlightened public opinion will continue to hold this view. Moreover, to expect of Congress a permanent solution of this problem—a solution that will meet the views of an enlightened opinion which is itself in process of evolution — is to assume a wisdom on the part of that body which, in this year 1922, is scarcely visible to the naked eye.

Your correspondent speaks of divorce as having "brought our country down to the lowest grade, as regards marriage, among all Christian nations." This in the face of the fact that illegitimate births in this country are from 3 to 4 per cent., in European countries from 5 to 15 per cent, and in Central and South America anywhere from 25 to 50 per cent. As Dr. Percy Stickney Grant pointed out the other day, the extra-marital and clandestine relations between sexes in countries where divorce is not permitted—France, Italy, Spain—are hardly such as to support the arguments of those who oppose it on the grounds of "sanctity of the family."

True enough, the status of marriage in this country is far from perfect. But the increase in divorce is but a symptom. Do the opponents of divorce think that where marriage has spelled unhappiness we can be turned back to the ways of our Puritan forebears by a change in the law? Or do they think that more rigid laws will change the character of those who lack the moral stamina to accept its restraints? The causes lie far beyond the law. Perhaps they may be found in a lowering of our moral standards; perhaps in an accentuation of our individuality—in an increasing sense of psychic separateness and aloofness, each from the rest of his world. But whatever the cause, we can never give sanctity to marriage by holding together those who have become embittered; we can only make of it a whited sepulchre.

Should we attempt to set in a permanent and rigid mold an institution which is in a state of flux and evolution? Not unless we are sure that our views—or the views of the early Church Councils—constitute the last word to be said on the subject. If not, isn't the trial and error method the only way out? And isn't there a better chance of arriving at a solution by letting this method be applied in the several States than by putting it in the hands of Congress?

Arbitration Between Principals.

While many baffling problems have been brought to the surface in these last two strikes, numerous popular fallacies which have done much to "muddy the waters" in past conflicts between capital and labor have been shattered, and that is a gain. When an industrial outbreak is threatened there is a clamor for the President to intervene. Then it is proposed to have the Government take over the railroads and the coal mines, but the trouble is that it would not take over the coal miners nor the shopmen, and the Government would thus be confronted with identically the same propositions as are faced by the private operators. * * *

The only kind of arbitration which really means arbitration is that whereby each side elects its own representatives with no outside parties representing the public, and if they cannot agree they select an umpire or fight it out. In ninety-five cases out of a hundred a decision is reached by this method. The late Seth Low, who probably had as much experience as any public man in dealing with industrial disputes, once declared that he would never again favor having a representative of the public on any arbitration board. This conclusion was reached as the result of his experience as a representative of the public on the commission named by President Wilson to arbitrate in the controversy between the Eastern railroads and the railway brotherhoods. After listening for two months to the testimony of engineers, statisticians, accountants and experts on both sides, they handed down a decision which, within a week, they had to admit they could not interpret themselves.

The Mysterious Piano Stool.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. W. De Witt Barnett under the title, "The Fiedermaus Trap," in THE TIMES today, gave us a very interesting mystery to solve. It is very mysterious how a piece of cheese could get on the piano stool, three feet from the mouse trap. However, in describing the incident, he gave us a still greater mystery to solve: How did the piano stool get into the kitchen?

THE GYPSIES CAME.

They came in the night and lighted
Their fires along the hill,
And now there is song and laughter—
Yesterday was so still!

There is a lad with a fiddle
Plays for the rest to dance;
In his ears are yellow earrings,
He has a bold, wild glance.

He sways and sings as he fiddles—
I cannot understand,
But I know his long, brown fingers
Are calling to my hand.

And the song he sings is calling,
So wild and strangely sweet,
I can feel a dancing tingle
Go through my sober feet.

My thoughts are all as strange and wild
As what he sings and plays,
And I would follow where he goes
And live his careless ways.

And that they cannot stay!
The sheriff came this afternoon
And ordered them away.

What would my father think, or you,
So strong and sure of me,
If you should guess the thoughts I think,
My longing to be free?

I wonder would you wake a bit
Or be as peaceful quite,
If I should take the trail with them
Across the hills tonight!

RUSSIAN RELIEF REDUCED.

Major Wardwell is Investigating Further Famine Needs.

MOSCOW, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The American Red Cross Commission, headed by Major Allen Wardwell, appointed to investigate Russia's famine needs for all the American charitable organizations, has arrived in Moscow to find millions crying for a continuance of the American Relief Administration rations, which have just been cut off. At the same time reports indicate that the harvest will be sufficient to supply most Russians with food.

From one end of the Volga to the other adults long accustomed to receiving rations of American corn are petitioning the local committees to continue their work.

Colonel William M. Haskell, chief of the American Relief Administration's organization in Russia, returned to Moscow yesterday. The spectacle of feeding, he said, was being rapidly reduced to care only for the most needy, particularly refugee children.

The Russian Government has also ordered a reduction in its famine relief. Officials say that the problem of feeding the hungry in places where the harvest is bad has now become a task of transportation, as obviously there is enough grain in the country, and the collection of the "natural tax" is proceeding.

Colonel Haskell says that the program of medical relief is to be much extended, as the typhus epidemic has again become threatening. This disease failed to vanish during the Summer months, and is now widely prevalent. Malaria also has broken out particularly in the Samara district, where thousands are ill and unable to work in the fields. The relief administration is rushing a special shipment of quinine there to combat the disease.

An agreement signed with the Russian Government by the American representative of the Russian Red Cross provides for the delivery of food, clothing and other necessities to persons in Russia upon the purchase of orders from the Russian Red Cross in America. The agreement, which stipulates a favorable exchange rate, is effective Oct. 1, and by Nov. 1 will be operative practically everywhere in Russia. A 10 per cent. charge for services, to be made when the orders are purchased in America, will be used for charitable purposes.

KHARKOV, Sept. 8.—The Ukraine is already feeling a food shortage, due to the drought in some districts. While the northern part of the country reports that crops are generally good, the south has not nearly enough to feed itself during the Winter. Ukrainian officials say that help from the outside is necessary, particularly for the children in the villages, as the drought is severe in the regions around Alexandrovsk, where the American Relief Administration is feeding 30,000 persons.

PASSES BILL FOR 25 JUDGES.

Senate, 32 to 16, Finally Disposes of Conference Compromise.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The long-delayed Administration bill providing twenty-five additional Federal Judges was finally completed today by the Senate, and upon action by the House, planned next week, the measure will go to President Harding.

By a vote of 32 to 16 the Senate today adopted the conference compromise on the bill, which was passed last December by the House and last April by the Senate. The conference report now goes before the House for final disposition of the legislation which authorizes the President to appoint twenty-four more Federal District Judges, distributed over the country, and an additional Judge for the Fourth Circuit.

The vote came without debate, opposition having been allayed by recent technical changes.

The bill has been urged by the Department of Justice and the American Bar Association as necessary to relieve clogged Federal Court calendars. Opponents contended that most of the additional judges were unnecessary. The bulk of the Senate opposition was Democratic, only five Democratic Senators—Ashurst of Arizona, Fletcher of Florida, Ransdell of Louisiana, Trammell of Florida and Walsh of Massachusetts—voting for the conference report. Three Republicans—Borah of Idaho, Capper of Kansas and McNary of Oregon—voted with the Democratic opponents.

CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL TODAY

2,000 to Take Part in Playgrounds' Program at Sheep Meadow.

The Sheep Meadow in Central Park this afternoon will be the scene of a playground festival in which more than two thousand children will take part. James V. Mulholland, Supervisor of Recreation, in announcing the festival, calls attention to the fact that fifty-five park playgrounds were opened in Manhattan this Summer by Park Commissioner Francis D. Gallatin, and that some of the many prizes won by the children will be distributed at the festival this afternoon as a fitting climax to a successful Summer season. Irish jigs and sailors' hornpipes, a bow-and-arrow dance and drill will be among the special numbers on the program, which will begin at 2:30.

The Department of Plant and Structures is co-operating with the Department of Parks and will take the children in buses from their various park playgrounds to the Sheep Meadow. Among the playgrounds which will contribute numbers to the program are Hamilton Fish, Corlears Hook, Seward, Tompkins Square, Five Points, Cherry and Market Streets, St. Gabriel's, Carmansville, Colonial, Astor Field, Watergate, Chelsea, De Witt Clinton, St. Catherine's, John Jay, Carl Schurz, Thomas Jefferson, Mount Morris Park and Yorkville.

TO TEST SUPER-BOMBER.

Largest Airplane Constructed in United States Soon to Have Trial.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Interest in aviation will be increased, army experts expect, in the forthcoming trials at Fairfield, Ohio, of the largest airplane constructed in the United States. The machine, a super-bomber triplane with a wing spread of 127 feet and carrying six Liberty motors, totaling 2,400 horsepower, will have an estimated speed of 100 miles an hour, with a carrying load of 20,000 pounds. Its construction was begun in 1919 and carried forward secretly at the Whittemann Aircraft Company's plant, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J.

Parts of the triplane recently sent from the New Jersey shops had to be shipped by circuitous routes to the Ohio station to get tunnel clearance for them on the railways. The six motors are set in three pairs with one puller and one pusher to each group. The total weight of the machine, including the carrying load, will be 30,000 pounds. A cruising radius of 1,800 miles is called for by the specifications, exceeding by hundreds of miles the radius of bombing machines now in the service.

The machine will be known as the Barling bomber, in honor of W. E. Barling, its designer, who is said to be a British designer of war aircraft.

DEMANDS RELICS OF ATTILA.

Hungary Asks Return of Antiques Taken by Hapsburgs.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The gold plates, goblets and other relics of Attila the Hun, now in Vienna, will be demanded returned to Hungary, it was learned today.

The Hungarians assert that these ancient objects were illegally transferred from Hungary to Austria by the Hapsburgs. The question of ownership will be submitted to arbitration if Austria does not return the precious antiques voluntarily.

HUGHES PROCLAIMS PAN-AMERICAN AIMS

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Speaking to the American residents of Rio de Janeiro today at the dedication of the site for an American Centennial monument at the exposition grounds, Charles E. Hughes, the American Secretary of State, explained the attitude of the United States toward the South American countries as one in which all imperialistic sentiment was lacking and defined what he described as the basis of Pan-American sentiment.

"You, my fellow-countrymen," said Mr. Hughes, "know full well how sincerely we desire the independence, the unimpaired sovereignty, the political integrity and the constantly increasing prosperity of the people of Latin America. We have our domestic problems incident to the expanding life of a free people; but there is no imperialistic sentiment among us to cast even a shadow across the pathway of our neighbors.

"We covet no territory, we seek no conquests; the liberty we claim for ourselves we desire for others, and we assert no rights for ourselves that we do not accord to others. We earnestly desire to see throughout this hemisphere an abiding peace, a reign of justice and the diffusion of the blessings of beneficent co-operation. It is this desire which forms the basis of Pan-American sentiment."

Mr. Hughes cited as examples of co-operation meetings of various organizations representing the countries of Pan-America at the centennial celebration, such as archaeologists, historians and engineers. Continuing, he said:

"The people of the United States and Brazil are alike devoted to the ideals of peace. It is a disposition to peace that alone can assure peace. We of this hemisphere are happy to be free from any menace of aggression. Many of the most important controversies have been solved or are in process of solution. Why should we not have an enduring peace and the benefits of co-operation?

"We have different stocks and traditions, but we cherish the same aspirations, the same longing for the reign of law. We derive our strength from the same spiritual forces."

The monument which is to be erected will be a gift of the American people to the Brazilian people. It will be of fall shaft supporting a bronze figure symbolizing friendship.

Thousands of uniformed school children paraded the Avenida Rio Branco this afternoon as part of the Brazilian centennial celebration. This evening a reception given by the Japanese Ambassador proved a most brilliant function.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 8.—The Brazilian centenary was celebrated yesterday in Santiago with a popular demonstration before the Brazilian Embassy, where a brilliant reception was held, and also by the display of the Brazilian and Chilean flags everywhere.

A military torchlight procession was held last night through the principal streets, which were crowded. The day was decreed a national holiday.

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—A reception was held this evening at the Brazilian Legation to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Brazilian independence. Practically the entire Brazilian colony attended. The German Foreign Office was represented by Under Secretary von Simson. Chancellor Wirth sent a congratulatory message to M. Guerra Duvall, the Brazilian Minister.

The Brazilian colony in Hamburg also celebrated Independence Day. Numerous Brazilian flags were to be seen in the principal business streets, on the Boerse and flying from private dwellings. German and foreign vessels in the harbor were also dressed in honor of the occasion. The Brazilian Consulate General in Hamburg was closed on Thursday, as the officials came to Berlin to celebrate the centennial.

CHRISTIANIA, Sept. 8.—King Haakon of Norway conferred upon President Epitacio Pessoa of Brazil, on the occasion of the Brazilian centenary, the Grand Cross, with chain, of the Order of St. Olaf.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Secretary Hughes and most of the members of the United States Commission to the Brazilian Centennial Exposition will return home on the dreadnought Maryland, leaving Rio de Janeiro Sept. 12, according to a radio message received from Mr. Hughes by Acting Secretary Phillips today. The Maryland is the flagship of Admiral Hilary P. Jones, commanding the Atlantic fleet. Judge Edward Finch of New York City and D. L. Goodwillie of Chicago, members of the commission, will return with Secretary Hughes.

JOHN H. FLAGLER, CAPITALIST, DIES

FOUNDED NATIONAL TUBE CO.

John H. Flagler, capitalist, died in his 85th year at his country home at Greenwich, Conn., last night of pneumonia following an illness of five days which started with an attack of bronchitis. Mr. Flagler, who had retired from all active promotion of business enterprises in which line he founded his fortune, retained his membership in many of the directorates of such companies as the American Union Life Insurance Company and the National Bank of North America up to the time of his death.

He had an office at 200 Broadway and had intended to reopen it on his return to his New York home at 15 Park Avenue this week. He was the son of Harvey K. Flagler of Cold Spring, N. Y., where he was born. Dr. J. M. Schley of New York and Dr. J. Parker of Greenwich were in attendance during his illness.

Mr. Flagler is survived by a widow and daughter, the widow of Baron Hickley, his brother, Harry R. Flagler of Boston, and his sister, Mrs. Herman Stumpf of Bel Air, Md. He was a member of the New York and Larchmont Yacht Clubs, Lotos and Automobile Clubs.

Mr. Flagler was born in Cold Spring, Putnam County, N. Y., a son of Harvey K. and Sarah J. Holdane Flagler. After receiving his education at the academy in Paterson, N. J., Mr. Flagler refused to go to college. At 16 he entered the employ of Haldane & Co., iron dealers of New York, and was made manager of the Boston branch for several years. He left the Haldanes to start the firm of John H. Flagler & Co. in Boston, to manufacture iron and steel. He formed the National Tube Company and was its President until it was merged with the United States Steel Corporation.

The demand for tubing increased through the demands of the growing oil fields of Pennsylvania, the pioneering operations of which required vast quantities of steel tubing. This demand ultimately led Mr. Flagler to establish a Pennsylvania branch. The result was the establishment of the McKeesport branch, which soon became not the branch but the centre of the industry, and the Boston house ceased to exist. The company was reorganized as the National Tube Company, and when its vast plant was merged into the United States Steel Corporation there were 4,500 men on its payroll.

Mr. Flagler was not alone an executive, he was also an inventor of scientific processes of value to the industry.

Mr. Flagler was married three times. His first wife was Ann H. Converse of Boston. They were married in 1856. His second wife was Alice Manderlick, who was a well-known singer, and whom he married in 1898. The marriage in 1921 of Mr. Flagler to Beatrice Vanderbilt Wenneker of Brooklyn attracted much attention. They were married at Copake Falls, a small town at the edge of the Berkshire Hills, and a determined effort was made to keep the marriage secret. The funeral will be held next Tuesday from the New York home.

BUSES RUN DESPITE ORDER.

Attorneys Unable to Serve Notice Upon Manhattan Transit Officials.

Although Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan issued a temporary injunction on Thursday to restrain the Manhattan Transit Company from operating buses from Williamsburg to Long Island City, the buses continued to run yesterday, because the attorneys for the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, on the application of which the injunction was issued, had been unable to serve notice of the order upon the officials of the Manhattan Transit Company.

Justice Callaghan granted another temporary injunction yesterday, this time on application of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, restraining the Manhattan Transit Company from operating its bus lines in Brownsville and Coney Island. Arguments as to whether each injunction shall not be made permanent have been set for next week.

BETTERS SAILPLANE WORK.

Glenn Curtiss Makes Flights of 10 and 17 Seconds' Duration.

Under more favorable weather conditions than prevailed on his first tests Wednesday Glenn Curtiss yesterday made two sustained flights lasting ten and seventeen seconds respectively in his sailplane glider over Manhasset Bay, near Port Washington, L. I. In both instances the glider was propelled into the air by a speed boat which towed it at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

Only two tests were made, as Mr. Curtiss encountered difficulty in finding a suitable towing rope. The underwater drag caused a strain which broke the rope. He said he would try out a wire tow this week.

JULIETTE DAY MARRIES.

Juliette Day, actress, who lives at 160 West Seventy-second Street, was married yesterday to Paul Le Brocque Whitney of 112 West Fifty-ninth Street. The ceremony was performed in the chapel at the Municipal Building by Deputy City Clerk J. J. McCormick.

Mr. Whitney is Vice President of the Whitney Duplicate Check Company and a son of Linwood Whitney. The bride was born in Boston and is a daughter of Jeremiah J. Day.

This is Mr. Whitney's first marriage. Miss Day on Sept. 1 was divorced from Quentin Frederick Hale in Chicago.

Two girls became seriously ill yesterday afternoon after eating lunch in a restaurant in Broadway near Twenty-sixth Street. They were Miss Rose O'Laughlin, 23, of 284 Dyckman Street, and Miss Marion Neill, 24, of 2,572 Hughes Street, Brooklyn, both stenographers for the linen firm of J. W. Goddard & Co., 11 East Twenty-sixth Street.

The food they took, the young women said, consisted of soup, cooked salmon, bread, pie and salad. Dr. Rirdon, physician of the Hotel Latham, attended them and had them taken to their homes. Officials from the Board of Health took samples of food from the restaurant for analysis.

Radio Corporation Promotes Two.

Edward J. Nally, President of the Radio Corporation of America, announced yesterday that the Directors had voted the rank of Vice President to two officials of the company. David Sarnoff, who has been General Manager, was elected Vice President also. He is only 32 years old, but has been with the present radio company and its predecessors for nearly sixteen years. William Maxwell, president and general manager of the Wireless Specialty Apparatus Company, in recognition of his services in the radio department.

SPROUL'S DAUGHTER ARRESTED IN SPEEDSTER

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Mrs. J. Ward Hickson, daughter of Governor Sproul, with two companions, a man and a woman, was arrested tonight and taken to the Snyder Avenue Police Station on a charge of reckless driving in Mrs. Hickson's automobile. The front bumper of the machine had been torn off in collision with a pole.

Governor and Mrs. Sproul were notified at their home in Chester and the Governor hastened to the city to rescue his daughter, but she, with her female companion, had been taken from the police station before his arrival.

Hundreds of curious people were attracted to the vicinity of the police station by the unusual spectacle of a patrol wagon, containing a young man, two women and a police detail, towing in a dark-red speedster automobile bearing the Pennsylvania license tag 777. The knowing ones in the crowd had scarcely hurled the fact that 777 was Governor Sproul's individual motor number, and the prisoners had not yet been unloaded, when one of the women loudly announced, "I am Governor Sproul's daughter."

That, quite naturally, gave the House Sergeant pause, and while the male member of the party was locked in a cell, the women were taken into the Sergeant's room to be examined by the police surgeon and questioned.

A cordon of police was thrown about the station house and all "unknowns" were ordered outside. The speedster was pushed into the yard behind the station house and all firemen and policemen thereabouts were curtly ordered to "hush." The officers who made the arrest were kept about to await the Governor's coming.

Ten minutes before the Governor arrived the two young women, both stylishly dressed, were spirited out the door by a detective and taken away in the detective's automobile.

The Governor, on arriving with his son and another man, went at once to the Lieutenant's room, where the Governor was acquainted with the situation. The officers who made the arrest and a number of detectives attended the conference, which lasted an hour. While no information could be gleaned from the police, and all scenning of the "slate" was denied, the Governor said later the charge against the three was "merely reckless driving."

HYLAN NOT TO SEE BRITONS.

Tells Sulgrave Committee He Will Be Unable to Greet Visitors.

At a luncheon of the Women's Committee of the Sulgrave Institution at the Lawyers' Club, 115 Broadway, yesterday, John A. Stewart, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the American branch of the Sulgrave, said he had received a letter from Mayor Hylan stating it would be impossible for him to appear personally at the City Hall to receive the coming British delegation because of other engagements.

The party is expected to arrive on the Adriatic tomorrow and includes Sir Charles Wakefield, Lady Wakefield, Miss Wakefield, Sir Arthur Allington Haworth, M. P., Sir William Letts, M. P., and Harold Spender, London journalist. They will tour the mid-West, go into Canada and return via Washington, on a mission of good fellowship.

Mrs. L. L. Eldridge, representing the Colonial Dames of America and a member of the Women's Committee of Sulgrave; Mrs. R. D. Lowrie of the committee and Mr. Stewart will meet the visitors at the dock. In the evening there will be a dinner at the Army and Navy Club, for which Dr. and Mrs. Louis Livingston Seaman will act as host and hostess.

THREATEN TO HECKLE HYLAN

Women of the Hyde Park section of Flatbush, who have been demanding action by the city against the operation of a large sandpit in that locality, have voted to picket the City Hall and to heckle Mayor Hylan in public meetings, if he fails to promise assistance in forty-eight hours, according to James L. Fogarty, President of the Hyde Park Improvement Association.

"This vote was taken unanimously at Public School 121 last night by the same women who barricaded the private road leading to the sandpit and compelled the contractors to take a roundabout course," Mr. Fogarty said.

"They voted to begin picketing the City Hall and heckling the Mayor at all public meetings, beginning next Monday, if he fails to answer our telegram explaining how property in Flatbush is being injured by the illegal operation of a sandpit."

PRAISE NEW TRANSIT PLAN.

Letters From Rockaway Bodies Commend Hylan Scheme for Queens

Letters commending Mayor Hylan's transit plan, particularly the new routes proposed for the Borough of Queens, were made public yesterday by the Mayor's office. The letters included endorsements from the Rockaway Park Citizens' Association, the Property Owners' Association of the Rockaways, William A. White and William E. Schabehorn.

The Board of Estimate has changed the date of its public hearing on the routes affecting Manhattan below 125th Street from Tuesday, Sept. 19, which is primary election day, to Wednesday, Sept. 20.

SPANISH STAGE ROW ACUTE.

Press Demands Government Intervention to Keep Theatres Open.

MADRID, Sept. 8.—The dispute between the theatrical managers and the authors and actors became of such an acuteness today that the newspapers demanded Government intervention so as to prevent the suspension of amusement enterprises during the present season.

El Liberal declared today that the closing of the theatres throughout Spain would put thousands of persons out of employment who are not parties to the quarrel. This newspaper demands immediate arbitration of the dispute by the Ministry.

BATTLESHIPS QUADRON HERE

Wyoming, Delaware, Arkansas and North Dakota in North River.

Four battleships and 15 destroyers of the Atlantic Fleet arrived in New York harbor yesterday from Hampton Roads and Chesapeake Bay, where they have been engaged in Summer manoeuvres, and anchored in the North River.

The battleships are the flagship Wyoming, with Vice Admiral John D. McDonald in command; the Arkansas, Delaware and North Dakota. There are about 20,000 men in the warships and their auxiliaries. The ships will remain in New York for a week.

LEON BONNAT, GREAT PAINTER, DIES AT 89

HIS RELIGIOUS PAINTINGS

PARIS, Sept. 8.—Leon Bonnat, Director of the French School of Fine Arts, died today. M. Bonnat was in his ninetieth year, having been born at Bayonne on June 20, 1832. He was President of the French Society of Artists. The French Government conferred upon him the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor for his distinguished work in painting. He was also a member of the Council of the Legion of Honor. His portraits of Thiers and Victor Hugo made him a European celebrity.

The works of Leon Joseph Florentin Bonnat are in many collections in this country and in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. When he was 21 he went to Paris and there studied under Leon Cogniet. After winning the second Prix de Rome he went to Italy, and for four years he studied and worked in that city.

In 1860 he painted "Adam and Eve Finding the Body of Abel," which was bought by the gallery at Lille. Then followed "Assumption" and in 1874 "Christ on the Cross," which was on commission for the Palais de Justice.

In 1877 he painted the portrait of M. Thiers, which brought him fame. He painted the portraits of Jules Grévy and Leon Cogniet, which are now in the Luxembourg, and of Victor Hugo and Don Carlos.

COUSINS CLAIM HER ESTATE.

Contest of Teresa Bell's Will is Further Complicated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Controversy over the estate of the late Teresa Bell, widow of a San Francisco millionaire, whose will cut off her five supposed children, was further complicated today by the filing of an appearance by a local firm of attorneys as counsel in the contest for two purported cousins of Mrs. Bell.

The new figures in the will tangle are named as R. J. Irving McNair and his sister, Mrs. Ada Wickham, both of Michigan. Proof that they legally are cousins would entitle the two, under provisions of the will, to share in the estate, estimated at close to $1,000,000.

Mrs. Bell, in a peculiar will, left $5 to each of the five Bell children, asserting they were not her offspring, and bequeathed the bulk of her estate to any cousins who might be found or, failing that, to the State of California. The claimants' counsel here declines to disclose the Michigan addresses of the two.

The attorneys announced they would seek to uphold the will and to produce a new family history showing that Mrs. Bell was a child of Mrs. Sarah Wilcox Gleason Austin, sister of the mother of the new claimants.

According to the story made public in connection with the appearance of the new claimants, Mrs. Austin died when her daughter, Teresa, was a small child. Teresa was then taken into the home of Thomas Bell. When a young woman she married, and when her first husband died she became the wife of her foster father, Thomas Bell, who had two children by a former marriage.

The Michigan claimants have told the attorneys they believe there are other cousins, whose whereabouts is not known.

James T. Clark, Railway President.

LAYMAN WILL JUDGE VETERANS' CHARGES

CONGRESS PROBE THREAT

The threat of a Congressional investigation of United States Veterans' Hospital 81 was made by Congressman Albert E. Rossdale of the Bronx, a bitter assailant of the institution's methods and treatment of patients, yesterday when District Manager W. F. Lent told him that Director Charles R. Forbes of the United States Veterans Bureau would permit no layman to serve on the investigating committee just authorized by him. But harmony was restored when Major Lent telephoned Mr. Rossdale's statement to the director and persuaded the latter to let a representative of the public be placed on the committee.

"I'll stand for no whitewashing in this business," exclaimed the Congressman when told of the first ruling. "I know what departmental investigations are, and unless there is a layman on this committee I will withdraw from the investigation. I will not even present my charges, and I will ask for a Congressional investigation in the House next Monday. And I'll tell the President about it, too."

"Give us a chance, Congressman," replied Major Lent. "Stay with us at least one day, so that we can show you that we mean to get at the bottom of this thing. We are ready to look into every charge or complaint and hear all your witnesses."

But Mr. Rossdale refused to yield, and ten minutes later the matter had been arranged to his satisfaction.

The Chairman of the Examining Board, which will begin its work at Hospital 81 next Monday morning, is Dr. Guy O. Ireland, Neuro-psychiatric Inspector of the Veterans Bureau in Washington, who arrived in New York yesterday. Major Lent is to have general charge of the committee's activities and will name two assistants to Dr. Ireland, one of them, as stated, a person outside the bureau. These names, said Major Lent, will be announced this morning.

A request from Major William F. Deegan, State Commander of the American Legion, that that body be represented on the investigation board was refused by Major Lent, who explained to reporters that if one soldier organization were allowed to take part, others would be clamoring for the same privilege and thus retard the whole affair. Major Deegan has, however, been invited to attend all hearings, and expects to designate Irwin I. Rackoff, a Legion attorney, to represent him in that function.

Dr. Ireland, when asked for a statement on his plans, merely said that his committee would make every effort to discover any evils that may exist at Hospital 81 and to remedy them.

Timothy J. Luccie and Harry J. Morgan, the ward attendants of Hospital 81 charged with assaulting the patient, Nicholas B. Samson, were arrested by United States Marshals Naimoli and Bertunex upon their discharge from the custody of the State by Magistrate Bernard J. Doures in the Morrisania Court yesterday morning. They were arraigned in the Federal Building before United States Commissioner Samuel M. Hitchcock, who held them in $750 bail each for a hearing next Friday.

LEGION SCORES GEN. SAWYER.

Kings County Branch Demands Removal From Hospital Board.

A resolution asking President Harding to remove Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, the President's personal physician, as Chief Co-ordinator of the Government Hospitalization Board, was unanimously adopted last night at the closing session of the convention of the Kings County Branch of the American Legion, held in the 106th Regiment Armory, Bedford and Atlantic Avenues, Brooklyn. Before the vote was taken on the resolution an amendment was made to the original draft which eliminated the title Brigadier General and substituted "Dr." as General Sawyer's title.

PROF. DUNNING WILLS FUND TO COLUMBIA

Residuary Estate to Be Devoted to Research and Instruction in History—Kin Benefit.

The will and two codicils executed by Professor William A. Dunning, Lieber professor of History at Columbia University, who died Aug. 25 at 65 West Forty-fifth Street, which were filed for probate yesterday, leave the residuary estate to Columbia "for the promotion of research and instruction in history."

Professor Dunning also gave $5,000 to the American Historical Association at Washington, but the income from both bequests is to go to his sister, Mathilde M. Dunning, who lived with him, during her lifetime.

The will, made April 22, 1921, gave personal effects, paintings and other property to three grandnieces, and the furnishings and other personal effects to his sister, Edith S. Dunning of 123 Bloomfield Avenue, Verona, N. J., widow of Henry L. Dunning, a cousin, got $500. The sister and Edward Franklyn Cole of Yonkers were named executors.

The first codicil, made May 12, 1921, left $500 to Mrs. Julia D. Martin of 280 Bayview Avenue, Jersey City, while the second codicil of Aug. 10 last gave $500 each to George Archibald Dunning of Weymouth, Mass., and Edward R. Dunning of 16 Linden Place, New Rochelle, cousins, and $250 each to Henry L. Dunning and Frank J. Dunning of 230 Bayview Avenue, Jersey City, cousins.

THE FINAL RETURNS

IN "THE DIGEST'S"

Huge Poll On Prohibition and The Bonus

More Than 900,000 Votes Tabulated

In this week's LITERARY DIGEST the final returns, 922,383 ballots on Prohibition, and 911,035 votes on the Soldiers' Bonus, are summarized. This brings to an end one of the most sweeping polls, outside of a general election, that has ever been taken in the United States. A separate summary of the ballots that have been received from the 2,200,000 mailed to women is also given.

In the deeply interesting article that accompanies the tabulation the public will be treated to many surprizes which this summary reveals. There are opinions from William Jennings Bryan, and the editor of the Pennsylvania edition of The American Issue, the leading "dry" organ; also from Roger W. Babson, who writes from the viewpoint of a prohibitionist and a statistician.

There is also a final analysis of the various polls that have been taken on the question of the Soldiers' Bonus.

You will be interested in reading details of how "The Digest" conducted this epoch-making poll; where the names came from; the safeguards that were used against forgery; how, in some instances, ballots were imitated and sent in, and many other sidelights.

To show the world-wide interest in this poll, it may be mentioned that the Wireless Press News, printed on a steamer en route between America and Japan, contained a radio dispatch, bulletined over an area of forty-six million square miles of Pacific Ocean, which carried THE LITERARY DIGEST returns then available on the poll.

"Fun From the Press" An Instantaneous Hit!

"The Digest's" new motion picture series "Fun From the Press" as shown last week for the first time in many of the country's leading theatres, left the audiences in a merry mood after five minutes of continuous laughter. The management of the new four-million dollar Eastman Theater of Rochester, N. Y., says, "'Fun From the Press' was selected by us in line with the policy of booking only the best."

Why not ask the management of your favorite theatre to run it in his program if he is not already doing so?

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The Department of Justice filed a suit in equity today in the United States District Court at Wilmington, Del., against the Chemical Foundation, Inc., charging a monopoly in dyestuffs and seeking the return to the Alien Property Custodian of all former German patents, trade-marks and other rights held by this organization, of which Francis P. Garvan, former Alien Property Custodian, is President.

The Government in its bill of complaint makes broad and general allegations of the existence of a dye and chemical monopoly in the United States, which was stimulated by the shutting off of these products from Germany during the war. It states that control of the industry was effected between a number of chemical corporations and chemists' societies. It names the National Aniline and Chemical Company, the General Chemical Company, the Solvay Process Company, the Semet-Solvay Process Company and the Barrett Company, all of which in 1920 were combined into the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation and the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company. Trade organizations given were the American Dyes Institute, the American Chemical Society, the Chemical Manufacturers Association of the United States and the Textile Alliance.

Including exhibits of several hundred pages, the complaint covers more than five hundred printed pages, and is attested to by Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian. The United States of America by Attorney General Daugherty is listed as complainant. The solicitors for the Government are Henry W. Addington and Frederick J. Salmon, special assistants to the Attorney General, and William W. Wilson, general counsel for the Alien Property Custodian.

Says the Rights Transferred.

The complaint states that included among the patents acquired by the Chemical Foundation were substantially all of the enemy-owned patents of any value which had not been previously disposed of, regardless of whether they related to the objects of the Foundation, such as machines for making fabrics, airplane parts, telescopes, field and spectacle glasses and turbine engines. The bill charges that some of the patents acquired by the Chemical Foundation already had been granted by the Federal Trade Commission. It states that the Alien Property Custodian at the end of the Wilson Administration had transferred to the Chemical Foundation 4,813 patents, 281 applications for patents, 876 trade marks, 492 copyrights and rights under 56 contracts relating to patents for a gross consideration of about $271,000. The complaint declares that royalties amounting to $1,152,048 had accrued to the Foundation up to June 30, 1922, and that the average income from these licenses was approximately $300,000 a year.

The Government declares that the records relating to these transactions were in the possession of Alien Property Custodian Garvan and his agents, who were also officers of or connected with the Chemical Foundation until the change in Administration; that many of the records were removed to the offices of the Chemical Foundation and that many of the facts stated in the bill only recently have come to the knowledge of the present Administration.

It declares that the Foundation has now pending many suits against the Government resulting from patent licenses previously issued by the Federal Trade Commission. It asks that these suits be enjoined.

A return of all properties, the removal of any cloud upon the titles caused by their sale, and an accounting and repayment of all income and profits realized by the Chemical Foundation are demanded.

It is alleged in the bill that the Chemical Foundation is now spending large sums of money derived from its patent licensing revenues in publicity and propaganda to create public sentiment favorable to its interests.

Consideration "Grossly Inadequate."

The bill alleges that the patents disposed of are worth millions of dollars and that the consideration obtained was grossly inadequate. The Government maintains that if these sales are sustained, it would constitute a confiscation of these properties and a violation of the trust under which they were held.

The bill declares that by the original Trading-with-the-Enemy act, the Alien Property Custodian had no authority to sell property seized by him except to prevent waste; that by a rider to a deficiency appropriation bill, Congress gave authority to the Alien Property Custodian to sell at public sale to the highest bidder after advertisement; that it was the opinion of the officers of the Government, including the then Attorney General, that the Alien Property Custodian had no right to take over patents and similar rights; and that a bill was introduced, by request of the Alien Property Custodian, in Congress giving such rights, and the general counsel of the Alien Property Custodian appeared before committees of Congress and urged its enactment upon the ground that it was necessary in order to enable the Alien Property Custodian to make a complete disposition of corporations he was destroying or selling.

It is stated that the power concerning patents was then given to the Alien Property Custodian by another rider to an urgent deficiency bill dated Nov. 4, 1918, only one day after the armistice with Austria and only a week before the armistice with Germany.

The bill declares that President Wilson, by executive order, attempted to give Frank L. Polk, then Assistant Secretary of State, certain broad powers of authority formerly exercised by the President under the act. This was about the time President Wilson left for the Paris Conference at Paris. The Government, in its bill, does not admit the validity of this executive order, but submits to the court the question of its validity, including the question as to whether the President had power or authority to vest such executive function in Mr. Polk.

Accuses Them of Conspiracy.

The bill alleges that the firms and corporations who acquired control of the dyestuffs and chemical industry in the United States entered into a conspiracy to secure the seizure of enemy-owned patents by the Alien Property Custodian and the transfer by him to themselves or a corporation controlled by them. It is further alleged that Morris R. Poucher, "representing and acting for said conspirators," approached Francis P. Garvan, who was then Director of the New York office of the Alien Property Custodian, who later became Alien Property Custodian; Joseph H. Choate Jr., who was then an attorney for the Alien Property Custodian, in charge of chemical matters, and Ramsey Hoguet, who was then patent attorney for the Alien Property Custodian, and urged upon the Alien Property Custodian the "pretended necessity" for the protection of American industry in securing control or ownership of these enemy-owned patents. The Government further alleges that after many conferences with the Alien Property Custodian these parties induced him to undertake the seizure and sale of these patents.

The Government alleges in its bill that so anxious were the parties to this alleged conspiracy to consummate their plans prior to the termination of the war that they obtained the right through the Alien Property Custodian to have representatives in the Patent Office work day and night shifts and also on Sundays to list the patents to be seized. It was further alleged that the patent attorneys for the du Ponts and the National Aniline and Chemical Company were placed in the Patent Office to go over the records and select the enemy-owned patents which were desired by this group "for the purpose of said scheme and said conspiracy."

Certain allegations in the Government's bill contend that the patents which were turned over by the Alien Property Custodian in this manner were not used in connection with any corporation or business which the Alien Property Custodian contemplated selling, as was impressed upon Congress by the Alien Property Custodian for giving authority for seizing such patents. Allegation is made by the Government that to further this "said scheme or conspiracy" the firms, corporations and associations mentioned, acting through their representatives, induced Messrs. Garvan, Choate and Hoguet and others to incorporate and organize, under the laws of Delaware, the Chemical Foundation, Inc., as a device for acquiring by purchase from the Alien Property Custodian and taking title to these enemy-owned patents, copyrights and trade-marks, and to issue licenses for their use.

Denies It Is Philanthropic.

The Government's bill sets forth allegations tending to disprove the claims of the Chemical Foundation to be a philanthropic association and describes in detail the organization of this corporation. It alleges that the group in the so-called conspiracy underwrote the financial requirements of the Chemical Foundation to the extent of $460,000.

The bill states that Mr. Garvan became Alien Property Custodian on March 4, 1919, and was elected President of the Chemical Foundation on March 8, 1919; that Douglas I. McKay, who was serving as Director, representing the Alien Property Custodian in certain corporations, became Vice President of the Chemical Foundation; that George J. Corbett, who was an officer of the Central Union Trust Company, which was one of the chief depositaries of the Alien Property Custodian, became Secretary and Treasurer of the Chemical Foundation; that Mr. Choate became general counsel of the Chemical Foundation; that Mr. Hoguet became patent attorney for the Chemical Foundation, and that the Board of Directors consisted of Messrs. Garvan, McKay and Corbett.

The bill further states that the voting trustees for the common stock were Otto T. Bannard, who was then President of the New York Trust Company, one of the chief depositaries and a liquidator for the Alien Property Custodian; Cleveland H. Dodge, a member of the Advisory Sales Committee of the Alien Property Custodian; George H. Ingraham, of New York, a member of the Advisory Sales Committee of the Alien Property Custodian; B. Howell Griswold jr., of Baltimore, a member of the Advisory Sales Committee of the Alien Property Custodian, and Ralph Stone of Detroit, a member of the Advisory Sales Committee of the Alien Property Custodian.

The Government's complaint charges that the Chemical Foundation was organized "by or at the procurement of the aforesaid parties to said scheme and conspiracy to procure through the Alien Property Custodian the ownership or control of said enemy-owned patents, copyrights and trademarks," etc., and that the corporation was "a mere device and expedient employed by said parties to said scheme and conspiracy to acquire, secure and obtain from the Alien Property Custodian said copyrights and rights for their private benefit and for the purposes herein set forth."

The bill alleges that Assistant Secretary of State Polk issued two orders authorizing the Alien Property Custodian to sell at private sale, without public advertisement, to the Chemical Foundation such patents which the Custodian had seized and which he might determine related to the purposes of the Chemical Foundation as set out in its charter.

The Government charges that "necessary and essential facts with regard to the seizure and proposed and pretended sale and disposition of said patents and other rights mentioned in said orders at private sale were not stated or disclosed to said Frank L. Polk, but were withheld from him and suppressed; that other facts in connection therewith and especially the attitude of the Federal Trade Commission charged with issuing licenses under the enemy-owned patents and other rights aforesaid with respect thereto were misstated and misrepresented to said Frank L. Polk; that his signature to said order and the issuance of the effect by him were procured as aforesaid through such suppression and misrepresentation of the facts, which, if the same had been known by said Frank L. Polk, would have prevented him signing and issuing said orders; and that said orders were signed and issued by him without knowledge of the facts and upon mistake as to the facts, and are for this reason in all respects null, void and of no effect."

Further allegations are made to the effect that President Wilson, on Feb. 13, 1920, undertook to validate and confirm the orders of Mr. Polk and any actions which the Alien Property Custodian may have taken under them and to enlarge the powers of the Alien Property Custodian with respect to the private sale of such patents and other rights and that such order of President Wilson was "prepared by or at the instance and procurement of said defendant, the Chemical Foundation, Inc., or at the instance or procurement of said persons, firms and corporations in control of the dyestuff and chemical industry and parties to said scheme or conspiracy," and that "facts necessary and essential in relation to said seizure and proposed sale of said patent rights," &c., "sought to be confirmed and validated or authorized by said executive order were not disclosed to the President at the time of or before the signing of said executive order and that the same was signed and issued upon an entire misunderstanding or mistake of facts, which, if the same had been truly stated and known to the President, would have prevented his signing or issuing the said order."

Jersey Police Told to Be Civil And Stop 'Verbal Violence'

Jersey City police were directed to be civil to arrested persons and automobilists who commit trivial infractions of traffic laws, in an order issued today by William B. Quinn, Deputy Director of Public Safety in Jersey City.

The order, sent to Chief of Police Batterstry, points out that numerous complaints have been received that arrested persons were subjected to "verbal violence" at the hands of superior police officers assigned to desk duty in the various precincts. The order tells police to remember that all persons were assumed innocent until proved guilty, and that incivility was inexcusable on the part of public servants.

DENIES BIG PROFIT FROM THE PEDDLERS

While District Attorney John E. Ruston of Brooklyn proceeded yesterday to present witnesses to the Grand Jury in support of charges of graft in the Market Department, Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield continued to assail District Attorney Ruston.

Nathan Finkelstein, President of the Pushcart Peddlers' League, and Police Captain Richard Gray of the Stagg Street Precinct were called before the Grand Jury. Before testifying, Finkelstein denied testimony before Commissioner Hirshfield that he had made a profit of $150,000 in one year on paper bags supplied to the peddlers.

"That is ridiculous," he said. "I have been in the paper business for years. No peddler is compelled to buy from me. My total business last year amounted to $33,000, so it would be difficult for me to have made a profit of $150,000."

"I do not know three peddlers in Manhattan and Brooklyn," said Captain Gray, who had also been mentioned in the testimony before Commissioner Hirshfield. "I have never accepted anything from them or Finkelstein in my life."

Charging that District Attorney Ruston had put Finkelstein before the Grand Jury to save him from public examination, Commissioner Hirshfield issued this statement:

"Yesterday I wrote Finkelstein asking him to call at my office for examination on Monday. It will be impossible for me to go on with Finkelstein's examination as long as he is under subpoena without making myself liable to a criminal charge of Interfering with a Grand Jury investigation.

"This may be good political strategy. Ruston knows that if I got Finkelstein before me I would soon kick the props from under his investigation. He doesn't want that to happen, at least not until after election day.

"His subpoenaing of Finkelstein at this time proves that he is not acting in good faith. Recently he wrote the Mayor demanding that I go on with my investigation. I went on, but as soon as he learned that I would make short shrift of his star informant he made it impossible for me to continue."

Commissioner Hirshfield denied a published story to the effect that a committee had recently been formed to take the handling of leases away from Commissioner O'Malley.

HOLD CHURCH TITLE IS VESTED IN DEITY

Daugherty Says It Would Be Sacrilegious to Consider It an Enemy Interest.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—Holding that in the final analysis title to church property is vested in God, and that it would be sacrilegious to hold this an enemy interest, Attorney General Daugherty in a formal opinion has acquiesced in the return by Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller of property seized by a former alien property custodian from the Reformed Church of Hungary in America.

"Who holds the beneficial interest in this trust?" the Attorney General asked. "If it is held by the Deity, then surely it would be sacrilegious to hold there is an enemy interest."

The question before the department, he said, was whether the Church could have its property returned to it. Could the Church, he asked, be considered an enemy under the Trading With the Enemy act, and did the fact that some of the contributors to the Church were enemies "taint this Church property" to the extent that there could be no return of the property?

The property, amounting to approximately $20,000 in mortgages and certificates of indebtedness to the mother church in Hungary, secured by church property here, was seized at the outbreak of the war from the Hungarian general credit bank at Cleveland acting as agent of the church in all financial matters. The decision in this case will serve as a precedent in other church property seizures.

Within the past few months, when officials of the church moved for a return of the seized property, it was met sympathetically by the present Alien Property Custodian, but an opinion from the Attorney General was necessary before it could be returned.

Reciting that the Reformed Church of Hungary, with its principal congregation and flock officers located in Hungary, desiring to assist the creation and maintenance of churches among Hungarians in America, advanced money to the American churches, the opinion declared that well established principles of international law left no doubt that gifts to churches were gifts to God.

The title to the property seized, the Attorney General held, "was and is in the Reformed Church of Hungary as trustee for the deity for religious purposes."

Asserting that with the advancement of civilization and the growth of the Christian religion there was an increasing tendency to save from seizure and destruction property devoted to religious and charitable work, the Attorney General said that the United States had always stood for such a policy, and had "from time to time pointed with pride to its attitude thereon."

"That the United States is a religious and Christian country," he declared, "will not be questioned, but if judicial decision is necessary, reference may be made to the case of the Church of the Holy Trinity vs. the United States, 143 U. S. 457, page 465, et seq. Nor will it be denied that this country has encouraged among its inhabitants religion, including freedom of religious worship. We should therefore construe the Trading With the Enemy act as the word 'enemy' is defined therein, in view of these precedents and tendencies of our national existence. To construe this act so as to make it apply to purely religious organizations would be to turn our backs upon the stand of our Government in the past, and, in fact, would be subversive of the efforts of our Government in the past in encouragement of religion."

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Steadily gaining on his schedule, which has been arranged to get him from Buffalo to New York within thirty days, Edward Payson Weston, 84-year-old pedestrian, arrived in Rochester at 4:50 this afternoon. Weston arrived in this city more than a day ahead of time, not being due here until Saturday night, and he will rest most of tomorrow except for a seven-mile walk to Pittsford, where he will spend Sunday.

He intended to arrive in the city at noon, but was somewhat fatigued by the heat. Despite the temperature, however, and his age, the veteran walker marched down Main Street at a good pace, with head up and a smile on his face.

Thirty Eel-like Bootblacks Tangle Up Police 'Dragnet' and Flee, but Lose Boxes

Thirty small bootblacks operating in City Hall Park were driven out of business by twenty husky Oak Street Station police yesterday and as a result Property Clerk William Murray, at Police Headquarters, has on hand thirty shoe-shining outfits, complete with boxes, blacking brushes, foot rests and polishing cloths.

Incidentally, during the raid on the boys, it was learned for the first time that a dragnet, always referred to as something the police throw out in emergencies, is a policeman's legs.

Some one, whether an adult shoe shiner with a regular sunshade-covered chair or an official in City Hall could not be learned, has been complaining to Oak Street Police Station of the boys. It was said among other things that they made too much noise playing a game where two would get together and have a guessing contest. The winner had the privilege of hitting the loser over the hand with a tightly rolled newspaper and usually the gallery was large and loud, especially if business was slack.

So the twenty policemen were detailed to round up the offenders. When they arrived at City Hall Park they threw out the usual dragnet or dragnets. The offenders were trapped, but not beaten. Like eels, they wriggled against, under, around or through the dragnet. The police grabbed right and left, but they didn't grab long, because the boys were not so successful in getting their blacking boxes around or between the policemen's legs as they were in twisting their own bodies to safety. Before it was half over most of the dragnet was badly tangled up.

After the scrimmage, the policemen reported that no arrests had been made and no names of offenders obtained. Therefore, the property clerk is anxious to return the bootblack boxes gathered up and taken to Headquarters in a patrol wagon. He was just a little afraid yesterday afternoon that maybe the boys might be afraid to come after them and that he'd be worried wondering what a bootblack does when he isn't blacking boots.

58 NOW INDICTED IN HERRIN MURDERS

OFFICERS SEEKING ACCUSED

MARION, Ill., Sept. 8.—Fifty-eight men, all but a few of whom are union miners of Williamson County, stand indicted tonight for murder or conspiracy to murder as the aftermath of the massacre of June 22 near Herrin. After returning additional indictments naming twenty-one new defendants, the Grand Jury adjourned today until Sept. 18, when the investigation will be resumed.

Foreman John Stewart made a statement after the session had ended. In the presence of the twenty-two farmers, many of whom have let crops suffer to attend to this job, he said:

"We wish to correct a sentiment prevalent throughout the country that our investigation will not be thorough, and that it will be swayed by political and other influences. We will make an absolutely thorough investigation, and if any influence is attempted we will not listen to it and will positively disregard it. We will be thorough in our work, regardless of the results, and there will be no phase or angle that we will not examine into. We will investigate the death of women in the same thorough manner that we are now investigating the death of non-union men. We will also investigate the actions of the Southern Illinois Coal Company and William J. Lester, and should we find them responsible in any manner will not hesitate to indict them any more than we shall hesitate to indict any other guilty party."

The chief indictment returned today is a blanket charge naming 58 persons, alleging conspiracy to murder. The victims named in the indictment, including those unidentified, are named or described in this document. The men now in jail and those for whom the Sheriff is looking have this new charge to face.

The original thirty-seven and the twenty-one new defendants were also indicted today for rioting, which carries a penitentiary sentence.

The twenty-seven men named in the John Shoemaker murder indictment yesterday are regrouped in twelve new instruments today. This was done in order to get separate action against some of the men accused as leaders and most cruel members of the mob.

Five Arrested, Sheriffs Seek More.

MARION, Ill., Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—With four additional men in jail here today charged with murder, Sheriff Melvin Thaxton and his special deputies were out searching for the rest of thirty-seven indicted yesterday in the true bills returned in the Grand Jury's partial report on the Herrin mine war.

With Otis Clark of Goreeville, the first man indicted and arrested, the four new prisoners are Leva Mann, miner, of Herrin; Charles Rogers, miner, of Herrin; Philip Fontanetta, miner, of Marion, and James Brown, a negro deputy sheriff, of Colp, a small mining settlement northwest of Herrin.

Less than fifteen minutes after the indictments had been read in open court Sheriff Thaxton was returning to the county jail with the first prisoner, Fontanetta. The other three were brought in a few minutes later in the afternoon.

Marion residents were unaware of the wholesale issuance of indictments, as only a few were in court when the Grand Jury's report was read. St. Louis papers that reached the city this morning brought the first general information of the indictments.

The first indictment made known yesterday charged six men with the killing of Howard Hoffman of Huntingtown, Md., one of the employes of the Lester strip mine who escaped the massacre at the barbed wire in the woods, but who were overtaken and brought back to the cemetery, where five were shot down. Leva Mann is in this group.

Nine men were named in connection with the hanging of Robert J. Anderson of Sparta, Mich. This bill had two counts.

Twenty-seven were made co-defendants in the third bill, charging them with murder in connection with the death of John Shoemaker of Charleston, Ill. Charles Rogers, Fontanetta and James Brown, negro deputy sheriff, and Otis Clark are named in this bill.

Shoemaker was a son of Mayor Shoemaker of Charleston, Ill., and the father of three small children. He was a brother-in-law of W. J. Lester, owner of the ill-fated strip mine, and was acting as assistant Superintendent at the time of the massacre.

Robert Walker, who was also named in the third bill, is alone charged in the fourth indictment with the killing of Shoemaker.

More indictments will be issued, it was stated by Attorney General B. J. Brundage, the charge of the Grand Jury investigation. These, it is understood, will be issued for larceny and perjury. Following the massacre at the strip mine, much of the equipment was stolen and some of the stolen equipment has been recovered.

Indictments for perjury, it was said, will be based on the testimony of some witnesses given before the Grand Jury. Assistant United States Attorney General C. C. W. Middlekauf made known yesterday that no indictments would be issued against those members of the mob who were not armed and who are known not to have incited any attacks on the employes of the mine.

It is understood that every precaution has been taken to prevent actual participants of the riot to appear before the Grand Jury as witnesses, who thereby would make themselves immune from prosecution on any charge growing out of the investigation.

The four prisoners who were brought in last night, like Clark, after his arrest, remained silent and declined to make any statement.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 8.—Illinois miners in executive session here today pledged 1 per cent. of their total earnings, or $250,000 a month, in defense of any members of the United Mine Workers who may be arrested for participating in the Herrin massacre.

JUDGE'S RENO TRIP HALTED BY ARREST

RELEASED ON $15,000 BAIL

Mrs. Clyde D. Souter Charges Infatuation With Employe of Law School Where He Taught.

Judge Clyde D. Souter of the Second District Court, Jersey City, attorney for the town of Kearny, N. J., where he lives, and professor in the New Jersey Law School, was arrested in Newark yesterday on a writ of ne exeat signed by Vice Chancellor Church upon the petition of Mrs. Genevieve D. Souter, his wife, who charged that he was about to desert her to get a divorce in Reno and marry another woman.

Souter furnished $15,000 bail and was released. He could not be found later to get his version of the marital difficulties that led to his arrest and the filing of a suit by his wife for separate maintenance.

It is charmly for the parents that the other woman formerly was employed at the New Jersey Law School, in Newark, where Souter is an instructor. Mrs. Souter alleges that this is the third time her husband has become infatuated with stage women. On the other occasions he did not go to the extremes he did in the latest affair, and she forgave him and took him back.

The wife became aware of the impending storm last Spring, she says, when her husband asked her to go to Reno and divorce him so that he could marry another woman "who understood him." He has been spending his holidays and week ends with the "other woman," Mrs. Souter charges, and has been taking her to social gatherings and carrying her photograph with him.

Mrs. Souter says her husband has gone to the extent of preparing resignations from his positions as judge and professor in the school, has discontinued his practice and sold his law library.

YOUNG ELOPERS CAUGHT AS AUTO UPSETS PLANS

18-Year-Old Daughter of W. M. Shuster Ran Away in Kentucky With Merchant's Son.

GLASGOW, Ky., Sept. 8.—Carolyn Shuster, 18 years old, daughter of W. Morgan Shuster, President of the Century Publishing Company, New York, and William Morris, 20 years old, son of a Glasgow merchant, were found today by searchers at Goodnight, a village eight miles north of here. The two left here Wednesday night on an elopement to Jeffersonville, Ind., but their plan was frustrated by an automobile accident.

Miss Shuster returned to her mother, Mrs. Pearl Trigg Shuster, with whom she had been visiting relatives.

The elopers, it was learned, abandoned their plan to go to Jeffersonville after the accident to their automobile and were waiting for three young men friends to bring another machine in which they planned to double back on their trail and go to Tennessee for the ceremony.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A request from the San Pedro, Cal., Chamber of Commerce that the Government take action to safeguard Fort McArthur from the alleged danger resulting from a proposed lease of ten acres of land adjoining the fort to a Japanese syndicate for thirty-three years, was received today by Secretary Weeks of the War Department, having been forwarded by Senator Johnson and Representative Lineberger of California and Representative Johnson of Washington.

The letters, it was said, expressed no opinion as to what action the Government should take. Secretary Weeks announced that he had placed the subject before the Army General Staff for examination but did not believe the Federal authorities could act to prevent the confirmation of the lease beyond appealing on the ground of national defense to the parties involved.

The Chamber's request said, in part, that it believed that an alien colony immediately under the fire control of the fort would be a dangerous menace in time of war.

WARNS ON INCOME TAX.

Delay in Paying Third Instalment Means Penalties, Says Bowers.

Warning of the approach of another day of doom was given yesterday by Frank K. Powers, Collector of Internal Revenue in this district, who said that the hundreds of thousands of bills for the third instalment of the income tax had been sent out. This instalment is due on or at midnight next Friday night, Sept. 15 and delay will mean imposition of penalties and demand for the entire amount due for the year.

Failure to receive the notice does not relieve the taxpayer of obligation to pay on time, the warning said. Payment may be made with cash, money order or check at the Customs House, sixth floor. Checks or money orders also will be received at the branch office of the Second District at 119 East Fourteenth Street; 1,412 Broadway, 1,819 Broadway, and Lenox Avenue and 126th Street.

Small Fire at Gimbels'.

Fire which did less than $1,000 damage was discovered in the basement end of a paper chute in the Thirty-third Street side of Gimbel Brothers' store, Thirty-third Street and Broadway, early yesterday morning before it gained headway. The blaze spread up the chute to the sixth floor and smoked up several floors. Few persons were in the store.

WIFE GETS WHEELER AFTER 6-YEAR CHASE

OLD COURT ORDER SERVED

After pursuing her husband for more than six years in an effort to serve a court order, Mrs. Albert Gallatin Wheeler Jr. came upon him unexpectedly yesterday afternoon at Fortieth Street and Madison Avenue, and created such a furor that policemen took them to the East Thirty-fifth Street station.

Albert Gallatin Wheeler Jr. once owned a seat in the New York Stock Exchange, and his father, who aided in the building of the Chicago transit system, testified several years ago that he had given $700,000 to his son. Mrs. Wheeler says that her husband owes her between $20,000 and $30,000 back alimony and that, after chasing her husband since April, 1916, she intends to have the money or know the reason why.

Long trained in the chase, Mrs. Wheeler, though surprised yesterday at finding her husband when she was not looking for him, was determined that he should not escape, as he had in several other skirmishes, notably in one at the portals of the Union League Club in 1916, when, it is said, club attendants literally knocked the hands of Mrs. Wheeler and a deputy sheriff from the coattails of Mr. Wheeler.

She screamed so when she found him yesterday that policemen ran over from Fifth Avenue, followed by a crowd of several hundred persons, and it was necessary to take the marital combatants to the East Thirty-fifth Street Station to untangle the charges and counter-charges.

Musty Court Order Served.

To get her husband into a police station was just what Mrs. Wheeler wanted, but she was unable to make any charge against him there. She told of a court order for his arrest, reposing in a file in the Sheriff's office, and she demanded that the police hold Wheeler until a Deputy Sheriff arrived. Sheriff Fitzsimmons hurried uptown with the dusty order after the police had telephoned to him, and Wheeler later was released in $7,500 bail. No record of his detention was made at the East Thirty-first Street Police Station.

As Claudia Carleton in charmly days of the old Casino Theatre, Mrs. Wheeler was known as "the girl in the red tights" in the presentation of "The Mandarin," and she appeared also in two of Frank Daniels's comic operas. She was one of the stage women, about three years ago, and played the part of Passion in Morris Gest's production of "Experience." In many interviews in the early years of her marital troubles, which have been in the courts now more than ten years, she admitted that her fame on the stage had made her husband rich and famous.

"Well, I am glad to hear that persuasiveness has won again," said J. J. Goldstein, the lawyer who was Mrs. Wheeler's counsel for many years, and who, during the Union League Club siege in 1916, when Pershing was chasing Villa in Mexico, asserted that "this Wheeler is harder to get than Villa." Mr. Goldstein has not been her lawyer in late years, but he said last night that he was sorry that he was not there when the quarry was finally caught.

Recalls Siege at Club.

Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum, now Associate Justice of the Appellate Division, in April, 1916, signed the order for the arrest of Wheeler for failure to pay alimony under a separation action won by Mrs. Wheeler in 1912. The order called upon him to show cause why he should not be arrested for contempt of court for failing to pay the stipulated alimony.

Armed with the order, Mrs. Wheeler, her lawyers, and a deputy sheriff besieged the Union League Club, where Mr. Wheeler was believed to be staying then. They thought they saw him in the club, but when they started in, a flying wedge of attendants rolled the attacking party down the steps, and they were never able to rally there for another attack.

Pickets were set at the hotel, and Mrs. Wheeler herself watched there for days, herself watched by others who wished to see what would happen. They also went to the Plaza Hotel, where Mr. Wheeler was supposed to be staying, but he was not there. Mrs. Wheeler almost caught up with him several times, but always he managed to escape.

Finally, in April, 1917, the Supreme Court Justice that the order of arrest could be vacated by the deposit of a $5,000 bond, insuring fulfillment of the order, but the bond never was deposited, and Mrs. Wheeler kept up her pursuit.

She followed him to Boston and several other cities in efforts to collect her alimony, but she says that none was ever paid to her, and that the bill now amounts to more than $20,000. Finally Mr. Wheeler moved to Newark, where he has been for some time, just outside the jurisdiction of the court, and Mrs. Wheeler in her walks around the city has been keeping an eye out for him.

They were married on March 31, 1898, while she was in musical comedy here, and their marital troubles began about four years later. They did not get to the courts until about 1912, when Mrs. Wheeler won a separation suit and $500 a month alimony, later reduced to $300 by the Appellate Division. Under an agreement said to have been reached in Boston about 1914, Mrs. Wheeler was to receive back alimony in part payments, but was not to institute legal proceedings to compel payment. In 1914 Wheeler sued for divorce and lost. She alleged conspiracy, and the Court exonerated her of the charges.

Started Chase in 1916.

Then, in 1916, she obtained the court order for his arrest, and started the long chase for him. Their troubles came up again in the courts three years ago, in her separation suit she had sued for furniture alleged to have been taken away from her by Wheeler, and she won. Pending appeal, a bond of $12,500 was furnished by the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, and when the Court of Appeals decided that the furniture was the company's wanted to return it. She wanted money and sued the company.

The sale of Wheeler's seat on the Stock Exchange also was in litigation. It was worth from $60,000 to $80,000, and she attempted to obtain it to guarantee her alimony payments. One man appeared at the Sheriff's sale to bid in the seat for $50, but James A. Lynch, receiver for the Wheeler properties, refused to approve the sale. He was a member of the firm of J. B. Russell & Co., of 45 Wall Street, which was dissolved about 1917.

In 1917, Wheeler filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Chicago, listing liabilities of $546,370, and assets of $4,370. In 1922, Albert Gallatin Wheeler testified here in the Supreme Court that he had given to his son $500,000 in bonds of the Illinois Tunnel Company, and $200,000 in cash, but that even that backing had failed to make his son successful in business.

Easter Lilies Bloom in Middletown.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Easter lilies are now in bloom in various sections of this city at private residences. They have received no special care and the owners of the plants were surprised at the appearance of the blossoms, which are as perfect as those which appear just prior to the Easter season. Mrs. H. J. Cox of Prospect Avenue and Mrs. George Upright of Little Avenue are among the possessors of the plants.

Proposes League Protection For Asia Minor Christians

LONDON, Sept. 8 (Associated Press).—The British Government has again proposed that the question of the protection of the minorities in Asia Minor shall be referred to the League of Nations.

The view of the Government is that the military situation as between Greece and Turkey cannot affect its views on the general question of peace between the Allies and Turkey, but that anything affecting in the slightest degree the freedom of the Dardanelles will not be tolerated, since there is no question of relinquishing what was won in the war.

SAY MURPHY BACKS WAGNER, DARKHORSE

CONNERS SCOFFS AT NEED

Editor Is Going to Win, He Says—Expect Republicans to Support Tammany Judges.

It was reported yesterday that Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy had virtually decided to give his support to Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the event that the fight between supporters of "Al" Smith and William R. Hearst in the Democratic State Convention should become so bitter as to call for the selection of a compromise candidate. It was also reported that Justice Wagner had been consulted by Mr. Murphy and had consented to the arrangement.

The latter part of the report was received with some degree of incredulity among friends of Justice Wagner who are aware that his election as a Supreme Court Justice meant to him the realization of the most cherished ambition of his political career. Attempts to communicate with Justice Wagner last night proved unsuccessful. He returned somewhat unexpectedly from Europe on Aug. 29.

"That's a joke," he said. "You cannot compromise with the long end of a proposition. We have the delegates and Hearst is going to win. I am sure of that now."

"How about the boom in Queens for Controller Craig?"

"That's a joke, too," he said. "Don't you think Borough President Connolly is with Mayor Hylan?"

"We will be in a position to show our hand before the convention meets," he added. "I believe Mr. Murphy is absolutely maintaining his word to keep his hands off the situation and then when we show him what strength Hearst has, he will fall in line."

It was reported last night that Tammany's judicial slate had been completed and that assurance had been received of "unanimous support" for two of Tammany's candidates for the Supreme Court. Justice Irving Lehman, whose term expires this year, and Justice Edward J. McGoldrick, appointed to the bench by Governor Miller and a candidate for election to his present place this Fall, it was said, would run with Republican endorsement. There is a third vacancy on the Supreme Court bench, and for this it is understood the Democrats will name John Godfrey Saxe and the Republicans former Assemblyman Robert McC. Marsh, who was a candidate for Supreme Court Justice in 1920 but failed of election.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Great interest is being taken in the biggest air race ever organized in this country for a cup given by King George. The total distance to be flown is 810 miles. The first stage of 394 miles, from Croydon to Glasgow, was taken today. The return route to Croydon via Manchester and Bristol will be covered tomorrow.

Twenty-one competitors started from Croydon this morning in airplanes of all shapes and sizes from a tiny thirty-five horsepower biplane to a huge machine developing four hundred horsepower. All are piloted by well-known airmen. Some of the bigger machines also carried passengers, including women, one of them being Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, who was a passenger in her own machine. The Princess is 68 years old.

Several machines met with mishaps on the way, but thirteen of them reached Glasgow safely, the fastest time being made by Captain Barnard, who covered the first stage at a speed of 120 miles an hour.

Patrolman Jeremiah S. Drew of the East Twenty-second Street Station has been missing since Sept. 1, it was reported by his mother, with whom he lived at 447 East Fifty-eighth Street. He left home at 10 o'clock that evening, she said, and was to go on duty at midnight. A confidential alarm has been sent out from the Bureau of Missing Persons.

Drew had just returned from a two weeks' leave, during which he attended a veterans' convention in San Francisco. He joined the police force seven years ago and has a good record.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD, SAY THE JOBBERS

"Primary markets experienced fullness during the month of August, according to the market letter sent to members of the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association by Thomas A. Fernley, its Secretary and Treasurer. This was due to a combination of causes, such as the coal and railroad strikes, the lack of buying interest on the part of retailers, and the uncertainty of the cotton crop.

"There is an underlying strong feeling," Mr. Fernley's letter continues, "that there will be a good volume of business during the remaining months of 1922, but members declare that they have a good supply of merchandise in stock and on the road, and that they do not feel inclined to place additional business of consequence during August. During this waiting period prices have generally held firm, but some lines which were admittedly yielding a larger profit than usual were sold at substantial reductions.

"Comment continues concerning the fact that farmers outside of the cotton belt are not selling their crops on a basis as high as the price of cotton, and this necessarily lessens their buying power for the products of cotton.

"Since the primary market has shown such a firm tendency, notwithstanding the dullness of the last month, it would indicate to my mind a strong market, with every possibility of advances in the near future. Our business has improved materially in the last ten days, but I believe that the farmers, other than the cotton growers, will have to receive better prices for their products if the country as a whole is to quickly experience increased business. However, my conviction continues that, if the manufacturers will withhold unusual advances and bring their levels up gradually to a basis of cost plus reasonable profit, the closing months of this year will prove very satisfactory to the jobbing trade."

Another letter, written to Mr. Fernley by a well-known commission merchant says:

"As to the future, I personally think you are going to see a very decided improvement in the demand for cotton goods from the retail trade. Their stocks at the present time, owing to their conservatism, are very low, and they must be replenished, and when this concentrated demand appears they are going to put up the prices on themselves. I feel the supply at first hand is very limited as the mills have not dared to go ahead on surplus quantities of stock on the high basis of cloth and cotton, confining their efforts strictly to goods due. Therefore, the recent curtailment forced by strike conditions will be severely felt from now on."

BUSINESS PROGRESSES DESPITE OBSTACLES

Federal Survey Says Present Economic Losses May Be Evened Up Later On.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—Despite industrial difficulties, the country's economic progress is continuing steadily toward normal conditions, the Commerce Department declared today in a survey of the general situation.

"No clearer demonstration could be asked," the department said, "to indicate the soundness of the fundamental conditions underlying the present business revival than the persistence with which commerce and industry have progressed, in the face of recent serious obstacles.

"The extremely serious labor difficulties through which we are now passing would, under many conditions, have completely demoralized business; instead, real progress continues to be made.

"There is reason to suppose that the economic losses occasioned by the coal and railroad strikes will make themselves felt for some months to come. Disturbances of this character affecting basic industries cannot take place without having to be paid for in the long run."

CLOTHIERS' CONVENTION.

Practically all of the 400 booths in Madison Square Garden, in which men's and boys' apparel will be shown during the retail clothiers' convention next week, have been completed. The rapidity with which the vast auditorium was transformed is considered noteworthy, as some of the booths and kiosks are in three sections. The framework of the booths is in mottled gray, which makes the whole layout very attractive and pleasing.

Across the centre of the Garden a promenade has been built about fifteen feet above the surrounding booths. This arrangement will afford an easy view of the models which will be used in the style show. The garments displayed will be for the Spring 1923 season, with close to 100 different numbers being shown by sixty-five professional models.

In addition to these, Colonel Fred Lazy announced yesterday that the following motion picture stars will appear during the show: Jack Pickford, Betty Bivins, May Allison, Hope Hampton, Corinne Barker, Lew Cody, Irene Castle, Shelyne Huletts, Eugene O'Brien, Alma Rubens, Vera Keith, Martha Mansfield and Diana Allen.

During the course of the style show illumination totaling 600,000 candle power will be provided, so that every detail of the costumes shown will be clearly visible.

SLOW WEEK IN DRY GOODS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8—Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade, say:

"Road sales also showed a decrease in comparison with the same week of 1921.

"There were somewhat fewer customers in the market.

"Collections compare favorably with a year ago."

UNION BUYS BANK HOME.

Locomotive Engineers Pay $2,550,000 for Building in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 8—Purchase of a downtown bank building located in Cleveland's "banking row," on Euclid Avenue, by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was announced today. The building will house the brotherhood's co-operative national bank. The indicated consideration was $2,550,000.

The property includes a sixteen-story building, the three lower floors of which were designed for banking purposes and the upper floors for office suites.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Tightened—1 to 3¼% for the best names. Thursday—2 to 4½% for the best names. The quotations are for six months paper.

Some Calls for Taffetas.

Some improvement has been noted recently in the demand for yarn dyed silks, principally taffetas. Stocks of distressed nature which have been overhanging the market for some time past are gradually being taken by garment manufacturers at a price which admittedly is below the cost of replacement. There is still evidence of caution on the part of manufacturers, in view of the surplus stocks and the low price to take their looms off the production of both messalines and taffetas. In the meantime, which is passing the call is for staples, principally navy, brown and black.

Buying Children's Apparel.

With the opening of school now only a few days away, there has been good buying of children's apparel. Retailers early sales are understood to have been in good volume and they have placed better orders for this class of garments than of those for adults. Manufacturers are pleased with the way the Advance situation has shaped up and believe the outlook is good for a profitable season. There is a marked tendency on the part of heads of jobbing houses, according to some manufacturers, to make the necessary outlay to have their children dressed well, even if so doing makes the amount they can spend for themselves smaller.

Demand for Colored Cottons.

Although the snap that was visible last week is lacking, the current demand for colored cottons of the heavier constructions has been fairly active here this week. Denims have moved quite freely on the basis of 19 cents for 2.20-yard, white-back goods, and the cutters have been buying Southern ginghams well. Chambrays, plaids and chevlots are also in good request, but scarce. Most of the buying has been for domestic consumption, but in it has been a fair proportion of colored drills and similar clothes meant for export. Shipments from Southern mills are badly hampered by the railroad strike, but it was not thought yesterday that the delays would have much of a deterrent effect on future buying.

They Get Different Results.

One of the interesting things in retail trade, according to a representative at a large store of men's furnishings, is the varying results which different stores get with exactly the same merchandise. For instance, the chain of stores in question has recently been able to sell fresh fifty to seventy-five dozens weekly of Irish poplin ties, which are attractively priced at 50 cents each. On the other hand, another chain of stores, serving practically the same territory, at about the same places, is said to have had little or no success with the tie. The neckwear in question is not imported, but is made here in a wide range of solid colors.

Gray Goods Trading Fair.

Gray goods were fairly active in this market yesterday, though the volume of cloths which changed hands could have been larger. In the printcloths, September-October deliveries of 39-inch 68-72s, 65½-inch 64-60s and 58½-inch 60-48s were sold at 6¾, 5¾ and 4¾ cents, respectively. Quite a fair demand was reported for 25-inch low-count printcloths, and buyers again paid 6¾ cents for 25-inch 64-60s. Inquiry in business was reported on 37-inch 4.50-yard sheetings at 6¾ cents, with 4.50s sold at 7¾ cents. Spot and September business was done in 37-inch 3.90-yard drills at 10¼ cents. Sateens continued very firm on the basis of 14¼ cents for 38-inch 4.20s.

Cheap Goods May Do Best.

While it is yet too early for buyers to tell with any exactness what the consumer demand for wool hosiery will be this season, it was said here yesterday that the prospects are for a larger business in domestic seamless goods of this type than for the higher-priced imported stockings. In other words, the opinion is held that women who come under the general head of "good dressers" will not buy as much hosiery this season in the way they have in the last two or three. Several retailers are known to have canceled some of the orders placed for wool goods, but most of them are taking the merchandise they contracted for. Trade authorities, however, do not look for fully much duplicating on these hose later in the season.

Shoe Buying is Uneven.

Buying of shoes in this market at the present time is active enough from all accounts, but unevenly distributed. Most active is the call for the cheaper and medium lines for men and practically all lines of women's footwear, buying of which had been quite generally delayed. For the moment there is not much being done locally at wholesale in the more expensive goods for men, but if the retail season here opened well, and duplications in the near future are in prospect with stocks in their present reduced state, any real consumer demand will force retailers into the market in short order for replenishment. The Spring wholesale season is almost at hand, and the rising market for hides and leathers, as well as for the finished shoes, is expected to bring retailers into line much more promptly than has been the case in recent seasons.

What Will Independents Get?

One subject in which great interest is being taken in connection with the ending of the hard-coal strike is the probable price for independent sizes. Company circulars will set very greatly from the old circular, Seward's Journal will say today, but those of the individual operators who sell at the market are looking forward to prosperous days. Two years ago, when the shortage was far less acute than at present, they realized as high as $15 on domestic sizes at one time during the Fall. Whether the authorities can do anything effective in keeping the prices of coal within bounds this year remains to be seen. This week witnessed a continuation of the softening tendency in bituminous-coal prices. In trying to explain the slump it is hard to distinguish between cause and effect.

Wholesale Garment Trade.

A fair amount of buying took place in the wholesale garment trade during the week. There is still evident a hesitating policy, however, apparently based on a desire to see how the initial Fall sales of the retailers turn out. In the opinion of some, the hot weather of the last week has been somewhat of a restraining influence as far as immediate consumer sales go. It is pointed out that, if unseasonable weather is met with during the latter part of the present month and early in October, it will be no small factor. On the other hand, it is felt that, if this is the case, the buying will be concentrated. But this is a condition that is not desired by most factors in the trade. Business done by the jobber houses during the week was fairly good, but lighter than recently experienced. These houses look for an increasing amount of quick delivery business.

A Horse Racing Game.

A new imported game is now being placed on the market which affords a considerable amount of diversion for the long Winter evenings. It is called the "Caballo," and comprises a miniature race course, the movements of the horses being caused by the revolving of a handle at one end of the course. This moves a field under the horses, which have to negotiate jumps in the form of thin wires laid across it. The race course is made of corduroy, its length varying according to the size of the individual game from twenty-eight inch to six feet. When the handle is revolved the horses race each moving at a different speed, depending upon the way the jumps are taken and the way each horse is carried along by the seam in the moving field. It is impossible to make any particular horse win the race, owing to the construction of the game. A backboard is provided on which the odds may be placed, thus completing the illusion of a real race. The game retails from $3 up.

THE WEEK'S PRICE TREND.

So large was the excess of advances over declines in the changes in Dun's list of wholesale commodities prices this week that the former totaled more than three times the latter. Fifty of the 96 variations in the 300-odd items quoted on were upward. Last week, in 89 changes there were 36 advances. Features were less plentiful than is the case of recent weeks.

The following list gives the wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities. They are arranged in yesterday and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

While the numerical trend of the foodstuffs list was upward, the excess of advances over declines was by no means as marked as it was in the general list. Of the 22 changes in the edibles, however, 24 were advances. In the local market for provisions a decline of 10 cents a barrel took place in the Spring patent grade of flour. Winter straights did not change. Middle Western lard was higher here, with hams unchanged and bacon lower. At Chicago live hogs and live sheep were cheaper, with no revision seen in live beef, mess pork or short ribs.

With the exception of a decline of a cent a dozen in fancy near-by eggs, all of the revisions in the local dairy list were again upward. The listed butters were all higher, ranging from a cent to a cent and a half a pound, depending on grade. Cheese was unchanged. First quality fresh gathered eggs went up two cents a dozen, and now stand just where they stood at this time a year ago. The fancy eggs are not in the only things in the list to be quoted higher than last year, but the margins between this year's quotations and last year's are getting very small on the other items.

A rise of 25 cents a barrel in common apples was the only revision seen in the listed fresh fruits, with California prunes supplying the only decline in the vegetables there was a break of 50 cents a hundred pounds in choice red kidney beans, while onions were 25 cents a bag lower. Scotch peas, on the other hand, advanced.

In the beverage list, for the first time in many weeks, the teas showed some change. Fine Formosa and low Japan were both higher. The Brazilian coffees continued to rise, as did 96-test raw sugar. Fire grammated, however, dropped 25 cents a hundred pounds. In the spices the only change was a rise in cloves.

While wheat was unchanged, higher prices were seen in the grains list this week for rye, oats and malting barley. No. 1 hay was cheaper. Feedstuffs were largely lacking in the changes for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils, although quotations advanced on a flask. This part of the general list was mostly disturbed by changes in linseed and a single decline and eleven advances far showed the only rise in the naval stores, with resin and turpentine lower. Changes were much fewer in the metals than had been the case recently. The allowed the only decline, with the advances confined to spelter and lead, as well as pig iron and refined iron bars.

In the list for Sides the only decline was in Chicago city calfskins. Advances were seen in No. 1 native packers, No. 1 Texas, Colorado, No. 1 Kips and No. 1 calfskins. Belting butts were lighter, showing the only change in the leathers. The building materials showed Cypresses in red cedar and spruce lath and a drop in common Hudson River brick. In the miscellaneous changes were included advances in plaiting, Japanese raw silk, Eastern crude rubber and No. 1 old paper mixtures.

Practically no changes were seen in the textiles, aside from a few advances in burlaps that were apparently weakened only by the scarcity of spot goods in this market at the present time.

BUSINESS NOTES.

J. S. Gross, H. Sternfield and L. Dimond of Gross's, Buffalo, will be in this market on Monday to purchase $100,000 worth of novelties and hosiery for their Christmas trade for the store's forthcoming anniversary sale. While in this city they will make their headquarters with Ben F. Levin, resident buyer, 27 West Twenty-sixth Street.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Associated Dry Goods Corp., of New York City, Inc., will be held at the offices of that organization, 18 West Thirty-seventh Street, next Wednesday evening.

On Sept. 15, Willard, Colbert & Giles will begin a silk importing and manufacturing business with offices and showrooms at 1 Fourth Avenue. All of the members of the new concern were formerly connected with Langenbacher & Bopp, 334 Fourth Avenue, in sales capacities for periods ranging from 18 to 32 years. Part of the firm is Mr. Colbert, who was a department manager for his former employers.

The Ship Subsidy bill will be one of the leading topics discussed at the annual convention of the American Manufacturers' Export Association, which will be held at Atlantic City on Oct. 25 and 26. Banking, tariff and other matters will also be discussed.

Miss Adelaide M. Graham, who for some time was associated with the Silk Association of America, as publicity director, is now associated with the Textile Testing Company, Inc., 346 Hudson Street. In her new position she will handle service and research work, and will have an office at 316 Hudson Street.

MOTOR CAR OUTPUT GAINS FOR AUGUST

Production of automobiles in the United States during August continued on a large scale, according to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The July production was 244,414 cars, according to the Chamber, but the August output probably will exceed that figure by more than 20,000 cars. Last year the production figures were 176,340 for July and 180,785 for August. It is pointed out that July, 1922, exceeded the same month a year ago by 39 per cent., while August is expected to exceed the same month last year by approximately 50 per cent. Production of cars and trucks for the entire industry during the first seven months of 1922 reached 1,898,040, against 1,669,550 for the twelve months of 1921. The Chamber report also says:

The export situation continues to show improvement. Passenger car exports in May exceeded April by 5 per cent and June exceeded May by 15 per cent. The revival of truck business abroad continues to be affected by the disturbed industrial conditions in Europe; exports in May, however, exceeded April by 36 per cent.; June exports of trucks decreased 7 per cent. under May.

"The motorcar makers and the N. A. C. C. are carefully watching developments in the railroad strike situation and its effect on rail operations. There already has been some handling of materials overland by truck that would ordinarily travel by rail and the driving of finished cars has increased considerably through lack of automobile freight car supply. Motor transport for materials and overland deliveries of finished machines will be undertaken on a large scale should carriers become unable to supply freight cars."

Kentucky Standard Oil Dividend Jumps.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 1.—Expectations of an increased dividend rate in Standard Oil of Kentucky stock was realized today, when Directors changed the basis from $4 to $5 a share. The first quarterly dividend on this new basis is $1.25, payable Oct. 2 to stockholders of record Sept. 15.

Norman E. Oliver has been elected a Vice President and James M. Dixon a Director in the Quaker City Rubber Company.

American Company Has Biggest Week of Year.

The American Locomotive Company during the last week placed contracts with American railroads and industrial companies for delivery of 138 locomotives. This is the most active week, as far as new orders are concerned, that the company has had thus far this year. The largest single contract was for the Missouri-Pacific Railroad, which ordered forty-six, and the next largest for the Chicago & Northwestern, which ordered forty.

Commenting on the recent fall of the mark to a valuation at which 8,400 marks were required to purchase a pound sterling, the London bullion house of Montagu & Co. calculates that the value of the gold held in the Reichsbank, if sold in the world's market, was at the time about $56,000,000. The notes then in circulation amounted to slightly over 205,000,000,000 marks, from which it is inferred that on that valuation, the entire Reichsbank issue of paper currency was worth only about $24,500,000 in British currency.

The comment is added that "theoretically the Reichsbank may be said to hold the foreign value of its entire note issue in gold and to have a gold reserve of $29,500,000 to spare. As a matter of fact, however, this statement is incorrect for the value of the mark abroad would be improved instantly and powerfully if the Reichsbank gold reserve were applied to the payment and cancellation of the notes."

Strikes Stocks From List.

The New York Stock Exchange has stricken from the trading list the following securities: Acme Tea Company, first preferred stock; New York Central Railroad Company, 10-year 7 per cent. collateral trust gold bonds due Sept. 1, 1930, and Consolidated Gas Company, of New York five-year 7 per cent. convertible coupon bonds due Feb. 1, 1925.

Cuba Cane Sugar Acceptances Paid.

The Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation has paid off the last of its outstanding acceptances amounting to $3,000,000, according to an officer of the company, following the regular monthly meeting. In September, 1921, the company had $18,000,000 of acceptances outstanding.

BETTER TIMES IN THE SOUTH

Hopeful Report of Business in That Section by a Reserve Bank.

Banks throughout the Eastern cotton states, the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta reports, "are distinctly optimistic in their reports regarding conditions in their localities. Weather in most parts of the district has been favorable to the growing crops, and reports to the Review indicate that the condition of cotton is more favorable than it was a month ago. The railroad and coal strikes are holding back business in some lines, and some correspondents say that money is not being spent as freely by the general public as was the case a few months or a year ago.

"Only a small number of the larger city banks are now borrowing from the Federal Reserve Bank, and borrowing by country banks is very much less than a year ago. Some of the banks have surplus funds, and deposits show a satisfactory increase over those of a year ago. Some of the reports indicate that while liquidation of last year's indebtedness has not been completed, a large majority of the farmers in some parts of the district have paid up all of their debts and are now borrowing reasonable amounts for use in making the present crop."

FRENCH PUBLIC REVENUE.

Taxes Whose Proceeds Have Exceeded or Fallen Short of Budget Estimates.

Analysis of the French Government's revenues for the first seven months of 1922 shows that receipts from stamp duties were 44,713,000 francs above the budget estimate for the period, from income tax on stocks and bonds 187,602,000 above the same estimate. The tax on railway tickets ran 25,512,000 francs beyond the budget figure, the motor car tax exceeded it by 31,153,000, the customs duty on oils by 97,131,000 and on telephone service by 16,025,921.

On the other hand, registration tax fell below the budget estimate by 54,329,000 francs, the turnover tax by 501,142,000, the customs duties by 860,231,000, and there was a smaller shortage below the estimate in the tax on Stock Exchanges, liqueurs, on wines and spirits and in the postal revenue. All told, the actual tax collection during the seven months fell short 892,951,000 francs below the budget estimate.

Price of Domestic Bar Silver Cut.

The New York quotation for bar silver of "domestic origin" was reduced from 99¾ cents to 99¼ cents per ounce, .999 fine, yesterday, according to Handy & Harman. This reduction was caused by the increased cost of transportation owing to the fact that the United States Government is now accepting delivery of silver purchased under the Pittman Act at the Denver Mint instead of at the Philadelphia Mint.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Friday saw the last pressure area high generally east of the Mississippi River, with the maximum pressure over New England, and it was also high in the far Northwest. Low pressure prevails over a wide belt, extending from Manitoba southward to the Mexican border.

Warm weather continued rapidly Friday in the great central valleys, the middle and Southern plain States and the Gulf States, while cooler weather has overspread the Northern plain and the Rocky Mountain region. Temperatures of 100 degrees or more were reported Friday from Oklahoma and Western Arkansas, and temperatures above 90 degrees were quite general in the lower Ohio valley, the Mississippi valley, Kansas and the Gulf States. The lowest temperature reported was 38 degrees at Yellowstone National Park.

There have been showers and thunderstorms within the last twenty-four hours along the East Gulf coast and the upper Lake region, the upper Mississippi valley and the middle and Northern plain States. The weather was general fair in the Middle Atlantic and New England States; the weather will be fair and warmer Saturday and partly cloudy and warm Sunday, with a probability of local thunderstorms by Sunday night. In the South Atlantic States the weather will be generally fair Saturday and Sunday, except local thunderstorms in Florida. In the lower Lake region, Ohio valley, Tennessee and the East Gulf States the weather will be fair and warm Saturday, followed by unsettled weather, lower temperature and local thunder showers Saturday night or Sunday.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Neither the positive vetoing of the idea of a "general strike" in response to the Daugherty injunction, nor the pretty plain indications that the railway shopmen were trying to make terms, was at all unexpected by intelligent financiers. The proposal of a day's suspension of work and wages as a gesture of disapproval was too patently absurd to be taken seriously by any one, and the shopmen's case is now merely one in which the choice is between accepting complete defeat or authorizing the return to work which appears to have been decided upon already by a good part of the strikers. Nevertheless, the overnight news in both directions naturally encouraged cheerfulness. If it did not cause surprise, it served at any rate to complete the restoration of mental balance and calm judgment of the situation which were so greatly upset a few weeks ago, when both Washington and Wall Street were talking privately of the paralysis of American industry or the "social upheaval."

Yesterday's stock market moved in accordance with the cheerful impressions of the day. The advances in price were irregularly distributed, but in some stocks very emphatic; gains of one or two points in a number of active railway shares being the most interesting part of the movement. The bond market was in some respects still more impressive, for the reason that the advance in bond prices could not be ascribed to the day's news, but indicated other and larger influences. Both prospective continuance of easy money and an abundant supply of accruing investment capital were among the causes for the continued upward movement; undoubtedly, also, the recent pause in offerings of new securities has been an essential factor in raising the investor's bid for first-class outstanding bonds. It still remains to be determined how far the removal or postponement of Europe's acute politico-economic crisis will remove the doubts which in the average investor's mind have lately surrounded European securities. There was at all events a very similar atmosphere of distrust exactly a year ago, yet with last spring's remarkable movement of those securities as a sequel.

Yesterday's Government crop estimate will be studied primarily in the light of the recent and very striking movement of grain prices. Since the early part of July, wheat has fallen from $1.21 per bushel to 99¾ cents and corn from 68 cents to 57½, and although present values are 3 or 4 cents above the lower of these figures the fact of a decline to prewar prices remains. The September condition estimate on Spring wheat is raised sufficiently to increase the total indicated wheat yield 13,000,000 bushels over the August indication; but this merely corrects what turns out to have been a mistaken forecast of a month ago, the indication given out yesterday being substantially the same for the wheat crop as a whole as in July. The corn crop forecast is substantially the same as in July and 142,000,000 bushels less than that of August.

On the face of things, this would leave the season's decline in prices for both cereals something of a mystery. This week's estimate by the Department of Agriculture puts the season's probable production of wheat in Europe 138,000,000 bushels below last year's and the whole world's harvest lower by 40,000,000. Some of the European countries will be much larger buyers of our wheat than they were in 1921, yet in this week a year ago, wheat was selling above $1.20 on the Chicago market; it touched $1.49 even last Spring, and it never reached the dollar mark until the present crop was in sight. In view of these circumstances, it is at least a reasonable inference that the present low prices are a measure, not of the world's supply-and-demand position or of the necessary course of values later in the season, but of a grain-producing community in a much greater hurry to sell than are the consuming communities to cover their visible requirements.

MONEY.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 8, 1922.

Rate for Stock Exchange call loans was maintained at 4 per cent. throughout the session, unchanged from the prevailing rate of Thursday. There was a moderate increase in demand for fixed-period funds over recent dealings, some four months' money lending at 4½ per cent., which was also bid for later maturities, but lenders' market continued unchanged at 4%. No variations were reported in discounts on choice name merchants' paper or eligible acceptances.

OMIT INTERIM DIVIDEND.

The foreign department of Moody's Investment Service has received the following concerning the Anton Jurgen Company, an issue of whose bonds was sold in the New York market several months ago:

"The pessimism which has been so prominent of late on the Amsterdam Stock Exchange appears to have been materially accentuated by the omission of the interim dividends on the preferred stocks of the Anton Jurgens concern. The preferred shares, Series C, for instance, which are entitled, in addition to the regular disbursement of 8 per cent., to participation in the company's profits up to 9 per cent., have declined to 47 per cent., although a subsequent rally carried them to 45 per cent.

"The company offered recently 40,000,000 guilders' worth of bonds, of which 32,000,000 were placed in New York. The offering appears to have been a decided failure, which is not surprising in investors toward industrial issues."

NEW BONDS OFFERED IN LARGER VOLUME

Ten Issues of Tax-Exempt State and Municipal Bonds Marketed This Week.

$5,000,000 FOR MISSOURI

North Carolina Puts Out $1,800,000 at Prices to Yield 4.30 Per Cent. —Oregon Road Bonds.

Offering of new bonds has been in larger volume this week and there is evidence, according to investment bankers, that the Fall demand has begun and there is a very good inquiry for first class bond issues. Bankers have predicted that the first signs of a revival in new offerings would be seen in an increased inquiry for tax-exempt State and municipal issues. Ten new issues of this class were offered during the week at prices ranging from 3.35 to 4.75 per cent. In addition, several purchases were made by bankers here of large State bond issues, which will be offered soon. The shelves now are practically bare of first class bonds.

The largest single issue of the week was $5,000,000 4½ per cent. road bonds of the State of Missouri, offered by a banking syndicate at prices to yield 4.16 per cent. They mature in 1935-1937.

North Carolina also sold an issue of $1,800,000 4½ per cent. bonds at prices to yield 4.30 per cent. These bonds mature in twenty-five to thirty-four years.

Among the offerings expected in the coming week is an issue of $5,000,000 of 4-4½ per cent. State of Oregon road bonds, sold to bankers here at the highest price paid within the last three months.

Another good-sized issue of the week was $1,650,000 4½ per cent. hospital and park bonds of Hudson County, N. J.

Two offerings of industrial bonds were made during the week, one a 6 per cent. issue, the other bearing 7½ per cent. interest. Both were oversubscribed on the day of offering. One was the $1,250,000 6s of the Ramapo Ajax Corporation, a subsidiary of the American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company.

Another piece of financing, undertaken to provide means for a merger, was that of the Wickwire Steel Corporation, whose bankers sold an issue of $1,775,000 7½ per cent. bonds at par. They mature in ten years. An issue of $1,250,000 Porto Rican 5 per cent. gold bonds was sold on a 4.20 per cent. basis. The bonds are due from 1941 to 1962.

An issue of $6,000,000 5 per cent. equipment trust certificates of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company was sold yesterday by a banking group composed of Speyer & Co., J. & W. Seligman, the Guaranty Trust Company and Lee, Higginson & Co. The certificates mature in serial annual instalments from Sept. 1, 1923, to Sept. 1, 1937, inclusive.

The Chase Securities Corporation and Blair & Co., Inc., announced that interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum on the interim receipts for Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation first lien collateral 15-year 5 per cent. gold bonds, Series A, for the six-month period from March 15, 1922, to Sept. 15, 1922, will be paid on Sept. 15, at the trust department of the Chase National Bank, upon presentation of interim receipts for the notation thereon of such interest payment.

It is expected that all details for the redemption of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation's five-year secured convertible gold notes, provision for the retirement of which must be completed prior to the issuance of the new bonds, will be arranged by Oct. 17, and that definitive, engraved bonds will be ready for delivery on that date.

COMMODITY PRICES DECLINE IN LONDON

LONDON, Sept. 8.—After being practically stationary for two months the Economist index number shows a substantial drop for August, the total falling by 150 points to 4,250.

This figure is actually two points lower than was recorded at the end of February, hitherto the lowest point reached since the end of the war.

The August decline is principally due to substantial falls in prices of primary foodstuffs, which are not unusual at this season of the year, but minerals have also registered further reduction.

Figures for August are:

Textiles	1,133¼
Minerals	681½
Miscellaneous	687¼
Total	4,267
Percentage of change	103.6

July 1, 1922	4,399	Sept. 1, 1919	6,303
June 1, 1922	4,472	Sept. 1, 1918	6,540
May 1, 1922	4,437	Sept. 1, 1917	4,672
April 1, 1922	4,397	Sept. 1, 1916	3,372
Mar. 1, 1922	4,386	Sept. 1, 1915	3,196
Feb. 1, 1922	4,282	Sept. 1, 1914	3,498
Jan. 1, 1922	4,267	Sept. 1, 1913	3,653
Dec. 1, 1921	4,438	Sept. 1, 1912	3,722
Nov. 1, 1921	4,968	Sept. 1, 1911	3,581

The highest point reached in the monthly averages during or since the war was 8,052 on April 1, 1920.

JULY RAIL EARNINGS 4.04% OF VALUATION

REVENUE IS $443,183,000

Statements for Seven Months Show Close Short $186,810,000 of Realizing 6 Per Cent. Return.

The Class 1 railroads of the country had a net operating income in July, 1922, amounting to $69,239,000, according to final reports just filed by the carriers with the Interstate Commerce Commission and collated by the Association of Railway Executives. This represented a return, on an annual basis, of 4.04 per cent. on the roads' tentative valuation. As compared with the $66,202,632 net for July, 1921, it was a reduction of 0.10 per cent., while in June, 1922, the net operating income was $76,594,000, or 4.19 per cent.

The railroads fell short $93,618,500 of realizing a 6 per cent. return on their tentative valuation, and were $20,338,500 below a return of 5% per cent., the figure fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its recent rate decision.

There formerly were 201 Class 1 roads. But due to the consolidation of the reports of several companies the number of Class 1 roads shown in the July statement was reduced to 197. Total operating revenues of these roads in July stood at $443,183,000, a decrease of $4,042,000 below those for July, 1921; their operating expenses amounted to $340,725,800, or 5.5 per cent. under the same month in 1921.

For the first seven months this year the railroads had a net operating income of $418,271,000, compared with $234,710,400 during the same period last year. This represents the annual rate of return on their tentative valuation of 4.56 per cent., compared with 2.24 per cent. during the first seven months last year. Operating revenues for the first seven months in 1922 amounted to $3,054,831,000, a decrease of 2.6 per cent. under the figure for the same period last year. Operating expenses totaled $2,419,603,000, or 11.2 per cent., under the same months one year ago. The carriers fell short $186,810,000 of realizing a 6 per cent. return on their tentative valuation during the seven months, as against $280,368,000 of that return.

In the Eastern district reports show that the carriers had a net operating income in July of $24,185,400, compared with $24,370,100 in July last year, which would be at the annual rate of return of 2.86 per cent., or $26,607,000 below a 6 per cent. return. The operating revenues for the railroads in the Eastern district amounted to $212,421,370, a decrease of 11.9 per cent. under the figure for July last year, while their operating expenses totaled $173,585,300, or 3.4 per cent. less than in July, 1921.

Commenting on the effect of the strike, the report said:

Despite the strikes of coal miners and railway shopmen, which were in effect in July, loadings of revenue freight in July on the railroads of the country increased slightly more than 10 per cent. over the same month last year. Coal loadings during the same month were 48 per cent. heavier, or under those of July, 1921, because of the miners' strike, but loadings of all other commodities than coal increased nearly 17 per cent. over July one year ago.

PART PAID LIBERTIES TIE UP BANK FUNDS

HAVE NO RIGHT TO LIQUIDATE

Appeal Made to State Banking Department for Aid to Release Frozen Credits.

A development in connection with the holdings by banks of Liberty Bonds is the fact that a large number of institutions have a thousands of dollars of Liberty bonds in their vaults which are only partly paid for and the owners of which have disappeared. The result is a frozen credit, for the banks cannot dispose of these bonds without the consent of the owners. No real loss is sustained because the bonds themselves were put up as collateral for loans advanced by the bank against their purchase, and the interest carries them. The problem has become so acute in some institutions that an appeal to the State Banking Department has been made for advice as to what course to pursue.

The present situation is explained by bankers as the outcome of the selling campaigns and "drives" utilized during the war to finance the struggle of the Allies and the United States against Germany. Many wage earners were persuaded at that time to subscribe to the "$10 down and weekly instalment" policy, but when, after the signing of the armistice quotations for Liberty bonds declined the subscribers discontinued payments.

In the great retail store districts, the uptown apartment districts and in many schools hundreds of thousands of smaller wage earners were induced to buy bonds on the instalment method. It was possible at that time to purchase a $50 bond for as little as 50 cents down, and a $100 bond for $1 down. Thousands who subscribed for Liberty Bonds on these terms have never completed payments. This condition has been particularly apparent in the case of school children, whose families have moved to other parts of the city or even to other cities, leaving a trail of unpaid bonds and unpaid "dollars" behind them. The banks are now confronted with the problem of the disposition of such accounts. The natural procedure would be to liquidate the account through the sale of the unclaimed Liberty Bonds, but the banks are not permitted to do this without special authority because the title to the bonds is held by the subscribers.

The situation is causing worry for the State Banking Department, and the Banking Board, according to information yesterday, for both parties would like to have the banking institutions unburdened from these "frozen credits." It is understood that several of the Wall Street houses are contemplating submitting the problem to the Court in the hope of obtaining authorization to sell the bonds which are not claimed and wipe the accounts off their books.

WOOL MARKET STEADY.

Decision on Tariff Schedules Strongly Desired.

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The Commercial Bulletin will say of the wool market tomorrow:

"The demand for wool has continued of fair proportions during the week and has been fairly well diversified. Prices are steady, unless in the case of some holder on foreign wool in bond, who may have to meet maturing drafts.

"The manufacturers and piecegoods men, as well as the clothing trade, are comfortably situated for business, although no boom is anywhere apparent. A speedy passage of the tariff is greatly desired by the trade to help stabilize conditions.

"The foreign markets are very firm, with a tendency upward. London having advanced slightly since the opening on all classes and the primary markets old talk is rule very strong.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Moderate liquidation of loans and discounts, totaling $6,000,000, and reduction by $17,000,000 of investments, practically all the result of operations of the New York banks, are shown in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement of condition on Aug. 30 of 791 member banks in leading cities.

Loans secured by Government obligations show an increase of $3,000,000, loans secured by corporate obligations show but a nominal change, while other loans and discounts, mainly of an industrial and commercial character, declined $9,000,000. For member banks in New York City an increase of $3,000,000 in loans against corporate securities and a reduction of $11,000,000 in commercial loans are noted.

Changes in the investment account include an increase of $5,000,000 in United States securities and net liquidation of $22,000,000 in corporate and other securities. Total loans and investments of all reporting banks show a decline of $25,000,000 and those of member banks in New York City a decline of $25,000,000.

As against but slight changes in Government and other demand deposits (net) time deposits show an increase of $17,000,000 for member banks in New York City, while no change in Government deposits and only a nominal change in time deposits, as against an increase of $9,000,000 in net demand deposits. The ratio of net demand deposits to loans and discounts stood at 501.7 per cent., compared with 86.7 per cent. about a year ago.

Borrowings of the reporting institutions from the Federal Reserve banks show a further increase from $117,000,000 to $127,000,000, the ratio of these borrowings to total loans and investments continuing unchanged at 5 per cent. Borrowings of the New York City members from the local reserve bank declined from $28,000,000 to $21,000,000, and the ratio of these borrow

AGGRESSIVE BUYING SENDS COTTON UP

Short Trading and Trade Purchases Advance Quotations 39 to 47 Points.

One of the most general buying movements of the season took place in cotton yesterday. Purchases represented not only short covering but trade and speculative buying of an extensive character. First signs of a change came late Thursday, and several important interests evidently reached the conclusion that more cotton was wanted on a basis of 21 cents than could be readily supplied. During the morning fully 50,000 bales were taken from the ring by half a dozen brokers. With heaviest spot business of the year being done in Southern markets and one of the worst droughts on record west of the river, prices responded quickly to an increased demand for contracts. A gain of 39 to 47 points was shown at the close.

Owing to a lower Liverpool than due to most Thursday's late advance here prices began the day at a slight decline. This encountered heaviest buying of the week, October, December, January and March all being taken in large blocks. As New Orleans weakened 20 points at the start, contracts to supply orders were obtained readily. Trading revealed a sudden demand from commission house sources, a steady stream of buying indicating concerted action on the part of larger speculative interests. A sharp rise of 25 points in December followed as more and more cotton was taken from the ring. Upon receipt of the first ginning report of the season, showing 817,000 bales ginned to Sept. 1, against 485,000 last year, the largest total in four years, quotations ran off 40 points to a basis of 20.95 for December. New Orleans led the decline, October breaking to 20.05, or 10 points under New York. This developed a wave of buying that started a half cent rapid advance and carried March over 21¼ cents before midday. A large quantity of cotton changed hands, trading reflecting many cross currents but displaying a degree of resistance that attracted support on every setback.

THAT is the simple, sound basis of the Jackson Heights Plan of Tenant-Ownership—you pay only your pro-rata share of the operating expenses in which your garden apartment is located. You can own a garden apartment under this attractive plan, in the newest apartment group, if you act quickly. Right now there is a wide choice in location and room arrangement to meet your ideas.

GRAND CONCOURSE

In this greatest of apartments you will find the last word in architectural and building science. Park Avenue, Riverside Drive and West End Avenue have nothing finer—but you must see the new Theodore Roosevelt to appreciate what is being offered.

You MUST come in and SEE the exceptionally large rooms—great closets—luxurious baths—perfectly arranged kitchenettes—great oil burning heating system—the enormous garden court (300x250 feet) with private apartment entrances—and dozens more of unusual features.

This plan of a typical 5-room Suite shows a living room 11.2x25.10, dining room 11x17.11 and bedrooms 12x15.5 and 12.8x15.8. It shows the convenience of the placed, completely equipped bath, the spacious, well arranged kitchen and the wealth of street room. Twelve windows give light and air. There are many other 5 room arrangements—also 4, 4 and 6 rooms.

'DANDY PHIL' KASTEL SPENT DILLON FUNDS

TRUSTEE CAN'T FIND HIM

Evidence brought out yesterday by Keyes Winter, trustee in the bankruptcy investigation of Dillon & Co., the brokerage firm which failed about a year ago with liabilities of $300,000 and negligible assets, revealed that checks on the firm aggregating $10,000 were used by "Dandy Phil" Kastel, alleged head of the brokerage establishment, for personal expenses, and put down to the mysterious account "D. D. No. 2" on the firm's books. Mr. Winter has been trying to serve a subpoena on Kastel, whose name frequently was mentioned in the Federal investigation of the $3,000,000 Wall Street bond theft conspiracy, but no trace of him could be found.

Two garage owners testified that they received checks signed by Dillon & Co. for rent and repairs for two expensive cars maintained by Kastel at about the time the firm went into bankruptcy. A representative of the owners of an apartment house at 840 Seventh Avenue also identified several other checks as having been received by him from Kastel in payment for Kastel's luxuriously furnished apartment on the twelfth floor of the house in the Spring of 1921, and an official of the United States Mortgage & Trust Co. identified two more Dillon checks amounting to $730, which had been made out to Maude Edna Kastel, the missing man's wife.

Lawyer Explains $250 Check.

Another witness examined by Mr. Winter was Randolph N. Newman, a lawyer, who was drawn into the Arnstein investigation through the failure of the brokerage firm of David W. Sullivan & Co., which was alleged to have disposed of stolen bonds obtained from dishonest messengers in the financial district. It also developed that Kastel smoked only specially made cigarettes bearing his monogram in large gilt letters; and that he wore expensive silk shirts of his own design, all of which he paid for with Dillon & Co. checks charged to "D. D. No. 2" account.

"Did you have business dealings with Dillon & Co.?" Newman was asked when he was called to the witness stand.

"I have not the faintest impression of having had any business dealing with Dillon & Co.," replied the lawyer. "They did not owe me any money, and I had no stock account with them."

"I am handing you a check, Mr. Newman, dated July 1, 1921, payable to the order of Randolph M. Newman, for $250, drawn on the Lincoln Trust Company by Dillon & Co.," continued Trustee Winter. "Did you collect that check?"

"Yes," responded the witness, "but to the best of my recollection it was not for professional services. My impression would be that I must have had a check on an out-of-w-town bank that I wanted cash in a hurry and I might have gone to Dillon & Co. and gave them that check and got their check in exchange."

Says Kastel Owes Him Money.

"Did he owe you money?"

"Yes, he owes me money yet; he has always owed me money since I have known him."

Newman was asked if he would consent to turn back the $250 for the benefit of the creditors of the bankrupt firm, but he declared that he could see no reason why he should do so, since the money was not received by him in the nature of a gift. When he left the witness stand the lawyer volunteered to show Mr. Winter "a few things about the way in which 'good' bucket shops are conducted."

At this point in the investigation one of Mr. Winter's assistants brought to Referee Peter B. Olney Jr., who is in charge of the inquiry, a basket containing hundreds of checks issued by Dillon & Co. before the failure. Mr. Winter explained that most of the checks had been made out in small sums to an aggregate of $45,000 and charged against the mysterious account. He added that he expected to produce additional witnesses who would make interesting revelations in connection with these checks.

Frank Malloy, who said he was the owner of an automobile repair establishment at 332 West Seventieth Street, who identified one of the Dillon checks, told of a conversation he had with Augustus F. Toohill, who held a power of attorney for Dillon & Co. and who was arrested two weeks ago in connection with a stock fraud charge in Amsterdam, N. Y. Malloy said that Toohill called at his place for Kastel's car, and while there told the witness that he had just returned from Indianapolis, where he "succeeded in getting a large account out of a client of Dillon & Co. and had also bamboozled a banker there."

"Did he say anything about the character of the people in Indianapolis he was talking about?" asked Mr. Winter.

"Yes," replied the witness. "He said they were boobs."

Burglars got furs and fur coats valued at between $10,000 and $15,000 at the Star Fur Shop, 871 Broadway, Brooklyn, between 10 o'clock Wednesday night and 8 o'clock Thursday morning, it was reported yesterday. The shop is owned by William F. Weiss of 11 Lewis Avenue, Brooklyn.

The burglars forced a cellar door and cut a hole about two feet square through the floor of the shop above. Most of the stock, including coat models and furs displayed in the show window, were taken, according to Weiss.

The method of the burglary has led to the belief that the burglars were the same who plundered four other stores in the Williamsburg district in the last six months, getting loot valued at between $75,000 and $100,000.

Two persons living in the neighborhood said they noticed an automobile parked near the store between Wednesday midnight and 2 A. M. Thursday, but saw no one near it. Burlap bags found in the cellar were used to wrap up the furs as they were removed.

96 DEGREES IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Heat again established a record for this time of year when the Government thermometer today reached 96.4 degrees at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Only twice before in the 50 years' history of the Weather Bureau has the temperature been above 90 degrees on Sept. 8.

Some relief is promised for tomorrow although the week-end temperature will continue warm enough to make the beaches popular, according to the Chicago forecast.

Your Fall Hat at a Lower Price!

BEYOND question of doubt—this is a Kaufman Hat Season! We are out-valuing and under-selling every other hatter. Our values have staggered the hat market. Our low price has astounded competition. They all wonder how we do it!

We pooled the buying of our fifty-some-odd stores and bought way below the market! Our customers now have a corner on the best styles and qualities at a price impossible for any other retailer to equal.

WE SELL FOR LESS MONEY, THE SO-CALLED "EXCLUSIVE STYLES" OF OTHER HATTERS. There's a lot of hot air going the rounds in the hat trade. Don't fall for it. Be your own judge. Don't take anybody's word. It's you who wears the hat and pays the price, so look 'em all over—the other fellows' and ours.

We want to prove to your own satisfaction that we sell for less money every good style and quality shown anywhere. Why pay more for the same hats? All the style, all the wear, all the quality you could want—all one price, $2.45.
